Make Lawn of Sand Waste in Day.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Twelve thousand men and women were at work yesterday on the World's Fair grounds.

Three miles of exhilarating pandemonium from the entrance gates at 12th street to the exit at 39th—and jangle of nerves and deep diapason of passionate appeal to hurry, hurry, hurry.

All of them worked all day, and fresh shifts came on at nightfall, and still were hurrying, hurrying hurrying at dawn this morning.

Their heroic task is to finish two weeks' work in two days.

It cannot be done.

But things outdoors and indoors—acres of gardens, furlongs of promenades, square miles of exhibits—can be and will be made seemly and inviting for the multitude that will view the dedicating festivities on Saturday morning.

Some Say "Half Million."

Estimates of the size of that throng go as high as half a million.

The capacity of the grounds is 800,000 visitors and with a turnover of fresh crowds at night they can accommodate 1,100,000 every 18 hours.

The contention of the high estimators is that since THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Music Festival annually draws 125,000 people to nearby Soldiers' field, surely the dedication of the most novel World's Fair in the annals of pageantry, industry and science will quadruple that memorable record.

Meanwhile 48 hours of the inspiring clamor and the impassioned pleas to go, go, go.

No longer are they "in conference."

They have whipped off their coats and collars, and for the first time since they were "poor boys going to make good in the big cities" they are doing a sweaty honest day's work.

Sweat-Not "Conferences."

They would better keep at it if their huge palaces of exhibits are to be ready.

They will keep at it.

Enthusiasm drives them on.

From the north wall of the great hall of General Motors gleam these words of Benjamin Disraeli in silver letters—

Kettering of General Motors keeps his eye on those words and on words of his own that also shine in silver from the north wall—

No one ever would have crossed the ocean if he could have gotten off the ship in the storm.

Kettering and his fellow magnates of American industry know they cannot get off the World's Fair ship in this storm of hurry and worry. A gale of enthusiasm drives them on.

All over the grounds, from the stadium on the west to riprapped lake shore on the east, and from aquarium on the north to the exit 17 blocks south, it is so.

Caravans of Treasures.

Railroad trains are hauling in exhibits.

Big orange and lemon trees, swathed in white netting, are being wheeled in on trucks and planted in alien soil to make a summer's decoration.

Mellow bronze bells are tentatively booming in rehearsals.

Thousands of square yards of broad banners and long gonfalons are being hung. They make vistas of color a mile long.

In miles of lofty galleries swish of saws, thump of hammers, and rasping cries of "For the love of Pete, I've told you three times just how long that platform is to be!"

Response: "All right! All right! Keep your hair on! I get you! I get you!"

Knitting machines are whirring in tryouts.

Model printing presses, receiving their final tests, are making the finest music in the world.

Cavalry and artillery horses that are to take part in five months of ceremonials and escorts of honor are munching in their stables on the lake shore.

Five hundred regular army soldiers of all arms of the service and from four far flung posts are under tents—the only persons unvexed, serene, and in order on this turbulent scene. They

1916 BOMB CASE LIFER AGAIN TO TRY FOR PARDON

New Trial Verdict Will Be Cited.

San Francisco, Cal., May 24.—[Special.]—Thomas J. Mooney was acquitted in the Hall of Justice here today on an indictment charging him with murder in the San Francisco Preparedness day parade bombing in 1916. Superior Judge Louis H. Ward instructed the jury of six men and six women to bring in a directed verdict of not guilty after the state refused to present its evidence, and Judge Ward was unable to grant a full hearing on the facts and issues of the case.

On Judge Ward's orders Mooney was returned to San Quentin prison, where he has been since his conviction on another indictment. He is serving a life term. The present indictment had been unused until Mooney's plea for a new trial was granted several months ago.

Plan New Plea for Pardon.

Defense attorneys said they would cite the acquittal in asking for a pardon, although legal authorities have said it will not affect the conviction at the first trial.

Judge Ward, in instructing the jurors, told them that they did not need to follow his advice, but the panel retired and immediately signed the suggested verdict.

Assistant District Attorney William Murphy asked for the directed verdict, saying that the state had insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction. The district attorney's office long ago advocated a pardon for Mooney.

Unable to Produce Evidence.

"The people are in no position to produce evidence 17 years after the occurrence," the prosecutor said, "and if the defense is allowed to introduce evidence it will merely be shadow boxing with itself."

Mooney objected to the motion for a directed verdict, in a personal appeal to the court, and requested that District Attorney Matthew A. Brady be called to explain why the evidence should not be produced. Mooney read a letter to the court, written by Brady to Former Governor Friend W. Richardson in 1926 in which the prosecutor declared that Mooney and Warren K. Billings, also convicted of the parade bombing, were convicted on false testimony. Judge Ward denied the motion to bring in Brady.

Sees "Tragedy" in Case.

"The tragedy of the case today," Mooney said, "is that although the district attorney declares the evidence is not sufficient to introduce, it was sufficient for four governors and the Appellate and Supreme courts to hold that I should stay in prison.

"If it is sufficient for that, it should be worthy for the consideration of this jury."

After the verdict was brought in Mooney said: "I am very happy in spite of the fact I could not verbally deny my guilt." Mooney indicated before the trial began that he would again ask Gov. James Rolph Jr. for a pardon, regardless of the outcome of the trial.

MEXICANS LYNCH THREE CHINESE IN BOYCOTT DRIVE

MEXICO CITY, May 24.—(AP)—Three Chinese were lynched today at Villa Aldama, near Chihuahua city, when anti-Chinese committees launched a boycott drive throughout the state of Chihuahua. The Chinese were held as suspects in a criminal attack and slaying of a 13 year old girl. They were dragged from jail and beaten to death. Police sent from Chihuahua city restored order.

At Chihuahua city Mexicans with clubs refused to allow Chinese ranchers to enter the city to sell vegetables, while others picketed Chinese stores. Chinese merchants closed their stores and asked for guarantees.

Fear "Invasion" of U. S.

JUAREZ, Mexico, May 24.—(AP)—Juarez police today quelled several riots in front of Chinese stores here. American officials said the Chinese boycott may cause an exodus of Chinese through Juarez and El Paso into the United States, as it did several months ago in Sonora. The United States government at that time spent about $250,000 sending the Chinese to China when the Mexican government refused to allow them to return to Sonora.

Vote to Close Schools Two Weeks Early

The board of education yesterday voted to close the schools on June 9, two weeks earlier than the schedule, in order to save $2,000,000 in salaries and operating expenses. The decision was followed by the unanimous election of James B. McCahey, new appointee of Mayor Kelly, as president of the board to fill the vacancy left Tuesday when Orville J. Taylor resigned because of press of business.

The economy measure was taken without comment or debate, and all eleven members of the board voted for it. The vote sent a surprised murmur rippling through the crowd of 500 teachers sitting and standing at the rear of the board room. The early closing of schools will mean an additional 5 per cent cut for teachers and other employés, whose basic salary schedules were slashed 15 per cent early this year.

Expect Late Start.

Trustee Ernst Buehler made the motion after the board members had decided in a caucus to adopt the economy. It is expected that the board will vote later to delay the opening of the next school term two weeks in the fall in order to save an additional $2,000,000.

In order that all employés may be treated alike, Mr. Buehler included in his motion a suggestion that Howard P. Savage, business manager of the system, and Supt. William J. Bogan effect a two weeks' saving in salaries in their departments, which will not close June 9, by staggering the time of the employés.

It was decided at the caucus to elect Mr. McCahey, who had been the mayor's choice for the presidency since Mr. Taylor's resignation. Mr. Taylor also indorsed the new president.

Advocate for Economy.

Mr. McCahey, who has declared himself as an advocate of the strictest economies in the school system, was born in Chicago in 1890. He is of Irish descent. Upon his graduation from the Greene Elementary school Mr. McCahey entered De La Salle institute and was graduated from there in 1907. Then he went to work for the J. J. Dunn Coal company, of which he has been president since 1920.

Among the organizations of which Mr. McCahey is a member are the Chicago Athletic, Union league, and Skyline clubs, and the Flossmoor, Beverley, and South Shore Country clubs. His hobby is golfing, and two years ago he broke the amateur record at Banff, B. C., by shooting a 74 for eighteen holes on the resort course.

President for a Year.

Mr. McCahey's term as president is for one year. Following his election the trustees elected Mr. Buehler vice president to fill the place left by James A. Hemingway, whose term as board member expired recently. Mr. Buehler is an attorney and also a champion of economy.

After Mr. McCahey had taken the gavel he made a short speech of appreciation to the trustees.

"We must devote our efforts," he said, "to restore our school system to a normal, healthy state. I want also to pay tribute to the teachers who have carried on the work, although their pay was not forthcoming. We hope that this situation is corrected in the near future."

In speaking of his regret at losing Mr. Taylor as a member of the board, Trustee Joseph P. Savage called attention to the interest Mayor Kelly has taken in the school problem. It was through a series of conferences between the mayor and bankers recently that cash was obtained to pay the school employés three months' back salaries, which paid them to Jan. 1, 1933.

FOUR OBSERVATORIES WILL HELP ARCTURUS OPEN WORLD'S FAIR

No matter what the weather conditions are in the Chicago region, the faint light from the star Arcturus will be caught somewhere on Saturday night to open A Century of Progress Exposition.

It is planned to capture the light which left Arcturus 40 years ago, on photo-electric cells at Yerkes observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., build up the faint current caused by the light, and transmit it over wires to a switch control on the fair grounds.

To insure the success of the plan against possible cloudy weather at Williams Bay, the Harvard university observatory at Cambridge, Mass., the University of Illinois observatory at Urbana, and the Allegheny Astronomical observatory at Allegheny, Pa., are also ready to catch the light from Arcturus.

The Western Union Telegraph company has provided lines direct from each of the four observatories to the exposition, and at a given time all will expose sensitive photo-electric cells to the light of the star. A signal from each observatory will close a contact there and the closing of the last contact will complete a circuit to operate a master switch on the Fair Grounds.

Gang Battles on Broadway; 2 Women Shot

New York, May 25 [Thursday].—[Special.]—Broadway was thrown into a turmoil at 11:30 o'clock last night when two automobiles filled with gangsters sandwiched another machine, equipped with bulletproof glass, between them and poured volleys of shots, which sounded to nearby officers like machine gun fire, into their quarry.

All the gangsters escaped after the fray, although it was believed some of them had been wounded. Three bystanders were hit by stray bullets. The condition of one of them, Mrs. Sadie Fortine, 45, a nurse, was described as critical at Knickerbocker hospital, to which she was taken.

Five in Sedan.

The quarry in the ambush was a sedan bearing the license plates 8Y7076. It was proceeding south in Broadway, when near 81st street two other machines drew abreast of it, one on either side, and the firing started.

Almost simultaneously a truck which had been crossing Broadway westbound in 81st street emitted a series of backfires which added to the excitement and the confusion. The police still were uncertain early this morning whether the rôle played by the truck was pure coincidence or was part of a carefully planned plot to further the success of the trap.

Sedan Crashes Into Railing.

Careening wildly from side to side, the sedan sped north to the intersection of 84th street, where its driver lost all control. The car smashed into the railing surrounding an island park just north of the street crossing and was almost completely wrecked.

Two men jumped out of the car and lost themselves in the street crowds. The police found that while the sedan was equipped with bulletproof glass an inch and a half thick, at least eleven shots had penetrated the body of the sedan. In the back seat were fresh bloodstains.

He pushed his way through a crowd and singled out three individuals who lay wounded on the sidewalk. He took them to the station house for questioning.

City Welcomes Fair Queens on Ten Day Visit

An international quest for feminine charm is climaxed this morning with the gathering in Chicago of the 51 loveliest girls to be found the world around. They are the finalists in the $20,000 competition sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 15 affiliated newspapers to name the queen of A Century of Progress, and they will have a ten day visit in Chicago, a visit royal in its every detail.

In a pageant of color and beauty tomorrow evening in the Grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman one of them will assume a proprietary pride in the dazzling lake front exposition as she receives the World's Fair crown, a finely wrought circlet of semi-precious jewels. The 50 others will take their places about her in a queenly court of honor.

The final judging to determine the queen and her first and second ladies in waiting will take place tomorrow afternoon in the Sherman.

First 13 Girls Arrive.

Radiant, excited, yet modest in the possession of their newly won laurels, 13 of the girls arrived last night by rail from cities and villages in the central west. Their appearance proved the high plane on which the competition has been maintained since its beginning last Jan. 15.

Pretty, but with no professional flawlessness as to face and figure, each one of them possesses that quality of feminine charm that insures a royal dignity and grace. They were selected by as critical a group of judges as has ever been assembled.

There was a committee of TRIBUNE representatives and a chaperon to meet each girl last night as she stepped from the train, for every one of the contestants is to be under the supervision of an older woman while she is in the city . . . one to whom she can look for direction and advice.

Two Here for First Time.

Two of the girls were thrilled at the idea of seeing Chicago for the first time. Others marveled at the bright lights and the night roar of the loop as they were driven to the hotels at which they are to be guests.

"And is this Main street?" was the question of Miss Julia Rose Weidenmann, who had made her first trip from Kansas City, Mo., to Chicago. Just five feet tall, with chestnut brown hair and a soft southern drawl that belies her home town, she arrived with Miss Isabelle Perry, whose home is Kansas City, Kas.

Both of them are guests at the Hotel Sherman with Miss Leonore Beckett of Decatur and Miss Caroline Robinson of Boswell, Ind.

Telephone Girl in Store.

Smartly dressed in a green woolen suit, trimmed with a natural ermine scarf, Miss Weidenmann explained that she was up early every morning to take her place at the switchboard in a neighborhood grocery in Kansas City. The daughter of a retired storekeeper, she is the youngest in a family of six.

Quite as thrilled at seeing Chicago for the first time was Miss Perry, a winsome blonde with sparkling hazel eyes. Just 17 years old, she is completing her first year in junior college. Her father is a live stock merchant.

A willowy girl of 21, Miss Beckett

WOODIN ONE; STIRS RADICALS; SENATORS CLASH

Pershing, Lindbergh Also on the Roll.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Back in the prosperous, feverish days of '29, when the public was ready to boom the market for any sort of stock, J. P. Morgan & Co. had its "preferred list" of friends whom it let in on the ground floor of new issues.

"Preferred list," at least, was what Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the senate banking and currency committee's inquiry, called it as he put into the record today the names of individuals and corporations to whom Morgan & Co. sold 1,250,000 shares of Alleghany Corporation common for $20 a share at a time in 1929 when the market was in the neighborhood of $35. That stock sold yesterday on the New York Stock exchange at $2.25 a share.

Paper Profit for Notables.

When the insiders got that stock at $20 a share it was selling in the market at $35. The paper profit of a possible $15 a share, the list showed, went to some persons of prominence.

It went to William H. Woodin, then head of the American Car and Foundry company, and now secretary of the treasury of the United States, on a purchase of 1,000 shares. Today Senator Borah threatened a move to oust Mr. Woodin as a cabinet officer because of that.

Charles Francis Adams, who was to become President Hoover's secretary of the navy a month later, bought 1,000 shares.

Owen J. Roberts, not identified as such, but presumably the associate justice of the United States Supreme court, appointed in 1930, was allotted 100 shares.

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo [Dem., Cal.], who sat at the rim of the green baize committee table today and who was secretary of the treasury under President Wilson and later U. S. director general of railroads, took 500 shares.

Others were Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, 2,000 shares; John W. Davis, who sat beside Mr. Morgan as counsel for the firm, 400 shares; Charles A. Lindbergh, 500 shares; Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, 3,000 shares; Gen. John J. Pershing, 500 shares; John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, 2,000 shares, and Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, 1,000 shares.

"Close Friends" Whitney Says.

They were all, or nearly all, "close friends" of J. P. Morgan & Co., it was testified. It was George Whitney, partner of the firm, who supplied the characterization.

Mr. Morgan, explaining that he had first been ill, then abroad, helping negotiate the Young plan, and so was unfamiliar with the Alleghany Corporation transaction, was temporarily withdrawn from the witness stand.

Publication of the list touched off the loudest repercussion of the many that are beginning to burst on Capitol hill as a result of the Morgan inquiry.

The radical group in congress has long looked forward to getting a chance to dig into the affairs of the great banking house. They are lauding the methods of Counsel Pecora.

Divided as to Methods.

Though the committee ordered the list of "preferred" purchasers and a list of loans by the Morgan firm to bank officers and directors published in the records over the objections of Attorney Davis, the members are by no means one on the way the inquiry should be conducted.

Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], noted not only as being one of the senate's richest men but for having his money invested in tax exempt securities, has been one of the most urgent about pushing the questioning.

The Alleghany Corporation under discussion is the holding company for the Van Sweringen rail properties.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] has led the group on the other side who have protested against going into the private affairs of the Morgan partners.

It was the name of Secretary Woodin that caused the greatest stir when it came out that he had been one of the "close friends" of Morgan & Co. Next in excitement value was the disclosure that Norman H. Davis, now abroad as President Roosevelt's ambassador at large, had secured a loan, still unpaid, from Morgan & Co.

Senator William E. Borah [Rad., Idaho] declared on hearing of Mr. Woodin's presence on the list of Alleghany Corporation stock purchasers that "in times like these, when so much power is exercised by the treasury, the American people deserve a secretary of the treasury who like Caesar's wife is above suspicion."

Promises were made of oratory soon to be heard on the floors of both houses concerning the "mortgages held by the Morgan company on officials of the government."

Nothing Wrong, Woodin's View.

Traveling swiftly down to the treasury department, news of what had taken place in the committee room caused those close to Secretary Woodin to say that the secretary saw nothing wrong in his connections with Morgan & Co. or his inclusion on a list of purchasers four years prior to taking office.

It was said on his behalf that if the public saw anything wrong in it he would be glad to step out of office. His friends recalled that he had been drafted against his will and had made personal and financial sacrifices in order to qualify for the post.

At the same time as the result of yesterday's testimony that technicalities of the income tax law made it possible for the Morgan partners to pay little or no income taxes in 1930, 1931, and 1932, the house ways and means committee announced that it would hold a meeting in the near future to see what could be done to plug up such loopholes.

The effect on those drawing up the new taxes to pay for President Roosevelt's public works bond issue was causing a turn from the smaller income taxpayer as the source of revenue, to pile still further taxes on the wealthy.

Room Again Crowded.

It was once again a stuffy, perspiring day in the committee room for the afternoon session as the crowds jammed in to listen to the story of how Morgan & Co. in January, 1928, entered into a contract with the Van Sweringen brothers to finance the formation of the Alleghany corperation as a holding company for various railroad properties.

Morgan & Co. agreed to furnish $32,575,000, receiving in return $35,000,000 par value of 5 per cent bonds of the Alleghany corporation. Morgan & Co. also received, at a par of $100, $25,000,000 of 5½ per cent preferred stock, and for $375,000 warrants for the purchase of 375,000 shares of common stock at $30 a share. Lastly, the banking house was to receive at $20 a share, payable in cash, 1,250,000 shares of common stock of the Alleghany corporation.

Common Shares for Friends.

It was these shares of common that were resold without profit to those on the list put into the record. It was at this point that Mr. Morgan explained his lack of knowledge of the details of the Alleghany transaction and George Whitney, one of his partners, took the stand.

"Now," said Mr. Pecora, with satisfaction as the list went in, "were these persons invited by J. P. Morgan & Co. upon its own initiative, to subscribe to these shares at the price of $20 a share?"

"They were offered the opportunity, I think would be the more correct way of stating it," Mr. Whitney replied. He explained that there had been no advertising or solicitation.

"This was a private offer, in other words?" Mr. Pecora suggested.

"Absolutely," Mr. Whitney said. "There was no campaign. It was carried on by personal conversations."

Confidently, Mr. Pecora flipped the pages of the list.

"The first name that I observe on the list," he said, "is that of Charles Francis Adams, to whom 1,000 shares were offered at $20 per share. Do you know who he is?"

"I do," Mr. Whitney replied. "He was secretary of the navy. You also know, don't you, that he is a father-in-law of one of the partners?"

H. S. Morgan's Father-in-Law.

"Well, he is Mr. Henry S. Morgan's father-in-law," Mr. Whitney continued.

"That is not to be regarded as an unfavorable circumstance, is it?" said Senator Alben W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.].

"No, but it accounts for his opportunity to invest in this stock," Mr. Whitney explained.

Mr. Pecora, however, had had enough of this unsolicited testimony.

"That is interesting evidence," he said, "but——". Again he flipped the pages. "Let me call attention to the name of William H. Woodin. Is he related to any member of the firm?"

Mr. Whitney admitted that he was not and that he now is secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Pecora explained Mr. Woodin at his office with the American Car and Foundry company had been offered stock in a letter from William Ewing, one of the Morgan partners.

"We are asking some of our close friends if they would like some of this stock at the same price it is costing us, namely, $20 a share," Mr. Ewing wrote.

"I believe that the stock is selling in the market around $35 to $37 a share, which means very little except that people wish to speculate." And further down: "We just want you to know that we were thinking of you in this connection and thought you might like to have a little of the stock at the same price we are paying for it."

One to Two Dollars Now.

So they set aside 1,000 shares for Mr. Woodin.

"One to two dollars," Mr. Whitney replied.

"But you knew it was selling at $35 to $37 at the time the letter was written," Mr. Pecora broke in.

"I am happy to stand on what was written in the letter," Mr. Whitney assented.

To prove Mr. Woodin had paid for that stock Morgan & Co.'s receipt for $20,033 was also put into the record.

"Do you know," demanded Mr. Pecora, "upon whose suggestion or recommendation this offering was made to Mr. Woodin at that time?"

"I have already testified," Mr. Whitney countered, "that for many years Mr. Woodin has been a personal friend of many of the partners."

"Were all of the persons in this list persons who also could be characterized as among the close friends of J. P. Morgan & Co.?" Mr. Pecora asked.

"The great majority, yes," answered Mr. Whitney.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], committee chairman, cut in.

"Why would you offer this stock at 20 when the market was paying 35 and 37?" he inquired.

"For two primary reasons," was the witness' answer. "One of them, even though there might have been a quoted market at 35 or whatever it was, that did not amount to anything. We could not have had any confidence in it. In the second place we did not desire to make any profit out of the sale.

"We arranged and discussed this distribution before there was any market. The decision to dispose of this stock at 20 was arrived at among ourselves long before there was any quoted market, and we just as a matter of course in these private sales, dispose of them at cost to ourselves, because we did not desire to make a distribution on a profitable basis. In other words, it was quite distinct from our normal security issues."

"Have you any objection to making a profit in a private transaction as well as in one of a more general nature?" Senator Edward P. Costigan [Dem., Col.], wanted to know.

"Not when certain friends and associates take the same risk at the same time with us," was the reply.

Whitney Buys 14,000 Shares.

Things were going too well for the witness to suit Mr. Pecora.

"Didn't you personally acquire for your individual account a block of this stock at $20 a share?" he demanded.

Mr. Whitney said he had bought 14,000 shares.

Mr. Pecora flashed Mr. Whitney's income tax return for 1929. As counsel for the committee he has had access to those usually private files.

"It shows," Mr. Pecora said, "that in 1929 you sold 8,145 of those shares for $392,311, giving you a profit of $229,411."

At that profitable point a recess was taken until tomorrow. Then the committee because of the heat and the jam in its usual committee room will meet in the huge majority caucus room. Mr. Whitney or possibly Mr. Morgan, again will be on the stand with other lists of stock purchasers promised.

THE MORNING SESSION

Just as the list of purchasers was the peak of the afternoon session so the introduction of the list of Morgan loans to bank officers and directors was that of the morning hearing with the loan to Norman H. Davis, the focus of interest. Partner George Whitney was on the stand.

"A very small loan," Mr. Whitney described the Davis transaction, but unpaid.

Of parallel interest was the loan to Charles E. Mitchell, former president of the National City Bank of New York, now on trial for violation of the income tax laws as the result of testimony drawn from him when he was before the senate committee a few months ago.

That loan, too, it appeared, was unpaid and it was the largest of them all. Originally more than 10 million dollars, it was reduced by approximately 4½ millions shortly after it was made, and now stands at a little more than 6 million dollars.

The loan, Mr. Whitney replied, in answer to questions, was under-collateralized. But a reserve of 3½ million dollars had been set up against it.

More questions only brought out the fact that Morgan & Co. had set up a reserve of 18 million dollars against losses not counted in its net worth, or more than would be required of a chartered bank.

Explains Loan to Mitchell.

The loan to Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Whitney explained, was made to assist Mr. Mitchell in supporting the stock of the National City bank during its merger with the Corn Exchange bank. Sometimes it was Mr. Morgan who testified; often it was Mr. Whitney when his senior partner explained that he supervised the policies of his house, but was not intimately acquainted with many of its transactions.

The explanation of the reason for what was to have been a temporary accommodation to Mr. Mitchell opened the way for Mr. Whitney to bring in the Morgan participation in the bankers' pool formed in an attempt to ease and stabilize the market at the time of the crash in October, 1929.

The Mitchell loan was believed to be a "constructive effort," Mr. Whitney said. And later he had opportunity to explain, to the smiling satisfaction of the partners clustered back of him:

"We always keep in mind two things in connection with our banking business, and one of the motives obviously for that is the fact that it is an unlimited bank. One of them is not to fool ourselves about the goodness of our assets. We believe that our own examination is the strictest that at that time could be made by ourselves of our own condition, because the man who has got his money and reputation at stake obviously wants to know where he stands.

"The second thing is our liquidity, and you will notice on Dec. 31 we were approximately on the clearing house basis of liquidity, about 80 per cent liquid."

Some Partners Owe Money.

Mr. Pecora branched off on a new line.

"Are any members of the firm indebted to the firm?" he demanded.

Mr. Whitney balked at answering. There was a sharp give and take.

"The answer is 'Yes,'" Mr. Whitney said at last, then went on to explain that such personal indebtedness appeared on the firm's balance sheet as deductions from the net worth.

Again there was a spat between counsel and witness over an audit being made of the company with Mr. Pecora insisting that he be told how many accountants the auditing company had at work and Mr. Whitney insisting that he did not know.

Exasperated by the insistence of the counsel Senator Glass flared out at last, "Why don't you find out whether the accountants are white or black?"

There were several such warm passages between members of the committee over Mr. Pecora's tactics.

Fletcher Teases Glass.

Chairman Fletcher, supporting the attorney, twitted Senator Glass about the slow progress of the Glass banking bill. And for a time words flew between the two.

The question of income taxes came up. Still smarting over yesterday's heralding of the facts about the partners' taxes or lack of taxes in 1930, 1931, and 1932 Mr. Whitney was glad to show the committee that the partners had paid some 11 million dollars in taxes for 1929.

Mr. Morgan resumed the stand toward the end of the afternoon session and Mr. Pecora went at length into his (Morgan's) opinions concerning the advisability of applying legislation now governing chartered banks to private banks.

"I have no opinion on the reasonableness of any law," Mr. Morgan began. But he ended by asserting with definiteness that he did not believe private banks should be brought under any new legislation.

Mr. Morgan admitted after a bit of persuasion that Morgan & Co. takes great pains not to advertise as a bank, to have no banking sign at the door of 23 Wall street, in order not to come under the New York banking laws.

"But most passersby know the address," he remarked, smiling.

He objected to the suggestion of examination of his firm on the ground that private bankers have a more confidential relation with their clients than corporate banks.

It was here that one of the tiffs between Senator Fletcher and Senator Glass occurred.

"The whole purpose of this hearing is to get the proper foundation for banking legislation," Senator Fletcher maintained.

"I concede that to be the purpose, but I do not concede it to be the result," retorted Senator Glass.

It was brought out that when a new member joins Morgan & Co. he does not necessarily put up any capital. Mr. Morgan said partners were picked because of their experience and value.

"Have you got any vacancies?" asked Senator Alben W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.].

"I am afraid there are plenty of us these bad years," replied Mr. Morgan, chuckling. "There certainly is no vacancy."

"Do you think that there ought to be any regulation of supervision provided by law as to private banks?" asked Mr. Pecora.

Doubts Government Tests.

"I should not think so," Mr. Morgan answered. "I personally have not found that the government supervision has made such a great improvement in the banking world that I should feel that we need its help. The banks are examined every four years, but I hear of banks that are not quite right, and I hear of banks that are near the edge, and all that sort of thing. And the investigations into them, the examinations of them, do not seem to make any difference."

"We had about 10,000 failures in the last ten years," suggested Senator Fletcher. "I do not recall any private bankers that have failed."

Few Private Banks Fail.

"There have been very few," said Mr. Morgan.

"We are not in the public banking business," Mr. Morgan answered in reply to a question. "We are serving only our own clients who are our clients by their own choice."

"But you do not turn a man down; you do not select your clients; you do not give them tickets and pass on them?" said Senator Fletcher.

"Yes, indeed, we do," Mr. Morgan shot back.

"I suppose if I went there," said Senator Fletcher, "even though I had never seen any member of the firm, and had $10,000 I wanted to leave with the bank you would take it in wouldn't you?"

"No," said Mr. Morgan decisively, "we should not. Not unless you came in with some introduction."

"Then I am quite sure I could not borrow any $10,000," said Senator Fletcher sadly.

"Not without an introduction," said Mr. Morgan.

Loan Records Introduced.

Into the record of the inquiry into J. P. Morgan & Co. there was introduced today a list of loans made by the Morgan firm from Jan. 1, 1927, to Dec. 31, 1931, to persons either officers or directors of banks and trust companies.

Prominent among such borrowers' names were those of Norman H. Davis, first President Hoover's and now President Roosevelt's ambassador-at-large in Europe, who went in as a trustee of the Bank of New York and Trust company; former Vice President and Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the City National bank of Chicago. Mr. Davis, the record showed, has not yet paid off his loan. Big. Gen. Dawes paid in full by April 20, 1932.

There were twenty-six names in all of borrowers from Morgan & Co and thirty-six from Drexel & Co., the Morgan Philadelphia house.

Utility Magnate Borrows.

Among them were the names of F. C. Dumaine of Boston, president of the Commonwealth corporation, the Boston railroad holding company, and director of numerous other corporations; Artemus L. Gates, president of the New York Trust company; Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers' Trust company of New York; Mortimer N. Buckner, chairman of the New York Trust company and head of the New York Clearing House association; Seward Prosser, chairman of the managing committee of the Bankers' Trust company of New York, member of the executive committee of the General Electric company and of the finance committee of the General Motors corporation, and John C. Martin, vice president of the Curtis-Martin newspapers and director of the Curtis Publishing company. None of these were listed as having paid off their loans.

Neither was Charles E. Mitchell, former president of the National City bank of New York, now on trial for evasion of the income tax laws. The Mitchell loan, originally some ten million dollars, but now down to something less than six millions, was the largest of them all, it was testified.

Also among the borrowers who were listed as not having yet paid up was Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock exchange and not long ago one of the witnesses before the committee.

Other borrowers, but with notation "paid off" following their names, were Clifford M. Leonard of New York and Chicago, president of the Leonard Construction company and director in numerous oil companies; H. E. Manville, chairman of the executive committee of the Johns-Manville corporation; G. M. P. Murphy, head of the New York brokerage house of that name; William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York; Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, and E. Brookslee, Maryland banker and Democratic leader, friend of Gov. Ritchie.

MORGAN'S SPECIAL LIST OF STOCK BUYERS

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—A so-called "selected list" was put into the records of the senate banking and currency committee today at the inquiry into J. P. Morgan & Co.

On Feb. 1, 1929, the Alleghany corporation issued 3,500,000 shares of common stock, of which the Morgan firm purchased 1,250,000 shares at $20 per share. Between Feb. 1 and Feb. 15 of the same year Morgan & Co. sold these shares at the cost price of $20 per share to the individuals and firms in a special list:

Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the committee, brought out that the stock was bringing during that period from $31 to $35 a share on the New York stock exchange, signifying in other words a paper profit to the purchasers of from $11 to $15 a share.

Another Selected List.

The 50,000 shares sold to Drexel & Co., the Philadelphia branch of Morgan & Co. were in turn sold at cost to another "selected list" of persons, whose names also were put into the record.

Among the names was that of Owen J. Roberts, not so identified as such but presumably the present associate justice of the United States Supreme court, who purchased 100 shares. Former Senator George Wharton Pepper [Rep., Pa.] was listed for 200 shares; Jay Cooke, late Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania, for 1,000 shares; W. W. ## BORROWED $74,725, REPAID IT IN 1932, DAWES SAYS OF LOAN

Former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, who was disclosed in a senate committee hearing in Washington yesterday as a large borrower from J. P. Morgan & Co., issued a statement in regard to the transaction.

"On Oct. 20, 1931," the statement asserted, "while at London, I borrowed from J. P. Morgan & Co. $74,725 on a note payable on or before six months, with interest at 5 per cent, secured by 2,700 shares of North American common stock and 2,000 shares of Murray corporation stock, with an approximate market value of $120,000. The note was paid in full with interest at maturity, April 20, 1932.

"The loan was made in order to purchase 2,000 shares of North American common stock for investment, which I still hold."

MORGAN OFFER TO WOODIN

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—The following letter, dated Feb. 1, 1929, from J. P. Morgan & Co. to William H. Woodin, was read into the record today:

"My dear Mr. Woodin: You may have seen in the paper that we recently made a public offering of $35,000,000 Alleghany corporation 15 year collateral trust convertible 5 per cent bonds, which went very well.

"In this connection the Guaranty company offered today $25,000,000 Alleghany corporation cumulative 5½ per cent preferred stock. There was also a strong demand for this stock.

Some Reserved at $20.

"We have kept for our own investment some of the common stock at a cost of $20 a share, and although we are making no offering of this stock as it is not the class of security we wish to offer publicly, we are asking some of our close friends if they would like some of this stock at the same price it is costing us, namely, $20 a share.

"I believe that the stock is selling in the market around $35 to $37 a share which means very little, except that people wish to speculate.

"We are reserving for you 1,000 shares at $20 a share, if you would like to have it.

"There are no strings tied to this stock, so you can sell it whenever you wish.

"For further information regarding this corporation I am enclosing circular covering the bond issue.

"We just want you to know that we were thinking of you in this connection and thought you might like to have a little of the stock at the same price we are paying for it.

"I am sending this to your office, as I understand that you are now on your way through the Panama canal, but this can wait until your return.

"Hoping you are having a pleasant trip and with best regards."

Morgan Co. Sends Receipt.

No copy of a reply from Woodin was placed in the record but a letter addressed to Woodin by Morgan & Co. on Feb. 25, read:

"Dear Sir:

"We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of your check to our order for $20,033.33 in payment for 1,000 shares of Alleghany corporation common stock [no par value] at $20 per share plus interest from Feb. 15th to date.

"We have deposited in your account the above stock in temporary form, registered in our nominee's name."

SNOWDEN FLAYS M'DONALD; CALLS HIM 'IGNORANT'

Attacks Secrecy on Talks with Roosevelt.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—Viscount Snowden, former chancellor of the exchequer, in the house of lords tonight delivered a vitriolic attack on Prime Minister MacDonald, his former friend and Labor cabinet colleague.

Lord Snowden did not mince words—he was angry, and he said so, while the peers listened in amazed silence. Snowden's complaint was that the prime minister was not sufficiently explicit in his statement to the house of commons on May 9 concerning his talks with President Roosevelt and the government's policy for the approaching world economic conference.

Calls MacDonald 'Ignorant.'

"Whether the reason that we can get no information from the government is that the government has no policy, or whether it is due to the constitutional inability of the prime minister to make a clear and understandable statement on any subject, I do not know," the viscount said. "It is a positive danger to the country that its affairs should be in the hands of a man who every time he speaks exposes his ignorance or his incapacity."

Snowden described Prime Minister MacDonald's statement to the house of commons as "absolutely staggering." He suggested to the cabinet that they should look into the case of the prime minister, not only in his own interest, but in the interest of his country.

"The prime minister might as well have saved time and expense by staying home," Snowden continued. "Statements by himself and President Roosevelt about their talks are only a repetition of the platitudes we have often heard in connection with the forthcoming conference."

Accusses 'Silver Interests.'

The silver interests have captured the American administration, Lord Snowden asserted, and he said he is sorry that the prime minister has given some countenance to such selfish financial agitation.

As far as MacDonald is capable of making any definite announcement, Snowden said, he is trying to say that the American proposal for a tariff truce has been rejected. The peer said he understood that Great Britain is to go on establishing a high tariff system and so long as that is its principle, the economic conference will be wasting its time, he declared.

In their joint statement after the Washington conversations the prime minister and the President talked sheer nonsense, Snowden asserted. To say that the cause of the depression was the fall in prices showed their ignorance of the nature of the problem, he said.

Assails Handling of Debt.

Then the viscount took up war debts. This problem has been woefully bungled and mismanaged, he insisted. Nothing definite has been done for a settlement, he continued. Is Britain going to pay in June, or is it going to default? he inquired.

MacDonald left London by air today for Lossiemouth, his country home, where he plans to spend a ten day's vacation in preparation for the meeting the economic conference on June 12.

HAVANA, May 24.—(AP)—Mrs. G. Grant Mason Jr., of Havana and New York, her 3 year old son, Tony, and John and Patrick Hemingway, sons of Ernest Hemingway, the author, escaped injury at El Cano today as their automobile plunged over a 40 foot embankment, rolling over three times before it came to a stop upside down. # JOHNSON DECLINES TO SERVE ON DELEGATION TO LONDON PARLEY

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Senator Hiram Johnson [Rad., Cal.] today notified President Roosevelt that he could not accept the President's invitation to serve as a member of the American delegation to the world economic conference to be held in London next month.

Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who also has been talked about as a Republican member of the delegation, visited the White House immediately after Senator Johnson, and although Mr. Stimson refused to declare whether he had been invited by the President to serve he did say in response to questions that he was not going to London.

Senator Johnson was flowery in his statement of refusal, but it did not reveal the cause of his declination. He said:

"I appreciate beyond words the honor the President has done me. I would like, of course, to do as he suggests, but it is an absolute impossibility and I regret exceedingly that I will be unable to go to London. It is with deepest gratitude to the President, and with a regret that I cannot adequately describe that I am reluctantly compelled to this decision."

Although the American delegation is scheduled to sail a week from today, only four members have been definitely appointed. They are Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], Congressman Sam McReynolds [Dem., Tenn.], and former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio. Congressman James W. Wadsworth [Rep., N. Y.], has been invited. James P. Warburg, young New York banker, will probably be named a delegate.

GANDHI GROWING WEAKER; UNABLE TO MOVE IN BED

POONA, India, May 24.—(AP)—Devidas Gandhi, son of the mahatma, in a cable to his brother in South Africa today said that their father was unable to sit up by himself or even turn in bed.

The vitality of Gandhi, who began a fast on May 8 in protest against the status of India's "untouchables," was said by his son to be slowly ebbing away.

It is believed here, however, that since less than five days of the fast period remain, the mahatma will survive the ordeal.

5 Killed as Army Plane Hits Giant Jungle Tree

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 24.—(AP)—The war ministry announced today that five persons were killed Monday when a military plane crashed into a giant jungle tree in the Ecuadorian hinterland. Two were Germans and three Colombians. The victims were: The German pilot, Haenicchen, Lieut. Hebert Gil, Erich Rettich, a German mechanic, and two Colombian mechanics.

POPE TO LEAVE VATICAN TWICE MORE THIS YEAR

VATICAN CITY, May 24.—(AP)—It was officially announced today that Pope Pius will visit St. Paul's basilica at Rome June 30 on the occasion of a St. Paul's day ceremony, in a manner similar to tomorrow's visit to St. John Lateran. No pope has visited St. Paul's since 1870.

Pope Pius will probably visit also the basilica Santa Maria Maggiore at Rome, Aug. 15. Thus the pontiff would make a holy year visit to all the patriarchal basilicas in the mother city of the church.

The pope's visit tomorrow—Ascension day—marks his third actual exit from the Vatican since he signed the Lateran treaty with Italy in 1929 which ended the "voluntary imprisonment" of the popes. The pope, who will celebrate his 76th birthday next Wednesday, will be accompanied by Dr. Aminta Milani with a special emergency kit, who will be prepared for any eventuality on account of the pontiff's age, the long ceremony and the initial summer heat.

ASK U. S. COURT O. K. ON PLEA FOR LOWER CAR FARES

Attorneys Frank Peska and W. F. Garman yesterday asked leave of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to petition the Illinois commerce commission for a reduction in street railway fares. The petition was filed on behalf of Raymond J. Peacock, 3757 North Keeler avenue.

The petition sets forth that the Surface Lines were placed in receivership in 1923 and that there has been a straight 7 cent fare since that time. It also states there has been a material depreciation in the value of the companies' properties and a reduction in both the number and pay of their employés. These circumstances, it is contended, justify a downward adjustment of the fare.

Judge Wilkerson's approval must be obtained before the commerce commission can be petitioned because he has jurisdiction in the receivership cases. A hearing will be held tomorrow.

MITCHELL LEFT TO FACE FATE, SWOPE ASSERTS

Bank Directors Voted Him Only Sympathy.

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—A plea by Charles E. Mitchell that he had purchased 28,000 shares of National City bank stock in order to protect the bank, which he then headed, brought him nothing but sympathy from the board of directors. That was brought out today at his trial for income tax evasion.

Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company and a director of the bank, described a meeting of the directors late in March, 1932, at which Mr. Mitchell told of his purchases and of his financial plight because of it. But nothing was done to aid him.

Mr. Swope spoke rapidly, in a loud, clear voice. He recalled the meeting and Mitchell's presence there. Mr. Swope added there had been some discussion of the feasibility of taking over the now famous loan of $6,000,000 which Mitchell had obtained from J. P. Morgan & Co.

The bank did not take over the loan.

Doesn't Know of Sale.

The witness said he did not know that Mitchell had sold 18,300 shares to Mrs. Mitchell earlier, as Mitchell claims to have done. Mr. Mitchell himself intimated that he thought the directors should assume the loan which he had obtained personally. He did not actually request, however, that they do so.

Mr. Mitchell, the one time president as well as former chairman of the National City bank, is on trial before Judge Henry W. Goddard in the federal court on charges of evading payment of $850,000 taxes on an estimated net income of $4,000,000 for 1929 and 1930.

Fake Sale Is Charged.

George Z. Medalie, the United States district attorney, spent the latter part of the court session in trying to show that Mr. Mitchell defrauded the government in 1930 by making a fake sale of 8,500 shares of Anaconda Copper Mining company stock to W. D. Thornton, president of the Greene Cananea Copper company.

As a result of this sale Mr. Mitchell established a tax loss of $758,500 in 1930, which more than offset his $750,000 net income for the year. Thus in 1930, as in 1929, he paid no federal income tax. Mr. Mitchell had purchased the Anaconda stock for $988,000. He sold it to Mr. Thornton on Dec. 26, 1930, at $27 a share, or a total of $229,500. On May 4, 1931, Mr. Mitchell repurchased the stock from Mr. Thornton at 26⅝ a share, resulting in an apparent loss to Mr. Thornton of $3,409.82.

Mr. Medalie introduced evidence showing that three separate records of the brokerage house of Hornblower & Weeks relating to this apparent loss of Mr. Thornton's had been altered.

U. S. Explains Plan to Make Europe Secure from War

GENEVA, May 24.—(AP)—The anti-war machinery which the United States is helping to construct took definite form in the disarmament conference today when Norman H. Davis announced that the Washington government was prepared to confer with other powers whenever the Briand-Kellogg pact outlawing war was violated.

If it is possible to identfy the agressor, the American ambassador at large said, the United States government undertakes to refrain from any action likely to defeat the concerted efforts of other nations to deal with the offending state.

Bars Protection For Yanks.

The United tSates, moreover, he announced, will not give protection to any American citizen who may engage in activities tending to defeat international peace efforts. The United States is ready to incorporate this this doctorine in a unilateral declaration, Davis told the conference.

Many delegates to the conference, commenting informally, described the Roosevelt doctorine as vastly more important as a declaration of American policy than the Monroe doctorine, because the new policy applies to the entire world and is deemed here to be a powerful incentive to all nations to reduce armaments and strengthen the means of preventing war.

How far the heavily armed countries will reduce their armaments will depend to a considerable extent upon the fate of the pact of mutual assistance which will be presented to the conference, probably tomorrow.

France Insists on Protection.

France particularly will hinge its armaments reduction primarily upon the acceptance of this agreement by continental Europe, and secondarily upon general agreement to the rigid supervision of armaments which was proposed by President Roosevelt.

The draft of the security arrangements leaves the door open for participation of Great Britain, but it was learned tonight that the British government does not desire to participate on the ground that this agreement should be limited in scope to the continent.

The big question is whether Germany and Italy will adhere to the pact, for without either of these countries it is admitted that the proposed accord would have little practical value.

Define an Aggressor.

The security commission of the conference today reported a definition of an aggressor which includes as one criterion the Roosevelt definition.

The commission found that a nation should be deemed the aggressor which is the first to commit any of the following actions: Declaration of war, invasion by armed forces of the territory of another state with or without declaration of war, attack by land, naval or air forces, a naval blockade, support to armed bands formed in its territory which have invaded another state, or refusal to deprive them of protection.

No political, military, economic, or other considerations may excuse or justify aggression, according to the definition agreed upon by the security commission.

British Minimize French Stand.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—British authorities are not disposed to take too tragically the statement at Geneva yesterday of the French foreign minister, Paul-Boncour, in which he refused to agree with the Anglo-American disarmament plan. The British believe he was talking for home consumption only.

The political situation in France is said to be critical and any weakening at Geneva might be seized upon by the opposition as an excuse to overthrow the government.

The British refuse to believe that France will throw away the opportunity to bring America into a European security pact. It is believed that on reflection France will realize that it will never have such a chance for a security guarantee as at present.

At the same time, there is little expectation that a disarmament pact can be completed before the world economic conference opens on June 12. The utmost hoped for is a general agreement in principle, after which details will be worked out at Geneva parallel with the economic discussions in London.

1st Day Crowd Estimates Rise to 500,000.

long since learned to be ready when it is time to be ready.

You hear the occasional whine of bugles and short, sharp tones of command.

"Semper paratus"—'tis the grandest of mottoes.

Nature's Mean Trick.

Nature fooled the Fair.

A magical kind of grass seed, warranted to make you lawns while you wait, was to have been planted by thousands of bushels.

Then came the excessive and prolonged rains. No use planting any more of the magic seed. In seconds the rain was washing it out.

Result—a groaning order for $50,000 worth of sod.

It is arriving hourly.

Carpet layers never worked faster than the gardeners—usually the most leisurely of men—now are working.

You pass an acre that is cinders, junk, and sawhorses.

You return in an hour and it is a smooth, sightly lawn, set with blooming lilac bushes.

Beer is flowing. The sweating gardeners have scurried away for three minutes to test the brew. Their potations are pitilessly interrupted by a rasping voice that asks what—in relation to a place called "hell"—they are doing.

Colors of the Whirlwind.

Clean smell of fresh paint everywhere in colors not of the rainbow—a rainbow were sedate by compare—but of a whirlwind just leaving a paint factory.

Gigantic buildings in violent hues and subtle hues of red, blue, green, salmon pink, and yellow, frequently touched with glittering sheen of black, white, and gold.

Within those buildings the pungency of the fresh paint on hundreds of square rods of murals unfolding for your wondering eyes the histories of a century of progress in science, in industry, in sociology, in invention, in home building, and in railway building.

Long, deep dioramas, as vivid and as animated as a stage play, are receiving their final tests. They glitter with lights. Through some of them molten metal seems to flow.

Others are manned by effigies of artisans so lifelike that at first you step forward to ask them questions about the wonders they are performing.

Like Going to School Again.

What your eyes cannot comprehend 1,500 guide-guards—men and women—will explain to you when the Fair opens. In all there will be on the grounds 7,000 Exposition employés, including the employés of concessionaires.

I, being accompanied by a Fair official, naturally found the guards civil in their demands that passes and permits be shown. But some of them were not invariably so civil to unaccompanied persons, and it occurred to me that those more abrupt guards might be taught that there is a brief word, "Please," that goes nicely with the demand "Show your pass."

But perhaps I am finicky.

A Hurry-Up Request.

While I plodded on, through pavilion after pavilion and pavilions within pavilions, came a hurry-up request from the executive offices. "We want," it ran, "ten automobiles of the vintage of 1905 and earlier to round out the auto section of the Travel and Transport exhibit! Will THE TRIBUNE be so kind as to print this request? We shall be deeply grateful for the loan of such cars." So there you are.

"Some of these green buildings," said my companion, Mr. A. H. Kirkland of the executive staff of the Fair, "are going to look like vast evergreen forests under the night lighting effects."

I could have told him what they look like under the cruel, garish light of day—but THE TRIBUNE is a home newspaper. Maybe, what with plunging in and out of clamorous, glamorous pavilions, I was getting tired and irritable.

"Anyway," Mr. Kirkland added, "come back tomorrow for another preview of Chicago's finest feat in forty years." ["Finest feat in forty years." Mr. K. can now say a slogan as easily as "Good morning."]

So back I go for more snapshots of the ship that weathered depression and is sailing toward the shores of the new prosperity.

SUICIDE ON HUSBAND'S GRAVE.

LIEUT. BARKER'S DEATH LAID TO INJURIES IN RIOT

A coroner's jury returned a verdict yesterday attributing the death of Police Lieutenant George W. Barker, 36 years old, to injuries received more than a year ago at the hands of rioters in front of a relief station at Langley avenue and Oakwood boulevard. He died Tuesday in his home at 1923 North Nordica avenue, supposedly from an old stomach ailment.

The jury recommended that the persons who beat him be arrested and charged with manslaughter. They are not known. Evidence adduced by Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel in the Murphy undertaking rooms in Elmwood Park, showed that Lieut. Barker's illness dated from the time of the riot.

Barker was the youngest lieutenant on the police force. He served in the marine corps during the world war and was one of eight survivors of his company of 250 men. As a policeman he had been cited fifteen times for bravery. Surviving him are his widow, Rose, and three children.

Services will be held at 9:30 tomorrow in St. Giles' church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

INDIANA MINE RIOT.

Alva Cox, 35, and Henry Lineback, 50, were beaten with clubs.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR HANDLING OF FAIR TRAFFIC

Police Promise Courtesy to Visitors.

With only two days remaining before the opening of A Century of Progress, the following developments in plans for handling traffic to the Exposition were announced yesterday:

1. Parking restrictions were announced on streets approaching the Fair grounds.

2. Police departments of the city and of the park boards, at a meeting in the chambers of Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court, promised every courtesy will be shown the 2,500,000 out of town motorists expected during the Exposition.

3. "Come to the World's Fair" windshield stickers, indorsed by the Fair management on suggestion of THE TRIBUNE, continued to grow in popularity.

4. Mayor Kelly banned the flagrant use of sirens by motorcycles escorting distinguished visitors.

Police Promise Courtesy.

At the meeting called by the chief justice, Judge Thomas Green of the Traffic court told of motorists who have recently been jailed and otherwise severely treated after arrests for minor traffic violations. Representatives of the police department gave assurances that automobile drivers during A Century of Progress will have no cause for complaint.

"I want the police," said a message from Mayor Kelly, "to be lenient, courteous and discreet in their contacts with World's Fair visitors. Many of these visitors will be unfamiliar with our local regulations. We must be considerate hosts."

The mayor attached a "Come to the World's Fair" sticker to the windshield of his official car, indorsing this promotional enterprise in behalf of A Century of Progress. The stickers are being sold for 1 cent each at the Public Service offices of THE TRIBUNE at Dearborn and Madison streets and at The Tribune Tower. The price by mail is one for 3 cents or two for 5 cents.

Buys 1,000 for Trucks.

Warren Wright, executive secretary of the Cartage Exchange of Chicago, purchased 1,000 of the stickers to be posted on the trucks of exchange members which operate within the city.

Parking, it was announced by the police, will be banned between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. on the following streets:

MONROE STREET—State street to Michigan avenue.

CONGRESS STREET—State street to Michigan avenue.

7TH STREET—State street to Michigan avenue.

16TH STREET—Prairie avenue to Michigan avenue.

18TH STREET—State street to Calumet avenue.

24TH STREET—Michigan avenue to South Park way.

31ST STREET—Rhodes avenue to Ellis avenue.

Between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., parking will be prohibited in State street from Harrison street to 13th street and in Wabash avenue from Harrison street to 13th street.

NOTES OF A CENTURY OF PROGRESS

An illuminated map 25 feet high and 30 feet wide, showing the electric generating stations of the systems that supply Chicago and suburbs, forms the major part of the exhibit of the electric power and light companies of the Chicago area in the Electrical building at A Century of Progress. The map has been painted on canvas treated to make it translucent with light projected through it from beneath.

Guide tours of the University of Chicago campus will be started Saturday for the convenience of visitors to A Century of Progress. A daily concert on the 72 bell carillon in the university chapel will be given from 5:30 to 6 o'clock each afternoon and other special programs have been arranged.

A half century of progress in women's bathing suits were paraded yesterday at Jantzen beach on the Exposition grounds. Suits were represented from 1890, 1900, 1910, 1920, and 1933. Suits ranged from bloomers and gloves to the present sun bathing type of garment.

The steamship Roosevelt will arrive from her winter dock at Manitowoc, Wis., in time to represent Illinois marine interests at the opening of A Century of Progress exposition next Saturday. The Roosevelt will dock at the Michigan avenue bridge each afternoon and evening and cruise up the shore, giving a late view of the Fair.

Soldiers' field is included in the host of attractions to which there will be no admission charge on opening day, other than the 50 cent gate admission to the general fair. One hundred and fifteen thousand free seats are provided in the field for opening day, and choice reserve seats may be had as long as they last. There is no charge for reservation.

The largest stage in the world, 150 by 200 feet with four levels, for use in the pageant of Jewish life to be given on Jewish day, July 3, was dedicated yesterday with the raising of the American flag by Jewish officials and Dr. Allen D. Albert representing the Fair. Prominent members of Chicago's rabbinate were present.

The Florida sponge fishing boat St. Nicholas and its crew of five men on the way to A Century of Progress, last night was reported less than 24 hours out of port. The boat, which has made the water journey from Tarpon Springs, Fla., left Peoria early yesterday. Traveling at 6 miles an hour it was expected to make Chicago in 41 hours. It will become a part of the Greek government's exhibit at the Fair.

President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair tomorrow afternoon will make the first souvenir long distance telephone call from the Bell system exhibition on the Exposition grounds. Other Fair officials also will speak through the exhibition equipment.

The oil industry will occupy a prominent place in the General Exhibits building with a display tracing the development in home heating from the open fire to the present huge oil burners. Electrical devices will illustrate the roaring flames in the furnaces. Murals, done in oils by prominent artists, will trace the development of the oil industry.

Lieut. David Flynn at the central police headquarters yesterday began the instruction of a new group of 160 policemen assigned to the traffic division during A Century of Progress. There will be more than 570 policemen in the exposition traffic detail. The men will be assigned to their posts today after a training in courtesy and efficiency.

The first A Century of Progress 1 and 3 cent stamps will be sold in the lobby of the federal building this morning. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, first assistant postmaster general, will sell the first stamp to Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair. Mayor Kelly and other city and state officials will attend.

A. P. SLOAN JR. HAILS NEW DAY IN FAIR SPEECH

General Motors Dedicates $1,600,000 Exhibit.

BY HAL FOUST.

The General Motors $1,600,000 exhibit at the World's Fair was dedicated yesterday. Leaders in science, education, industry and politics talked briefly at a luncheon, and then saw the wheels of an automobile assembly plant started by a cosmic ray captured after a flight of two billion years through space in an apparatus prepared by Dr. Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of the General Motors corporation, in presiding at the meeting, said A Century of Progress was opening Saturday at an opportune time.

"It is fitting," he commented, "that this international exposition should be held concurrently with the birth of a new hope for the economic future, and the birth of a new spirit throughout the world of industrial and social cooperation."

Ranks Social Ahead of Scientific.

This social and spiritual revival he classed as even more important than the scientific developments of the last century. "The greater progress," he called it. He stood before a white plaster statue by Carl Milles, Swedish sculptor, depicting an artisan reverently holding aloft an automobile connecting rod. The speaker's words, lauding the beauty and the educational and inspirational value of the World's Fair, entered microphones that carried his message to the most distant part of this globe in one-fourteenth of a second.

Five foreign consuls then spoke in their native languages to the radio listeners of their countries, describing A Century of Progress and inviting attendance. They were: Lewis E. Bernays, Great Britain; Hugo F. Simon, Germany; Giuseppe Castruccio, Italy; Rene Weiller, France, and Sebastian de Romero, Spain.

Mayor Kelly Invites World.

Mayor Kelly, over the international hookup, extended a welcome to the world to accept the hospitality of this fourth largest city that has grown from a few shacks in a swamp in a single century. He also paid tribute to the nation's industrial leaders "whose courage has made the success of the World's Fair a reality."

Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress, with his brother, former Vice President Charles G. Dawes puffing a pipe in a nearby chair, told of the courage exercised by his associates in 1930 and '31 in promoting and building the World's Fair, ignoring a clamor to abandon the project to the despair of the depression.

Charles F. Kettering, General Motors vice president in charge of research, said A Century of Progress will fire the imagination of the public to the possibilities of the future. He described the progress of man in the last hundred years, reviewed at the exposition, as only the beginning of man's efforts to utilize the forces of nature. As he spoke, cosmic rays, about which man knows so little, were flashing lights on both sides of the dining hall, discharging positive and negative electrons as they crashed into gas atoms at a rate of 186,000 miles a second.

President Scott Praises Auto.

Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, told the automobile men that the motor car has enriched human life as few inventions have done since prehistoric man first applied fire to practical uses. He told of the social, educational, and economic benefits of this vehicle, developed in the last quarter of a century.

William S. Knudsen, president of Chevrolet Motor Car company, credited the public's enlightened demands as alone responsible for the creations of inventors and industrialists.

Klamath Indian Selected as Reservation Executive

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes tonight announced the appointment of Wade Crawford, a Klamath Indian, as acting superintendent of the Klamath Indian reservation in Oregon.

SELL 2 MILLION SOUVENIR FAIR ADMISSION BOOKS

More than 2,000,000 souvenir admission ticket books to A Century of Progress have been sold, Harry P. Harrison, head of the division of admissions, said yesterday. The tickets sell for $5, and it is expected that another million will be sold before the drive ends tonight.

The souvenir books consist of ten 50 cent general admission tickets and ten 25 cent tickets to either Fort Dearborn or the Lama temple. After the tickets are punched they may be retained as souvenirs. The books are transferable.

Mr. Harrison warned that the souvenir books are not to be confused with the season tickets, which will be sold for $15 during the fair and which contain 150 admissions and are nontransferable. He said that 1,000 of these tickets have been sold. There were 175,000 souvenir tickets sold yesterday.

Driver Killed Cranking Truck While in Gear

Mattoon, Ill., May 24.—(AP)—Alvin M. Shaffer, 32, of Toledo, employé of an elevator here, was fatally injured today when he was smashed against a wall by a truck he had cranked. The machine was in gear.

'IT'S MARVELOUS' IS VERDICT AFTER PREVIEW OF FAIR

200 Writers, Announcers Make Six Hour Tour.

A six hour tour of A Century of Progress exposition, from the Hall of Religion to the Seminole Village, and from the Sky Ride to the Snake Pit, was completed at 10 o'clock last night by two hundred newspaper men and radio announcers. Their unanimous verdict was: "The show is marvelous, don't miss it."

The exposition already is 95 per cent complete and by opening date next Saturday practically all the exhibitions will be in place and the hundreds of thousands of visitors expected will be treated to the greatest exposition in educational and showmanship history.

Rush Customs Clearings.

The incomplete 5 per cent consists mainly of exhibits that were delayed in transit. Customs officials under Collector of Customs Czarnecki are working night and day to clear arriving freight, and they promise that, as far as they are concerned, the fair will open Saturday morning with the last nail in place, the last barker on the grounds and the last snake in his cage.

Leaving the boat landing opposite the administration building at 3 p. m., the press representatives were treated to a personal and intimate preview lasting for six hours. But the show as seen by the preview audience was the same that will be seen by the casual visitor. It was merely a dress rehearsal with critics watching.

From the administration building, riding in gaily colored gondolas, minus the singing oarsmen to be enjoyed by the regular guests, the flotilla toured the lagoon, making many landings that the wonders of the Fair might be observed at close sight.

Cruise Lagoon and Lake.

In three boats, accompanied by a lecturer the fleet passed from the lagoon to the open lake, enjoying the unparalleled view from the magic island where children will rapture in a fairyland of toys and make believe, to the huge halls of science and industry.

A similar tour, with a competent guide and lecturer may be enjoyed by any visitor at a nominal sum. And the view of the Fair as seen from the lagoon cannot be duplicated from any other vantage point. Besides the launches and large motor ships the guest may take any one of a number of gondolas, self driven electric crafts or motor boats. In the gondola singing and moonlight gifted langour takes the place of the educational talk of the launch guide.

Two Days to Clear Débris.

The second part of the preview was taken overland in the special World's Fair buses with their side seats permitting an unobstructed view of the entire exposition grounds. This also may be enjoyed at a minimum of expense by any fair visitor. Almost every exhibit was visited and all will be ready for the public on opening day, according to the attendants.

In a few cases the exhibit rooms were cluttered with débris, but two days will work wonders in the cleaning up of assembly halls and exposition rooms. Those that are not ready on Saturday will be operating full blast by Monday, but the delay applies only to individual concessions and not to the fair as a whole.

Through the various exhibitions, including the Midway with its snake shows and freaks, to the Seminole village with its Indian braves and ten foot alligators, the preview ran in record time. The Sky Ride, with its 628 foot platform and rocket car ride, is an attraction not to be missed.

View Beyond Description.

With only one elevator running, the preview audience slowly straggled to the top of the spider web steel towers and gazed at the panorama below. Perhaps the greatest compliment given this thrill was the fact that not a reporter, not a photographer, used an adjective to describe it. The view is beyond description. Although not yet ready, the tower ride and the rocket car ride between the twin towers will be ready within three days after the fair opens.

From the Midway, through the Travel and Transport building, the three bus loads of newspapermen toured to the homes exhibits and the transportation displays on the south end of the exposition grounds. In each building an enthusiast could spend the entire summer.

Dwellings of the Future.

The previewers, most of whom live in hotels or kitchenette apartments, paused to gape and wonder at the model homes. Homes of glass, homes of steel, homes of native woods, all are illustrated. Not yet in general use, the model buildings represent what will, in the future, be the general dwelling places of America.

RELEASE EMPLOYES FOR OPENING OF FAIR, GOV. HORNER URGES

In a special proclamation, Gov. Henry Horner yesterday designated Saturday, opening day of the 1933 Fair, as A Century of Progress day, and urged residents of Chicago and the state to participate. He especially urged employers where possible, to grant their employés a holiday on Saturday so that they might attend.

The governor described Chicago's amazing growth in its century of existence and asserted that the occasion was one for rejoicing because "in the dawn of Chicago's second century, the outlook for the world brightens anew."

"With all signs indicating a speedy recovery from the last century's severe economic maladjustment, we may look forward to the future with confidence and to still greater development in the social welfare, art, and sciences, the progress of which is so graphically presented in A Century of Progress Exposition," stated the proclamation.

TANDEM OF EARLY NINETIES WILL BE ON VIEW AT FAIR

Back in the early nineties one of the most astounding inventions was the safety bicycle. People used to write letters to their editors complaining about the danger to pedestrians from the tremendous speeds expert pedalers could get out of such contraptions, especially when the tandem appeared with two, three, four, or more seats. One of the four seaters, owned by Charles Steinlauf, 72 East 25th street, is to be on exhibition at the World's Fair. Yesterday, to make sure that it was in scorching order, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steinlauf and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steinlauf of 3851 Ogden avenue took a short ride on the machine.

Virginia Hamill Arrives to Finish Fair Exhibit

Miss Virginia Hamill of New York, designer of the exhibit of the National Council of Women at A Century of Progress, arrived in Chicago yesterday to put the finishing touches on the space in the Social Science building that will be the official headquarters for organized women at the Fair. Miss Hamill, who is a niece of Charles Hamill, president of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, expects to complete arrangements of the exhibit today. Miss Hildreth Meiere, who is also in Chicago this week, is the artist who created the 60 foot mural that forms the background of the exhibit.

First 13 Girls Arrive for Final Competition.

stepped off the train from Decatur in a neatly tailored swagger suit of gray wool. A blue print blouse with an organdy frill matched her demure charm and her slow spoken manner. For several years she has been clerking in a Decatur dry goods store.

One Is Science Teacher.

From Beardstown came Kay Schaeffer, a striking brunette with velvety dark eyes and distracting dimples. She is 25, a science teacher in the Beardstown High school, and the product of three generations of Beardstown Schaeffers. Her father is a newspaper editor. Her own training she received at Wesleyan university and the Universities of Wisconsin and Illinois.

Miss Julia MacPherson, a University of Illinois student, came from Champaign just before midnight. Vivacious, pleasant mannered, she is one of the popular members of the Pi Beta Phi sorority on the university campus. Only a few months ago she was one of the leaders of the Junior prom. Her traveling costume was a soft gray that blended prettily with her hazel eyes. She was taken to the Congress hotel.

Three from Wisconsin.

From Wisconsin came Miss Geraldine Sprague and Miss Lillian Anderson, both in gray, and Miss Ruth Mary Kunz, fashionably clad in beige tweed.

Miss Anderson is a striking blonde with a coiffeur that is severe, almost boyish. After completing her high school course she went to work as a cashier in a tearoom in Racine, where she lives with a guardian. Her father is an invalid. She has just passed her 23d birthday. Her traveling companion, Miss Sprague, is only 17 and a junior in the Shorewood High school in Milwaukee. Tiny with piquant features, Miss Sprague is the daughter of a consulting engineer.

Bread Winner for Seven.

Miss Kunz, a delightful girl of 19, whose home is in Madison, has earned her living since she was 12 years old. Her father, a merchant, died a number of years ago and since that time she has been employed as a secretary by an insurance company, helping to provide for a family of seven. Her hair is chestnut brown and her eyes blue.

Miss Sprague and Miss Anderson are stopping at the Allerton hotel with Miss Schaeffer. Miss Kunz is at the Stevens with two Michigan girls, Miss Marybeth Kemp of Battle Creek, and Miss Dorothy Knight of Marcellus, and an Indiana girl, Miss Marlwyn Brennan of Lafayette.

Daughter of an Engineer.

Miss Knight is the daughter of an electrical engineer. Twenty-two years old, she has studied voice since her graduation from the Marcellus High school. Her hair is black, her eyes hazel.

The titian head among last night's 13 arrivals was Miss Brennan, who is 20 and a sophomore at Purdue university. She made the trip to Chicago attired in a trim blue silk ensemble.

Miss Jeanne Elizabeth Gabriel, the 13th arrival, is the daughter of a wholesale lumberman in Clinton, Ia. She was whisked away to the Chicago Beach hotel, where she is to stay. On Tuesday she completed her semester examinations at Grinnell college that she might come for the Fair and the Queens' competition.

Notes on Tribune's Queen Competition

This morning at 9 o'clock an army of seamstresses, fitters and pressers begin the tremendous task of making the gowns for the 51 girls in the "Queen" competition. Gowns must be finished by noon tomorrow, when the contestants will wear them for the first time at a luncheon in the Walnut room of Marshall Field's. Immediately after luncheon the girls go to Hotel Sherman for the final judging of the competition.

To insure that each girl has "her best foot forward," professional help in going through the routine of the judging has been arranged by Murray Browne. Mr. Browne also will direct the pageantry at the coronation dinner Friday night.

If it is true that any beauty parade starts at a beauty shop, the girls are getting off to a flying start. The Illinois Hairdressing association has arranged with a number of its officers and directors to give them personal attention at various shops tomorrow morning.

MUSSOLINI DONS IRON CAP, 'LOOKS LIKE A CAESAR'

Becomes Regulation Style for Blackshirts.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 24.—Premier Mussolini blossomed out today wearing a new style iron hat to review the Black Shirt youths in the annual ritual, known as the "Fascist levy," or graduation from the lower to the higher ranks in the youth organizations and induction of senior members into the Fascist party.

Mussolini's iron hat, replacing the usual gold braided black cap, becomes the new regulation helmet for the Black Shirts. It is flatter, more form fitting and looks more like a cap. The former style Italian helmet was a duplicate of the French.

Il duce looked sterner and more Caesarlike in his new millinery which accentuates the thrust of his chin. He frowned often as he sat on his prancing bay while reviewing the youths who marched by him in the new "Via del Impero," or Empire avenue, which runs from Mussolini's office building, the Palazza Venezia, to the Colosseum.

Emphasizes Strong Jaw.

Newspapers tonight say the new hat brings out the strength of Mussolini's jaw. "It gives to his face an aspect of force so powerful as to recall the statue of Colleoni," says the Giornale d'Italia. Colleoni was a free lance buccaneer of the late middle ages.

Rome's east side was a noisy, raucous place all morning for this piece of patriotic inflation, which fell on the anniversary of Italy's breaking away from the triple alliance with Germany and Austria and entering the war against them.

Boy Given Card and Rifle.

After the march down Via del Impero the Black Shirted youths were marshaled alongside the ruins of the Colosseum, sacred to the memory of lions and martyrs, and there they were reviewed. Il duce handed out medals for valor to the boys who had performed brave acts during the year.

The boys were then sworn in. This part of the rite is symbolic. Just one boy steps out of the ranks and the party secretary administers the oath. Then the boy gets a card and a rifle.

The ceremony was concluded with all singing "Giovanezza" and the "Hymn of Rome." At the same time in Trieste, Naples, Milan, Genoa, Venice, Turin and all other Italian towns where similar Fascist levy ceremonies were going on the same songs were sung in mystic unison.

WOMAN'S SUIT ASKS $250,000 OF TITLE AND TRUST

A suit for $250,000 damages was filed in the Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Sophie Phillips Krieger against the Chicago Title and Trust company and Philip A. Paulson.

Attorney Michael Phillips, who filed the praecipe, refused to discuss it except to say that a declaration will be filed soon and that defamation of character will be alleged.

Last October Mrs. Krieger was a government witness in the Federal court of Judge Charles E. Woodward where Henry F. Norcott, president of H. O. Stone & Co., and eight associates were charged with using the mails to defraud. She charged at that time the officials of the real estate company defrauded her of $125,000 and her home.

HELEN REND SUES J. V. CLARKE III. FOR A DIVORCE

Prominent Society Couple Wed Seven Months.

Mrs. Helen Rend Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Rend of 70 Scott street, and a bride of seven months, yesterday filed suit for divorce against John Vaughan Clarke III., in the Circuit court. The bill recited that Clarke "attacked, injured and maimed" his wife on one occasion, and "laid hands on her with violence" at another.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke have been popular members of the city's young married group since their marriage last Oct. 4. The wedding at Holy Name cathedral was one of the smart events of the autumn social season. Clarke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bertram Clarke of Pasadena, former Chicagoans. He formerly was employed in a stock brokerage office here.

Active in Junior League.

Mrs. Clarke has been an active member of the Junior League. In 1929 she contributed the entire musical score for the Junior League's play, "The Patchwork Girl on Oz," which was presented at the Selwyn theater. Later she composed the music for "Treasurer Island" when this play was produced by the Junior League. The latter was repeated under the auspices of the Kansas City and the Cleveland Junior Leagues.

The divorce bill drawn by Attorney Walter Beebe charged that the first act of cruelty took place on last Feb. 15. On April 2, the bill recited, Clarke struck his wife in the face. On April 6, the bill continues, he "laid hands on her with violence."

Reconciliation Is Brief.

Following the April 6 incident, the bill narrated, Mrs. Clarke left the home of her husband at 222 East Pearson street, and went to her parent's residence. A few days later she returned to him, it was recited, after a reconciliation. Mrs. Clarke took her final departure on May 11, "when he treated her with violence."

Mrs. Clarke could not be reached at her home last evening, her mother stating that she had left to keep a dinner engagement. It also was stated yesterday that Mrs. Clarke had left for New York City to visit relatives. Clarke was not at his apartment.

The suit may be heard in a few days before Judge Philip J. Finnegan.

'LET'S GO, CHICAGO' WEEK TRADE GAINS SPREAD TO SUBURBS

A preliminary survey made by the Association of Commerce yesterday proved that outlying business districts from Evanston to the far south side of Chicago and as far west as Oak Park are being benefited by Mayor Kelly's "Let's Go, Chicago" week.

Hundreds of buyers from smaller cities throughout the middle west have appeared at the offices of the association and announced that they were making purchases in Chicago in conformity with the prosperity campaign.

Nearly 300 salesmen from the firms of many wholesalers and manufacturers have applied to the association within the last three days for literature and automobile stickers with which to promote business for themselves while they travel their circuits, it was stated by P. W. Kunning, the association representative on the mayor's boost committee.

A new medium of advertising the mayor's program was inaugurated yesterday by John Pierre Roche, chairman of the organization appointed to carry out this work. A fleet of transport airplanes was rigged with loud speakers at the municipal airport and dispatched over various sections of the city. Messages of inspiration were broadcast from the planes as they cruised at 2,000 feet.

ALFRED CODONA, AERIALIST, HURT; CAREER IS ENDED

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—(AP)—Alfred Codona, famous aerialist, sat on the sidelines today as his circus troupe went through its act, but he refused to admit that a wrenched shoulder has brought his career to an end.

"I know I won't be able to work for a month, maybe never," he said. "You can't tell about those things. But I think I will work."

He patted his shoulder, injured at Madison Square Garden, New York, and smiled. It was a telegram sent to his father, Edward Codona, in Long Beach, Cal., which revealed that the injury was serious.

"I stay on the ground and watch," he explained. "I work harder than they do, watching them. But then, many things are hard."

Codona, who is 40, said the wrench would not have been serious if he had not had a cold in his system.

He is the widower of Lillian Leitzel, famed aerialist who was killed in a 19 foot fall at Copenhagen two years ago. Codona has since married Vera Bruce, also a member of the "Flying Family."

MRS. KOHLSAAT WINS A DIVORCE FROM ATTORNEY

Mrs. Mabel G. Kohlsaat, 777 Bryant avenue, Winnetka, yesterday was awarded an uncontested decree of divorce from Attorney Edward C. Kohlsaat, 54 years old, son of the late Federal Judge Christian C. Kohlsaat and a nephew of the late H. H. Kohlsaat, Chicago publisher. Mrs. Kohlsaat charged desertion. The decree was signed by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan.

A financial settlement had been agreed upon. A portion was embodied in the divorce decree, but a large part was kept secret. The decree recited that Mrs. Kohlsaat should receive $700 a month alimony, "regardless of any future change in the financial circumstances of either party." In addition she will receive $225 a month for the upkeep of her home in Winnetka. Kohlsaat relinquishes all his rights to a share in the home and in the furnishings, which include, according to attorneys, many antiques and heirlooms of the Kohlsaat family. Mrs. Kohlsaat also will receive a $105,000 life insurance policy which her husband agrees to pay up.

Kohlsat, who did not appear, was represented in court by Attorneys John D. Black and Benjamin B. Davis. Mrs. Kohlsaat, called to the witness stand by her counsel, Frank Cantwell, stated her husband had been "unusually devoted until Oct. 3, 1931, when he suddenly left."

REVISED STATE SALES TAX HITS SNAG IN SENATE

Foes Delay Action Until Next Wednesday.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special]—Although a few minutes earlier the proposed levy had been reduced from 3 to 2 per cent, the state administration's new sales tax bill encountered hard sledding in the senate this evening.

Senator Francis J. Loughran [Dem., Chicago], who has been selected to handle the measure, sought to advance it in its amended form from second to third reading. This rapid action was opposed and resulted in a motion to postpone all action until next Wednesday. Loughran moved to table that motion and on roll call was defeated by a vote of 16 to 23.

The bill failed to show anything like the strength needed for its passage by even a majority vote. Sixteen of the 23 who favored delay were members of the Democratic majority upon which the administration has been counting to pass the bill. Several of these and some of the Republicans made speeches indicating that the bill to replace the 3 cent tax killed by the state supreme court recently will be more bitterly fought than its predecessor.

Roll Call Results.

FOR POSTPONEMENT.
DEMOCRATS.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Behrmann | Kline | O'Connell |
| Bocke | Lohman | Penick |
| Burgess | Mayer | Shaw |
| Finn | Monroe | Stuttle |
| Hickman | Mundy | Williams |
| Karraker | | |

REPUBLICANS.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Baker | Lantz | Searcy |
| Carlson | Mason | Woods |
| Gunning | | |

AGAINST POSTPONEMENT.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Broderick | Graham | Loughran |
| Carroll | Huckin | Maypole |
| Clifford | Kribs | O'Grady |
| Gillmeister | Lee | Ward |

REPUBLICANS.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Roberts | | |

The list shows that the demand for postponement came from down state senators with one exception, that of Roy C. Woods [Rep., Chicago] and it was the down staters' fears concerning the way funds produced by the tax might be distributed that caused the trouble for the bill.

Follows Horner Conference.

The decision to cut one cent off the proposed tax was agreed to by Gov. Horner in conference with members of both houses. At that time it also was agreed that Senator James O. Monroe [Dem., Collinsville] will amend his occupational tax to provide a levy of one cent on lines of personal service not within the scope of the sales tax and handle the two bills as companion measures. The occupational tax would hit more than a hundred professions and trades.

But the lack of other companion measures hurt the sales tax bill most seriously today. The proceeds from the tax, according to the bill, are to go into the general revenue fund and appropriations for relief for counties are to be made directly against this fund. The appropriation bills have not been drawn and the down staters fear Chicago will attempt to obtain charity appropriations in excess of its payments into the fund, and that counties will be paying part of that cost.

Beat Child Labor Move.

The senate made definite history before it took up the sale tax. Senator Noah M. Mason [Rep., Oglesby], called up his joint resolution spelling Illinois' concurrence in the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution in congress to "limit and regulate employment of persons under 18 years of age."

After Mason said that Secretary of Labor Perkins was doing all in her power to aid the amendment, several senators, including Carl Behrman Dem., Peoria], Wilber H. Hickman, [Dem., Paris], H. S. Burgess [Dem., Fairfield], and R. Wallace Karraker [Dem., Jonesboro], assailed the proposal as an invasion of states and insisted congressional action is not necessary to protect the youth of Illinois.

The resolution on a roll call, with many senators silent, was defeated, 9 to 12, twenty-six being required for passage. Those who voted for it were Baker, Barr, Lantz, Mason, Roberts, and Wood, Republicans, and Lee, Mayer, and Penick, Democrats.

CANDIDATES FOR CIRCUIT BENCH

(Election June 5)

HARRY S. DITCHBURNE

Harry S. Ditchburne, Republican candidate for the Circuit bench, has served as an assistant state's attorney under three state's attorneys, Robert E. Crowe, John A. Swanson, and Thomas J. Courtney.

Ditchburne was born in Chicago 47 years ago and attended John Marshall Law school, receiving the degree LL.B., and was admitted to the bar in 1910. Since then he has had 23 years' experience in all courts, state and federal, civil and criminal, trial and review. While preparing for the law he was employed in clerical capacities by Armour & Co., the Chicago National bank, and other establishments.

Mr. Ditchburne was appointed an assistant state's attorney in January 1927, resigning in January, 1933, after six years' service under three state's attorneys. He has been repeatedly commended for meritorious service both in the public press and by various agencies, including the Chicago Crime commission. He is now engaged in the private practice of law, associated with Charles E. Lounsbury.

In the recent bar primaries Mr. Ditchburne was one of the 20 high candidates for the Circuit court who won indorsements. He ran in twentieth place and was ahead of seven sitting judges. Of Mr. Ditchburne, the Bar association report said:

"He is courteous, able, and upright. He is a lawyer of experience and possesses a judicial temperament. His service as assistant state's attorney had been repeatedly commended. He is qualified for the office."

He is married and lives at 255 West Marquette road.

ILLINOIS HOUSE PASSES BILL TO CUT JUDGES' PAY

Salary Would Be Set at $12,000.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—[Special.]—Judges elected June 5 in Cook county will draw $12,000 instead of $15,000 annually if a bill pushed through the house today is passed by the senate next week. It also reduced the salary of state's attorney by the same amount. It is one of the important parts of the Burns economy program and won hard gained approval by a vote of 111 to 5.

Aimed at circuit and superior court judges so that their salaries would correspond to those of supreme court justices who were cut the same amount by the house, this plank in the economy program sponsored by Representative James T. Burns [Dem., Kankakee] seemed destined for certain defeat yesterday. It was called then and had obtained only 70 votes when the roll call had been completed.

Burns Voices Warning.

Today, as yesterday, Burns gave a warning to the house when the bill was reached on the calendar.

"I have stood before you many times urging cuts in the costs of government," he said, soberly. "Once again I ask you to vote to accomplish that purpose. But if this bill is not passed with the necessary 102 emergency votes, I shall move to strike all economy bills on the calendar and I shall use all my influence to kill those in the senate. It is not fair to cut some and not all."

Whatever effect this ultimatum might have had on downstaters, it did not move Chicago Democrats. Although pledged by state and national platforms to the cause of lessening governmental costs—and thus taxes—many of the Chicagoans remained silent in their seats when the roll was called, passing their votes.

Thirty-Six Not Recorded.

Thirty-six members either did not answer their names or were absent from the house chamber. Of these, 29 were Chicagoans. Democratic Floor Leader Thomas P. Sinnett, Rock Island, and Speaker Arthur Roe were for the reductions but 29 Democrats did not follow along. Minority Leader Elmer J. Schnackenberg and Former Speaker David E. Shanahan of Chicago also voted for the cuts but five Chicago Republicans opposed them.

Schnackenberg delivered what many said was a clear-cut definition of the matter at hand. When his name was reached on roll call, the Republican leader arose and declared that the action of Chicago Democrats had been significant.

"Most of them have not voted for this bill so far," he said, "and if it fails to obtain 102 votes, there is one place upon which the blame may be laid. I have heard much today of the wisdom of the judges in Cook county. I agree. It is also true that a man of wisdom should realize how much revenues have been reduced.

Says Judges Not Objecting.

"I don't think that there is a judge in Cook county who would dare come here and ask that his salary not be cut," continued Schnackenberg. "I think I know all who are up for reelection in June and not one of them have asked me to oppose this bill. They are willing to take this cut. I admire them tremendously."

Most vocal of the defenders of judges' present salaries was Representative William J. Connors [Dem., Chicago], who produced a chart showing that the courts in Cook county—circuit, superior, criminal and county—operated in 1932 at a profit of $118,000. "The judges are not receiving too much," said Connors. "Last year they took a 15 per cent cut voluntarily.

"It has been my observation," scoffed Grover C. Borders [Dem., East St. Louis], "that your Chicago judges work about three hours daily and play golf in the afternoon. Chicago's kind of economy would bankrupt the entire state."

Following is a tabulation of those voting against the bill and those absent or not voting.

SENATE ACQUITS LOUDERBACK BY NARROW MARGIN

Count Eight Votes Short of Impeachment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—The senate today formally acquitted Federal Judge Harold K. Louderback of San Francisco of the high crimes and misdemeanors alleged against him in five separate articles of impeachment brought by the house of representatives.

On the fifth and most comprehensive charge he escaped removal from office by the narrow margin of eight votes. Forty-five senators found him guilty on this count, while only 34 voted for his acquittal. But under constitutional impeachment procedure a two-thirds vote of the senate is necessary for conviction.

On the first four charges, each reciting a specific case in which the San Francisco jurist was alleged to have appointed friends and relatives to lucrative receiverships, the majority of the senate voted for acquittal.

The votes on the five charges were as follows:

Votes on Five Charges.

Article 1. Guilty 34; not guilty 42. This charge was that Judge Louderback discharged a receiver for the Russell-Colvin company, a brokerage house in San Francisco, because the receiver refused to retain the lawyer insisted upon by the judge; and that the judge had sought to establish a fictitious residence in another county so that suits brought against him would not be triable in San Francisco county.

Article 2. Guilty 23; not guilty 47. The charge was that the judge allowed exorbitant fees to be paid to Marshall A. Woodward and Samuel Shortridge Jr. as receiver and attorney, respectively, for the Lumbermen's Reciprocal association.

Article 3. Guilty 11; not guilty 63. Judge Louderback was charged in this article with having appointed Guy H. Gilbert as receiver for the Fageol Motor company, knowing that Gilbert was "incompetent, unqualified and inexperienced."

Article 4. Guilty 30; not guilty 47. This article charged the judge with appointing a receiver for the Prudential Holding company when none should have been appointed and that his action was for the "sole purpose of benefiting and enriching his personal friends and associates."

Article 5. Guilty 45; not guilty 34. This was a general charge holding Louderback to have appointed incompetent receivers; to have decided cases with partiality and with "prejudice and favoritism to individuals."

The votes followed an hour and forty minutes of deliberation behind closed doors. When the senatorial "jury" returned, Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], chairman of the judiciary committee, ordered the clerk to read each of the articles of impeachment and to call the roll after each charge had been read.

Louderback Watches Vote.

Judge Louderback and his counsel entered the senate chamber as the clerk was droning the first article against him. He sat at the table from which for ten days he has watched progress of the proceedings for his removal from the bench, and carefully noted down the votes of the various senators on a roll call slip.

First to congratulate him when Vice President John N. Garner announced the verdict was Representative U. S. Guyer [Rep., Kas.], one of the house judiciary committeemen who prosecuted him. Second was Senator Huey Long [Dem., La.], who elbowed his way through a gathering group of senators seeking to shake the jurist's hand.

COMMITS SUICIDE IN SCHOOL.

Albion, Mich., May 24.—[Special.]—The body of Christopher Young, 65, was found hanging in an empty building near the Washington Gardner High school at noon today. Police believe he committed suicide because of poor health and unemployment. A brother, Phillip Young, survives.

Mother Dies, Baby Saved by Caesarean Operation

St. Louis, Mo., May 24.—(AP)—A Caesarean operation, performed after the death of Mrs. Bessie Lehne, 40, of Venice, Ill., last night saved the life of her unborn baby boy. Dr. Y. A. Jackson delivered the baby two minutes after the mother expired from a heart attack. The baby was resuscitated by injection of stimulants into the heart muscles and by the use of oxygen. Today the infant was reported in normal condition.

PAINTER FATALLY HURT IN FALL.

Paul Repasky, 59 years old, 4720 South Seeley avenue, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he fell three stories from a ladder on which he was standing while painting an attic window.

FINE DRIVER $50 FOR TYING DOG BEHIND HIS CAR

Witnesses Tell of Seeing Animal Dragged.

John Andriolo, barbecue stand owner charged with tying a mongrel dog to the rear bumper of his automobile and then driving through the streets of Bellwood, was fined $50 and costs of $5 yesterday by Justice Ira P. Lambert in Summit.

The prosecution was conducted by Assistant State's Attorney John F. Keeley Jr. and Attorney Robert E. Cantwell, representing the "Orphans of the Storm" animal shelter at Deerfield, of which Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin is secretary and treasurer.

Witness Describes Cruelty.

Arthur Gunderson, 6054 Giddings street, was the first witness called after Andriolo's counsel, Paul Broccolo, had requested a continuance, which was denied. He said he was riding a motorcycle on May 13 and saw the helpless animal being dragged behind Andriolo's car.

"I drove alongside and asked Andriolo if he was crazy," Gunderson said. "The dog's paws were bleeding and its neck had been rubbed raw by the knot on the rope. This was near Mannheim and St. Charles roads in Bellwood."

The witness then told of an angry crowd which gathered and made threats against the barbecue station owner. The dog, which has been under treatment at the Orphans of the Storm refuge, then was taken into the courtroom and identified. It wagged its tail and sat down beside Mrs. McLaughlin, who has christened it "Calamity Jane."

Rescues Dog; Saves Driver.

Policeman Raymond Culliton of the highway station at Willow Springs then told of coming up to Andriolo's car, of cutting the rope, and of protecting the driver from the crowd. Andriolo and the dog were taken to the Bellwood station by Culliton.

Mrs. McLaughlin testified to sending a truck for the dog and to seeing that it had medical treatment.

Andriolo, in his own defense, testified that the raw spot on the animal's neck was due to disease. He tried, he said, to get the dog into his car to take it to his home for treatment and tied it behind the car because this was the only way to get it away from the stand.

Attorney Broccolo announced he would appeal the verdict. He also demanded possession of the dog, which was refused.

Wabash Railroad Agrees to Keep Suburban Line

Continued railroad service for the villages of Oak Lawn, Worth, Chicago Ridge, Palos Park, Orland and other suburbs on the Wabash railroad was assured yesterday when the road notified the Illinois commerce commission that it had entered into a stipulation with village officials whereby only one train a day is to be taken out of service, leaving four trains daily to and from Chicago. Residents of the village petitioned the commerce commission two weeks ago to prevent the road from discontinuing its suburban service altogether, and the agreement was in answer to the petition.

Chicago Forest Army Begins Journey to Woods of West

The 2,880 boys and men of the Chicago area who have been equipped and conditioned at Fort Sheridan for the Civilian Conservation corps yesterday began their journey to forest camps in the states of Washington and Oregon. Four companies entrained yesterday, seven more will entrain today and seven companies tomorrow.

Companies 602, 603 and 605 which left yesterday will begin their work of reforestation at Stevenson, Wash. Company 604, the last of yesterday's contingent, will work at White Salmon, Wash. Companies 606 and 607 leaving today will go respectively to Cascades Lodge, Ore., and to Hood River, Ore. Companies 608, 609 and 611 will go to Vancouver Barracks, and companies 615 and 622 will go respectively to Estacabe, Ore., and to Tillamook, Ore.

Work in National Forests.

Units leaving Friday will be companies 617, 619 and 620 which go to Mill City, Ore.; 621 to Lebanon, Ore.; 623 to Cornallis, Ore., and 610 and 611 both to Manpin, Ore. All the companies will work in the national forest areas along the west coast.

The departures are accompanied by ceremonies which include a general review with the regular army band and an address by Lieut. Col. Scott Wood, who is in charge of the conservation corps.

As the conditioned men with weeks of instruction, exercise and camp training behind them evacuate the fort new batches of men are being received at the rate of 1,000 a day.

The regular army officers in charge of the training announced yesterday that the schedule will have to accelerated to comply with the orders of President Roosevelt who has asked that 250,000 from all parts of the country be in camp before June 7.

160 Recruits to Company.

Each of the work companies comprises 160 of the recruits under the comand of a regular army captain, assisted by three regular army lieutenants. Three army noncommissioned officers are also assigned to each company.

War veterans were warned that definite plans for enrolling them in conservation work have not yet been completed and that nothing would be gained by marching on Washington, in a telegram received yesterday by Dr. Hugh Scott, manager of the Edward Hines Jr. hospital, from Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of veterans' service in Washington.

Father Gets a Job; Offer to Sell Child Withdrawn

Mrs. Eva Leino, 17 North Water street, Batavia, yesterday withdrew her published offer to sell her youngest daughter, Fairy, 3 years old, for $500, after officials of the United States Wind Engine and Pump company of Elgin offered her husband, Oscar, a job. The promise of work for Leino, a moulder who has been idle for three years, came as Mrs. Leino was considering the offers of two Batavia families who wished to adopt the child.

LIQUOR, LINGERIE FIGURE IN JELKE DIVORCE HEARING

'Roughhouse' Parties Are Described.

Newport, R. I., May 24.—[Special.]—Liquor, lingerie bills and "roughhouse" parties were the subjects of the more enlivening passages of Mrs. Nini Woodward Jelke's testimony in her second day on the witness stand today.

Mrs. Jelke is suing her broker husband F. Frazier Jelke of Chicago and New York for divorce charging cruelty and nonsupport. He is countering with a plea for the same kind of decree and is likewise charging cruelty and in addition, misconduct and desertion.

When Mrs. Jelke resumed the stand today she was questioned further about her alleged more or less playful habit of biting her husband's ear on occasions. She said that it was just part of a little "rough housing" in which they were wont to engage now and then.

Tells How It's Done.

"O," said the witness with a bored air, "we'd put our arms about each other's neck and swing around."

As to the wardrobe purchases, Mrs. Jelke admitted having bought nightgowns, combinations, stockings, and the like on a rather wholesale scale while her husband was in Europe in September, 1932, but she protested that she was trying to get the broker to return home and she figured that if she ran up heavy bills it would turn the trick.

"I remember buying sixty pairs of stockings, six nightgowns, nine combinations, thirty-five pairs of gloves, nine dresses, twelve bags and four evening gowns," she testified in recalling one outing of this "campaign."

Liquor Always on Hand.

"Liquor" was the subject matter of much of the former Alabama society girl's testimony. After confessing that Robert E. White, a young bachelor of Virginia, had visited her night and day last summer when she had a cottage at Middlebirg, Va., Mrs. Jelke was asked:

"Always," came the prompt reply.

Q.—It's a speakeasy, isn't it? A.—Yes, they call it Ja and Charlie's, I think. It's one of my husband's favorites.

Q.—You were there a great deal with White, weren't you? A.—Yes, I was there practically every day in the summer of 1932.

Q.—How about 15 E. 61st street, isn't that another speakeasy you liked? A.—That's Moriarity's; I went there a lot.

Went with Mr. White.

Q.—With this man White? A.—Yes, with Mr. White.

Q.—You called him Bob White, didn't you—bob white, like the bird? A.—There's nothing very birdlike about him.

Q.—How late would you stay in these two places? —Sometimes to 3 or 4 a. m. at No. 21—no, that was at Moriarity's. I don't want to get my speakeasies mixed up. At No. 21 I never stayed later than 12:30 or 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Jelke revealed that she had "ducked" Newport parties because they bored her.

Q.—Do you remember an occasion when you were invited to luncheon at Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's home? A.—Yes.

Q.—You told your husband you had a date with the hairdresser and could not go? A.—Yes, I needed a permanent wave.

Shuns Vanderbilt Ball.

Q.—Was there an incident in connection with the Vanderbilt ball at Oakland farm? A.—Yes, I didn't want to go and Frazier didn't either. I said I'd give $25 not to go, we'd have to plough through the mud and wet fields. I didn't go, but Frazier went and bought a $40 pig.

Q.—You feel sort of languid about Newport? A.—I do.

Q.—You didn't like Eagle's nest? A.—No.

Q.—Do you like to read good books? A.—Yes.

Q.—Tell us some you've read lately. A.—I haven't read many lately; my eyes are bad.

Q.—Name just one. A.—The memoirs of some chevalier, I read that.

"Somebody in France."

Q.—Who was the chevalier? A.—I don't know, somebody in France.

Q.—You said yesterday you thought one time you were going to become a mother? A.—I thought so. I wanted a baby. Frazier wanted one, one minute and the next he didn't.

Q.—Do you remember telling Mrs. Bart Jelke that you never wanted a child unless you were in love with the father? A.—I did not.

Q.—Do you recall stating to your husband that you thought you had been gypped when you married him? A.—No, I didn't complain, but I did disagree with him on that score.

Q.—How did you disagree? A.—Must I come right out and say it? Mrs. Jelke's counsel objected to a public explanation.

Proposed Settlement.

Mrs. Jelke revealed that she had proposed a settlement with her husband, on the basis of $25,000 to $30,000 a year income for herself.

Q.—Do you remember talking with Luke Doyle and your saying that you wanted your marital difficulties settled in a civilized manner, that being a divorce, you to get $25,000 to $30,000 a year? A.—Yes. I saw no reason why he should throw me out and get away with it.

18 CITY TRUCK CREWS ABANDON OUTLAW STRIKE

Sluggers Threaten Others Trying to Return.

The first break occurred yesterday in the ranks of the 70C city truck drivers and helpers who walked out last Monday at command of John Sheridan Sr., boss of the outlaw Chicago Teamsters' union.

With the Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt issuing charges of disobedience, neglect of duty and conspiracy to thwart the administration against 275 strikers who are under civil service, the crews of eighteen trucks rebelled against Sheridan's domination and returned to work.

In the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards the strike-rebellious crews remained at work throughout the day, three crews to a ward. Two crews did likewise in the Thirteenth ward and one in the Fifteenth, but in the Eighteenth ward three other crews who sought to work were intimidated into going back on strike by two carloads of union sluggers.

Says Fear Keeps 90 Per Cent Out.

A police car was ordered out to catch the sluggers, but failed to overtake them. Mayor Kelly, who has placed an official ban on Sheridan's and other outlaw unions dominated by gangsters, ordered that full police protection be arranged for any of the strikers who wish to return to work today.

Ninety per cent of the striking men are idle only through dread of Sheridan and his gangster backers, William [Klondike] O'Donnell and Willie [Three Fingered Jack] White, according to Joseph J. Butler, superintendent of streets.

In the water pipe extension bureau, the Sheridan union has conceded the city the services of one emergency crew to haul chlorine to the city pumping station and of three crews for emergency repairs of bursting water mains, according to bureau officials. But with all other crews of the bureau out, some 2,000 nonstriking workmen on water extension projects are lying idle because, due to the strike, there is no materials at hand.

Laundries Pay Thousands in Tribute.

That racket ridden business men have paid extortion sooner than pay their taxes was established yesterday when the proprietors of two big laundries told their plight to State's Attorney Courtney.

"One of the pair said he had thirty-nine trucks in service and had paid $3,360 tribute to the Chicago Laundry Owners' association in the past year," Mr. Courtney said. "The second said he had paid $1,500. When I asked if they had paid their real estate taxes, both said no."

Mr. Courtney also had a talk yesterday with Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli, new dictator of the cleaning and dyeing industry, reputedly even more racket infested than the laundry industry.

Squires Before U. S. Grand Jury.

Judge Borrelli's predecessor as dictator of the cleaners, Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, spent all day before the federal grand jury. The federal grand jury is expected to be held over at the end of the current month and continue its racket investigation, perhaps for several months.

James P. Gorman, president of the Retail Tailors' union, and George L. Bendel, secretary of the Laundry and Dyehouse Drivers' union, also were questioned.

12,000 WOMEN TO SELL POPPIES FOR VETERANS TODAY

Scarlet poppies, reminiscent of Flanders field, will be on sale today throughout the city. Those who buy and wear them will help to show that Chicago has not forgotten the men who fought for their country, thousands of whom are maimed and ill in veterans' hospitals.

The annual poppy day is sponsored by the Veterans' Poppy Day association, composed of all recognized veterans' organizations in the city. This is the first time in the history of Chicago that all veterans' groups have united in one tag day in which to raise funds for the disabled and their dependents.

More than 12,000 women volunteers will sell the poppies and request the buyer to place their contributions in special containers. These will all be officially collected and counted and the money distributed among the member organizations with the exception of the G. A. R., which preferred not to share in the receipts.

The other veterans' organizations composing the association are the United Spanish War Veterans, American Legion, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

C. F. Fauntz, president of the Veterans' Poppy Day association, pointed out that demands for funds this year are greater than ever before.

DIES SUDDENLY AT WORK.

SOCIETY MATRON WITNESS IN SUIT OVER SLANDER

Fencing Master Demands $25,000 Damages.

The suit of Edmond J. Clermont, fencing master to the Gold coast, who asks $25,000 damages from William C. Hollister, former president of the Champlain Law Printing company, for alleged slanderous remarks made in 1926, went to trial before a jury yesterday in the court of Circuit Judge George Fred Rush.

In the declaration of his suit, Clermont charged Hollister's assertion that he was "not a fit person" to conduct the fencing studio had caused him to lose many society pupils who enabled him to earn from $10,000 to $15,000 a year.

Mrs. Folsom on Stand.

The first witness called for the plaintiff was Mrs. Richard S. Folsom, 61 Bellevue place, society matron and wife of the corporation counsel under a former Republican mayor. Mrs. Folsom, who stated that she has been Clermont's pupil for several years, is the only woman member of the central Olympic committee of the American Athletic union. She also has been active in the Illinois Women's Athletic club.

"A man who represented himself to me as a Mr. Harrington telephoned my home late in the winter of 1926," said Mrs. Folsom. "He attempted to warn me against Mr. Clermont, who was a fencing instructor at the Illinois Women's Athletic club as well as the operator of his own academy.

Refuses to Listen.

"This person attempted to tell me something about Mr. Clermont's character, but I refused to listen over the telephone. Then he made an appointment to meet me in the Hamilton club. There I learned, when I met him, that he was Mr. Hollister.

"He told me he had arranged a course of fencing with Clermont for his niece, Lucille La Brie, then a student at the University of California. When the girl went to the studio, according to Hollister, she was told that she should return to his home in the evening for the lessons. The girl told him of this, Hollister said, and he asked the Committee of Fifteen to investigate.

"Mr. Hollister told me that the report of the committee indicated Clermont was not a fit person to associate with," said the witness.

Plans to Call Pupils.

When trial started Attorney Edward F. Healy, counsel for Clermont, announced he would subpoena into court a number of his client's former pupils as witnesses. Among them will be, the attorney said, Mrs. Noble Brandon Judah, wife of the former ambassador to Cuba; Leander McCormick, and Mrs. George B. Holmes.

As the case was started, Clermont, a well dressed man of athletic build, was called to the witness stand by his attorney. Clermont said that as a result of Hollister's remarks he not only was forced to close his own studio at 112 East Oak street, but he also lost his post as fencing instructor at the Lake Shore Athletic club, the Illinois Women's club, and the Racket club. Clermont now is conducting the Franco-American Academy of Fencing at 4454 Drexel avenue.

WOMAN SEEKS DELAY IN $500,000 GRAHAM SUIT

Counsel for Mrs. Alma Newton Anderson yesterday asked Superior Judge Harry B. Miller to continue for three weeks the hearing of her $500,000 libel suit against Ernest R. Graham, architect.

Attorney Charlotte Slavitt told the court that Harry Dougherty, a private detective and an important witness in Mrs. Anderson's case, is in New York City and will be unable to appear in court here until in June.

Attorney Slavitt said that Dougherty would produce letters in which Mrs. Anderson was named, allegedly written to him by Thomas McGuire, another detective, who is a co-defendant with Graham in the suit. Judge Miller told the lawyer to produce an affidavit stating her reasons for seeking the continuance and present it to him today.

SEIZE FUGITIVE FROM ASYLUM IN CHILD SLAYING

Arrested Near Place Body Was Found.

James Ryan, 59 years old, who says he escaped from the insane asylum at Elgin in 1923, was arrested by Gary police last night for questioning in the murder of Mary Carolyn James, 2 years old, of 738 Kentucky street, Gary. The child was found dead Tuesday afternoon in a swamp a half mile from her home. It was believed at first that she had been drowned, but medical examination by Deputy Coroner J. Robert Doty showed she had been fatally beaten.

Ryan was found in an abandoned box car on a siding near where Mary's body was found. When Detectives George Harm and Herbert McConnachie seized him, he asked: "What's it about, the little girl?"

Stoutly Asserts He's Innocent.

He stoutly maintained his innocence of the crime during two hours of questioning. Ryan said that he escaped from an asylum on Long Island, N. Y., in 1911, and the Elgin institution twelve years later. He had been sent to the latter hospital from Rockford. He said he had worked only two years in his life.

It is police belief that Mary was slain by a moron. He killed her when she cried, it is thought. The child was not attacked.

Mother Sees Her Leave.

Mrs. James said she had last seen the child descend from the porch where she had been playing with other girls and walk down the street. The street ends five blocks away from the James' home where the sand dunes begin.

The dead girl had two brothers, Fulton, 12 years old, and Arthur, 8 years old, and two sisters, Ruth, 14 years old, and Susanne, 5 years old.

PHILADELPHIA STRUCK BY 70 MILE WIND, HAIL; THREE KILLED

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—(AP)—Riding a 70 mile gale out of the northwest, the worst electrical storm in years hit the Philadelphia area late today, caused three deaths, seriously injured several other persons and demoralized the entire city.

Lightning hit so many places there were not enough firemen to answer all the calls.

Traffic over the city was brought to a standstill, and the electric system failed to function for six minutes. Hailstones smashed thousands of windows.

The lightning hit Shibe park, home playing field of the Athletics, and set fire to a stand. The fire was quickly extinguished.

The roofs of several school buildings were ripped away. Highways near Philadelphia were a tangle of fallen trees and electric poles. Some suburban towns were in darkness for hours.

JANITOR SLAYS BUSINESS HEAD OF NEWSPAPER

Los Angeles, Cal., May 24.—[Special]—E. Gail Patterson, 55, assistant publisher and business manager of the Los Angeles Illustrated Daily News, was shot and killed today by Ed Davis, discharged janitor, at the newspaper plant. Patterson intervened in an attempt to save the life of J. W. McGuire, purchasing agent of the newspaper, whom Davis was attacking.

Patterson was shot through the heart and died instantly. McGuire, who is 50 years of age, was shot twice by Davis. He was taken to police emergency hospital, where it was said he has an even chance to recover.

POLICE CAPTURE FOUR ROBBERS IN STREET BATTLE

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Four youthful bandits, members of the 42 gang on the west side, were captured by three policemen of the West North avenue station late yesterday afternoon as they fled from a robbery of the plant of the Fargo-Hallowell company, shoe manufacturers, at 1731 North Damen avenue.

During a chase of several blocks the police fired a dozen shots at the robbers and the latter fired back at their pursuers. The youths surrendered at Cortland street, three blocks north of the shoe concern. They are Frank Buccaso, 915 South Winchester avenue; John Fricano, 1516 Taylor street; Albert Pontrelli, 1106 Taylor street, and Samuel Mantone, 806 Garibaldi place. All are between 18 and 22 years old.

Three of the bandits entered the offices of the Fargo-Hallowell concern, leaving Buccaso in a car outside. They terrorized John E. Hallowell and Edward A. Fargo Jr., partners in the company, and several employés and demanded pay roll money that had been delivered a short time before. Failing to get it they took $16 from a girl employé, Lydia Kalke, and fled. They were seen getting into the car by the policemen, Burton McInerney, Edward Rumney, and S. Kula, who immediately started pursuit.

Cuts 100 Years Off 110 Year Sentence, as Convict Asks

Atlanta, Ga., May 24.—(AP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge today cut 100 years off the 110 years' prison sentence imposed on Leland Harvey, notorious convict and "escape" artist. It was Harvey's own proposition. He told the governor that if his sentence were ten years he would serve it out without trying to escape. Harvey had made nine escapes since 1924.

DOUGLAS TO GET RESERVE BOARD POST IN CHICAGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—James H. Douglas, assistant secretary of the treasury, will soon be appointed to the federal board to represent the Chicago federal reserve area, it was learned today. The announcement was said to be imminent.

Mr. Douglas, who practiced law and investment banking in Chicago before joining the treasury staff last year, will be the only Republican on the reserve board and the second member to be chosen by President Roosevelt.

Although he is considered generally acceptable, Mr. Douglas is understood to owe his selection largely to his close friend, Melvin A. Traylor, who is understood to have urged the appointment during a call at the White House a week ago. Other Chicago bankers who have been in Washington recently, including C. R. McKaye, deputy governor of the Chicago reserve bank, and a delegation from the Continental Illinois, are understood to have seconded the nomination.

Through his work as assistant secretary during the banking crisis Mr. Douglas won the support of Secretary Woodin and other administration leaders. The fact that he is a Republican has not stood in his way because the board is a bipartisan body and does not now have a Republican member.

ECONOMIC ISSUE INDIANA REPEAL CAMPAIGN TOPIC

Political Clerics Find Flocks Unresponsive.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., May 24.—[Special.]—In the rural regions of Indiana the economic aspects of repeal are being stressed among the farmers in the campaign to elect repealist delegates June 6 to the convention June 26 for ratification of the 21st amendment, repealing the 18th. Delegates, 329 in all, are to be elected by counties, and both repealists and drys are concentrating on the agricultural sections, which in years past were bulwarks of the Anti-Saloon league when it held Indiana under dry dictatorship.

The dry campaign is being made principally by the preachers, many of whom are complaining that their flocks are not following the pulpiteering.

Dry Strongholds Slipping.

In general it is regarded as a battle by political ecclesiastics, and even in some of the former dry strongholds the congregations have been for several years inclining against prohibition as a failure in morals, ethics, and social conduct.

Now the campaign is based largely on the economic question, on the theory that the case has been made and the argument finished on the other aspects. In dry farming counties, as elsewhere in the state, the repealists in their literature are throwing emphasis on taxes, cost of government, and prosperity.

The literature says: "A vote for ratification is a vote for temperance, for prosperity, for lower taxes, for better and cleaner government, a vote to give the states their rights, and a vote against crime and racketeering."

Fear Gerrymander Result.

Some of the repealists are apprehensive over the results due to the machinery for the election of delegates by counties. They point out that the drys are making a desparate campaign especially in the old dry sections, that they have batteries of speakers out all over the state, and that all drys will vote.

While believing that a large majority of repeal delegates will be elected, they still say that if a small vote is cast outside the wet industrial cities it might be possible for Indiana to go wet four to one in popular vote and still come within a narrow margin of getting ratification through the convention. This is the extreme view, but it is leading to a concerted shout among repealists for the liberals to get busy and get out the vote.

As one travels through the state, a stock remark heard at the filling stations is that beer proved a great disappointment to the drys. They had been shouting that the return of beer would mean a wild orgy and the return of the old style saloon, and they were all set to use this as the great campaign argument against repeal of the 18th amendment. Affairs did not work out according to the dry prospectus.

Beer Encourages Sobriety.

Beer has reduced the consumption of moonshine. The advent of legal malt appears to have been followed by a reduction in inebriety. In the cities, as in Chicago, people seem to look more contented, in the knowledge that they can now quench a thirst with legal malt without getting into the felon class.

The McNutt administration put through a beer bill aimed to nip any return of what might look like an old fashioned saloon, and Indiana is consuming its beer quietly and temperately, the main kicking being that it has to be bought in bottles and draft beer is not allowed.

At Lebanon the other day the sheriff of Boone county reported to repeal headquarters that he has nobody in jail, where before he generally had five or six drunks in the cage of a Sunday morning.

Many Names on Petitions.

In getting signatures for the delegate petitions for the June 6 election, the repealists in most of the counties got a plethora of names, although in some of the old dry counties many liberals declined to sign up, saying they feared being made the target of pulpit attack.

In Indianapolis 61,000 signatures were on the petition; in Evansville 15,000, while the drys got 2,500; in La Fayette 9,000 signatures were obtained by the repealists in the last day, in Terre Haute the repealist petitions got 25,000 signatures while the drys had a scant 2,300.

In some towns the chamber of commerce and the business men are running the repealist campaign. In Terre Haute, which before prohibition used to rate second city in the United States in the payment of internal revenue to the government, Peoria standing first, the repealist campaign is being managed by Morton Hayman of the chamber of commerce.

Throughout the state both political parties, which adopted dripping wet planks last June, have sought to keep the delegate election out of partisan politics. There are joint slates for repeal delegates, and the campaign is in the hands of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Only Danger Overconfidence.

The only danger is in overconfidence, according to William Stokes, who is managing the repealist campaign. From now until June 6 the drive will be to make sure that the voters turn out. In most counties the political party organizations will swing in with their workers to bring out the electorate. The drys, it is conceded, will control in some of the rural counties, and what the repealists are working for is a vote of landslide proportions, if possible.

ROOSEVELT'S HOME STATE GIVES REPEAL TOWERING MAJORITY

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—By a wet victory far more sweeping than that won in any of the five states that had voted on the question President Roosevelt's home state has taken its stand at the head of the column of commonwealths pledged to ratify the resolution of congress for repeal of the 18th amendment.

This was in spite of the fact that belated returns from upstate showed the drys to have won victories in Tuesday's special election in six counties, while in some other counties the vote was close.

All the 150 repeal candidates, however, were elected by a towering majority and not a single dry will occupy a seat at the state convention to be held at Albany on June 27 to take formal action on the repeal resolution.

The aggregate vote up state, with 126 election districts out of 5,043 outside of the city still to be heard from, was: For repeal, 837,959; against repeal, 202,044. The same ratio carried out for the remaining districts would give 858,000 for repeal and 207,000 against in the upstate districts. Of the total vote and of the vote cast for repeal this city furnished a vast majority.

A total of 1,072,574 voters turned out in the five boroughs of New York, as compared with 1,020,064 who cast their votes for President at the general election last year. The vote within the city was: For repeal, 1,047,068; against repeal, 25,506. In 359, or almost one-tenth of the 3,794 election districts in the city, not a vote for the dry candidate was recorded.

The total city and upstate vote so far counted was 1,885,027 for repeal, and 227,550 against.

6 States Recorded and 25 Schedule Elections.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—With six states already out for repeal and the Roosevelt administration putting strong pressure behind the movement, eradication of the 18th amendment before the end of the year was seen by wet interests here today.

Twenty-five states, in addition to the six which have gone overwhelmingly into the wet column, have scheduled elections before the year is out and six more are expected to vote. If they all should ratify the repeal amendment, it would carry before 1934 by a margin of two.

Six of the states yet to vote are in the dry south, but Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, jubilant over the overwhelmingly decisive victory in New York, predicted that "when the predominantly Democratic states of the south have the chance to vote, they will be found in line with prevailing sentiment of the country upon this important question."

Party Workers Aroused.

Shouse and other wets are basing their hopes for speedy repeal largely on two steps taken by the President and Postmaster General James A. Farley during the last week. Farley has ordered his party workers throughout the country to work for repeal, throwing the whole weight of the Democratic machine behind it. Mr. Farley said today he would send instructions into states as quickly as days of voting approach.

At the suggestion of the President's director of the budget, Lewis W. Douglas, congress has given the President power to wipe out all tax increases now being contemplated as soon as repeal is through and liquor taxes, which brought in 365 million dollars in the last year before prohibition, start pouring into the treasury again. Shouse, in his appeal, laid particular stress on how repeal would avoid "additional oppressive taxes."

Wets generally were cheered by the large New York election repeal majority. They declared that it was beyond their expectations.

"It was conceded practically everywhere that New York would give a decisive majority for repeal," Shouse said, "but not even the most ardent repeal advocates anticipated the overwhelming vote by which the Empire state went on record."

All of the six states out for repeal have given the twenty-first amendment a large majority. The six states and the votes are: New York, 1,724,000 to 154,000 [partial returns]; Wyoming, solid for repeal at county conventions; New Jersey, 414,958 to 62,967; Rhode Island, 150,244 to 20,874; Wisconsin, 648,031 to 141,518; Michigan, 850,546 to 287,931.

The state convention in Wyoming meets tomorrow to put the final repeal stamp on that state's action. In New Jersey the convention does not meet until June, and in New York the date is June 27. The other three have met.

Delaware and Nevada will be the next states to vote, both going to the polls next Saturday. Illinois will pass on the question on June 5.

Other Elections This Year.

Other states which have elections set for this year and the dates of their occurrence are:

Indiana, June 6; Massachusetts, June 13; Connecticut, June 20; Iowa, June 20; New Hampshire, June 20; California, June 27; West Virginia, June 27; Alabama, July 18; Arkansas, July 18; Tennessee, July 20; Oregon, July 21; Washington, Aug. 29; Vermont, Sept. 5; Maine, Sept. 11; Maryland, Sept. 12; Minnesota, Sept. 12; New Mexico, Sept. 19; Ohio, Nov. 7; Pennsylvania, Nov. 7; South Carolina, Nov. 7; North Carolina, Nov. 7; Texas, Aug. 26.

Both Nebraska and South Dakota will vote on Nov. 6, 1934, and in Virginia, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Mississippi action is impossible until the legislatures meet next year.

Repeal leaders expect six other states—Arizona, Florida, Idaho, Missouri, Montana, and Utah—to set elections some time before the end of the year. In Colorado the governor vetoed the bill for an election, and in Georgia, Kansas, and North Dakota the legislatures adjourned without taking action.

FARLEY SEES HEAVY INCOME TAX UNLESS DRY REPEAL IS VOTED

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley said today that unless the Eighteenth amendment is repealed every income taxpayer in the country, after deducting legal exemptions, will have to contribute $6 to $10 out of every $100 he earns this year to the government.

The postmaster general disclosed last night that the full weight of the administration was to be placed behind the repeal movement.

Discussing this today, he pointed out that the public works-industrial control bill increases income taxes from 4 per cent to 6 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income and from 8 per cent to 10 per cent on all above that amount.

Farley added that the increases would affect from 4,000,000 to 6,900,000 taxpayers this year.

GERMAN PLAN TO REGAIN CORRIDOR STIRS LITHUANIA

Agitation Grows for Union of Baltic States.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, May 24.—The recent despatch from London to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, revealing Germany's plan to rearrange the map of northeastern Europe has been suppressed in Lithuania. The press has not been permitted to print a line of it.

The despatch revealed that one of the main purposes of the visit to London of Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Chancellor Hitler's personal adviser on foreign affairs, was to lay this plan before the British government.

Under the German plan Lithuania and Poland would unite either as a federated nation or as a customs union, with Memel as its chief port, the Polish corridor would be returned to Germany, and Germany would cede a slice of East Prussia to the new Lithuanian-Polish combination.

News of the Nazi scheme, however, has penetrated the strong Lithuanian censorship through other Baltic newspapers which printed THE TRIBUNE'S story.

Expected to Reject Plan.

Official comment is being withheld, but the government is expected to denounce the project and to reaffirm Lithuania's hostility to Poland until the disputed Vilna district, which Poland seized from Lithuania in 1920, is returned.

Lithuania today is said by diplomats to be in an isolated position, completely alienated from its neighbors Latvia and Estonia. Opposition parties place the blame for this isolation upon the Lithuanian foreign minister, D. Zaunius, who, they say, has refused to take the alleged German Nazi threat seriously. Zaunius recently rejected a proposal by Latvia and Estonia to form a Baltic union to protect their interests against German ambitions. It is quite possible that the situation may result in the resignation of Zaunius.

Agitate For Baltic Union.

The opposition is agitating for restoration of diplomatic relations with Poland and for forming a Baltic union which would include Poland.

The prestige of President Anthony Smetona's dictatorship was further weakened by the result of yesterday's municipal elections in Memel, where a camouflaged Nazi party under the name of the Christian Socialists obtained more than 9,000 votes out of a total of 19,000 cast. The elections again clearly showed the German character of Memel, which was taken from Germany by the Versailles treaty and later turned over to Lithuania.

Returns from the elections show that the Nazis elected 18 aldermen, the German Nationalists 6, the Socialists 1, the communists 3, and the Lithuanians 6.

Poles Reject Scheme.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, May 24.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S despatch on the German plan to alter the map of northeastern Europe was prominently displayed in every Polish paper. The entire Polish press rejects the project, declaring that Lithuania should now see the true aim of Berlin's policies and open relations with Poland, which would pave the way to the formation of a union of Baltic states to cooperate against the "German menace to peace."

Closely following the negotiations for the formation of a European four power pact among France, Great Britain, Germany, and Italy, which Poland believes is directed partly against itself, the Rosenberg sensation has served to sharpen feelings against Germany, which is accused here of manufacturing forbidden war materials for the conquest of the Polish corridor.

Sees Move Against Russia.

The official newspaper, Gazetta Polska, alleges that Germany is trying to get the decks cleared for a war against Russia. This paper says the four power pact may be regarded as a bloc of capitalistic states directed against bolshevism. Poland maintains its standpat position against any revision of the Versailles treaty and any change in the status quo of the corridor means war, it was said.

Poland's policy, as expressed by Foreign Minister Josef Beck, refuses to admit there is a corridor. This territory is considered as an integral part of Poland which must be retained.

"Poland's greatest mistake in past centuries was that she faced east instead of west," a high foreign office official said. "While facing east we were knifed in the back. Today we face west and consider our western frontiers inviolable. The so-called corridor for Germany is a question of prestige. For Poland it is a question of national existence. We will fight before we surrender this territory."

NAMED SENATOR

Lincoln, Neb., May 24.—[Special.]—William H. Thompson, Grand Island was appointed United States senator from Nebraska today by Gov. Charles W. Byran to fill the vacancy caused by the death of R. B. Howell of Omaha.

Mr. Thompson is 79 years old and a long time friend of the governor and his late brother, William Jennings Bryan.

It was the third time Gov. Bryan appointed Thompson to an official position. In 1924, he named Thompson to the state Supreme court. Thompson later was elected, but retired in January, 1931, after administering the oath of office to Gov. Bryan. Soon afterwards Gov. Bryan appointed him to the state normal board, but he later resigned.

Mr. Thompson has also served on the commission which has been in charge of the construction of the new $10,000,000 Nebraska capitol.

GERMAN FAILS TO SALUTE HITLER'S ANTHEM; JAILED

Police Rescue Bank Clerk from Furious Mob.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 24.—Failure to lift the hand in salute when the Hitlerite anthem, the Horstwessel song, is played will henceforth be punishable by a prison sentence in Germany.

Otto Maier, a bank clerk of Karlsruhe, refused to raise his hand today when a crowd was singing the Horstwessel song. Police arrested him to protect him from the furious mob. He was sentenced to seven days' imprisonment. This was later cut to two days. The judge criticized Maier for failure to realize that the "Hitler salute had become the symbol of the whole nation."

War Veteran Sentenced.

Maj. Kleinschmidt of the Steel Helmet war veteran organization, was sentenced to four months in prison by a court at Halle today. A storm troop lieutenant testified that Kleinschmidt, under the spell of much beer, had said he "fought for 14 years against the Red murderers and would continue to fight, if necessary, against the murderers in brown outfits." The Deutsche Zeitung points out that all other witnesses denied the charge.

Many Berlin papers are protesting against a new anti-Jewish movement begun by Dr. Walter Ruppin, commissar of the official organization of doctors in Berlin and the surrounding provinces. Dr. Ruppin demands the exclusion of Jewish doctors, charging that they are the "incarnation of lies and deceit."

"Jews should not be given opportunity to spread the poison of Jewish thinking from a doctor's position of confidence," Dr. Ruppin said.

Protestants Snub Nazis.

German Protestantism today named the Rev. Freidrich von Bodelschwingh as evangelical bishop of the reich. He is the head of Bethel, a social settlement similar to Hull house in Chicago, located in Westphalia.

In choosing Herr von Bodelschwingh, the Protestants turned down the Nazi choice, the Rev. Ludwig Mueller.

BEG YOUR PARDON

At the Cellophane ball to be held in the Drake hotel on Wednesday, May 31, dinner will be served to the Queen of A Century of Progress and her court in the ballroom and not in the main dining room as stated in yesterday's editions. Tables for the court will extend across one end of the ballroom.

An item in the Monday editions of THE TRIBUNE incorrectly stated that a student assembly and open house would be held this Friday for Hiram B. Loomis, retiring principal of Hyde Park High school. The events were held last week.

BRITISH UNIONS VOTE BOYCOTT OF GERMAN GOODS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—A boycott of all German goods and services in Great Britain as a protest against the Nazi policy toward trade union, Socialist and coöperative organizations in Germany was decided upon today by the general council of the trades union congress.

The council unanimously endorsed such a recommendation from the national joint council, which represents the whole Socialist and trade union movement in Great Britain.

The boycott declaration is being sent to all affiliated organizations, which have an aggregate membership of 4,000,000. The coöperative movement is likely to apply the boycott to its wholesale and retail business, which has 6,000,000 regular customers.

HANGS SELF; BLAME INSANITY.

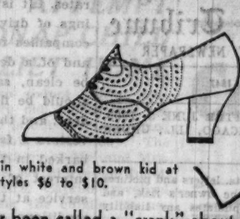
A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday at the inquest into the death of John Stasnik, 56 years old, 1455 Cornell street, who hung himself in a cell of the Chicago avenue police station on Tuesday.



This model in white and brown kid at $7. Other styles $6 to $10.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1. Cut taxes in half.
2. Pay the defaulted bonds.
3. Overcome crime.
4. Speed up railroad passenger service.
5. Make Chicago the first city in the world.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

HIGHER TAXES MEAN MORE DEFLATION.

The ways and means committee of the house has recommended a sharp increase in the income tax rates. On taxable incomes of $4,000 and less, which now pay at the rate of 4 per cent, the rate is to be advanced to 6 per cent and above $4,000 the normal rate is to be advanced from 8 to 10 per cent. In addition, incomes derived from stock dividends are to be taxed like any other income even though a tax on corporation earnings has already been collected at the source.

These changes in income taxation are expected to yield in all an additional 129 million dollars and together with the increase in the federal gasoline tax will produce, if the treasury's estimates are correct, a little more than 220 million dollars a year. That is the sum which is said to be required for the service of the bonds to be floated for the administration's public works program.

It is all engagingly simple and it all assumes that the nation can and will take these huge additional levies in its stride. We are a nation of more than 120 million people and the imposition of an additional income tax burden of, say, a dollar a person seems little enough in all conscience. It is no doubt with some such simple arithmetical computation that the members of the ways and means committee convinced themselves that the new taxes would do no harm.

What they overlooked, and what many theorists habitually overlook, is that the income taxes do not come from all the people but from something like 3 or 4 per cent of the people; and these few taxpayers are precisely those upon whom the business initiative of the country as well as its tax collections depend. The income tax payers are peculiarly the people whose activity makes the nation prosperous; and, of course, they are the people whose money finds its way into investment in productive industry of all sorts. It is the venturing of surplus income, whether in large amounts or small, which provides employment in the industries engaged in providing the nation with its capital equipment. Building mechanics, machine builders, men in the steel mills and the lumber camps and sawmills and countless others all owe their livelihood to the investment of surplus income for productive purposes.

When the surplus income, or even a substantial portion of it, is diverted from investment into government hands and spent on the foolish and unproductive public works that the corruption of politics inevitably selects, like, say, the palace of the department of commerce in Washington, a few thousand jobs are provided temporarily, but there the benefits end. The money available for productive use is no longer in the hands of those who can put it to work. The result is the downward movement in prices which we have come to call deflation. All values decline, employment falls off, and the buyer is in a position to tell the seller what he must take for his services or his wares. That is what has been going on now for four years with a few brief interruptions.

At present business has taken a spurt, not because there has been an actual inflation of the currency but because of the fear or expectation of such an inflation. All that has been gained may be lost if the proposed taxes are imposed, because the deflationary effect of the higher taxes may be expected to negative whatever inflation is actually realized. The higher taxes, if approved, hold out only the promise of further inflations to compensate for the damage they will work. The end of that process can only be the complete devaluation of the dollar. We shall end by being obliged to do business by barter, for money will be valueless and therefore useless as a measure of exchange.

A dozen brain trusts and as many economic conferences cannot prevent disaster if the productive wealth of the country is seized by the tax gatherers and dissipated in unproductive public works.

TAXI FARES.

It would be a contribution to the success of the Exposition if the short haul rates for taxis were substantially reduced. We think it would also pay the taxi companies. Apparently this opinion is not shared by the Yellow and Checker companies' management, and they should be better advised on that question than outsiders. However, the question is not to be answered by reference alone to the money interests of taxi companies. The Yellow and Checker companies enjoy a virtual monopoly through the actual operation of the licensing power and the general interest of the public in moderate fares must be taken into consideration. Regulation should be governed by considerations of justice to both the companies and the public. The companies should be permitted to charge rates which will permit them to compensate their labor adequately, to provide an adequate reserve for compensation for accidents, to provide safe and comfortable vehicles, and to pay a fair return upon a proper capitalization. It is to the interest of the public as well as the companies that these conditions be respected in fixing rates. It is to the public interest that the earnings of drivers should be such as to enable the companies to procure drivers who are competent and of a dependable character; that cabs should be clean, safe and comfortable; that companies should be financially responsible in case of accident; and that they should earn enough to pay investors a fair return on the capital actually embarked in the enterprise. But it is also in the interest of the public that it should have this service at the lowest rate compatible with these conditions, and this, we think, is especially desirable during the Fair, when the city is to be host to hundreds of thousands of visitors. Perhaps reductions would be possible in these temporary circumstances, when traffic will be abnormal, which should be reconsidered when they have ended. That need not be considered now. What the council should do at once is to consider the propriety of an immediate reduction on the basis of the considerations we have named. Visitors coming from cities where taxi fares are much lower will resent Chicago rates and unfriendly outside critics already are spreading the story that the taxi companies are putting up the fares to exploit strangers. This is not true, but it emphasizes the fact that a proper reduction of fares in view of increased traffic would be advantageous to the Fair and the city, and should be accomplished if it can be justly to all concerned. There should be consideration given also to the present restrictions upon competition. If they, as charged, shut out competitors who can and will fulfill the required conditions above named, they should be corrected. We do not know that they do, but the charge should be fairly examined. The public has a right to the best service it can have on proper terms.

OBSTRUCTING ECONOMY IN ELECTIONS.

A sensible effort to save the money and time of the public now spent in elections is being made in the legislature. It takes the form of measures for the consolidation of local elections and for the adoption of the permanent registration plan now successfully in operation in many other states. The enactment of the consolidation bills will save something like a million dollars annually. The permanent registration plan it is estimated will save half a million. These sums do not include the saving in time to voters.

These improvements are being resisted in some quarters because frequent elections and registrations compel the more frequent hiring of poll officials and quarters. Peanut politics cherishes this patronage graft. The governor and the responsible elements of the assembly should brush aside its obstructions and see to it that the public interest is respected. Mayor Kelly has publicly stated that he is 100 per cent for consolidation; President Whealan and Commissioners Ryan and Kavanagh also favor it. Chairman Adamowski of the house judiciary committee and Representative Schnackenberg, Republican floor leader, have promised their support to the proponent, Representative Rennick of Buda, Bureau county. We do not doubt responsible newspapers and citizens throughout the state favor the reform. Petty politics, ignoring the demands for economy, should not be permitted to defeat it.

The permanent registration bill, which also will save the citizens time and money, has already passed the house, but now has fallen into unfriendly hands in the senate. It should be promptly rescued. These savings are needed and parasitic politics should not be allowed to cheat the people of them. The fate of the measures will be watched and responsibility for their obstruction will be fixed.

POPPY DAY.

Today the people of Chicago have the opportunity and the privilege of contributing to the care of men who fought for their country in the wars of our time. All the veterans' associations have united for the first time for one tag day, thus showing consideration of the public and respect for the policy of reducing tag days and limiting their number to the use of recognized groups of deserving institutions.

The Veterans' Poppy Day Association of Chicago was organized to conduct and control one tag day for the care of all deserving veterans. Its constituent bodies are the American Legion, the Disabled Veterans of the World War, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the United Spanish War Veterans, and the Grand Army of the Republic. The G. A. R., while it joined the association as an indication of its approval, voluntarily relinquished any share in the proceeds, which will be distributed at an agreed ratio to the other associations. All of these organizations are indorsed by the city council and the Association of Commerce, to which, through a certified audit, total collections, expenses and distribution of funds are reported. The citizens may feel assured, therefore, that their contributions will be faithfully administered and will reach the men who deserve their gratitude and aid. There is no class of our fellow citizens more deserving of public liberality, and THE TRIBUNE hopes the tag day will be a great success.

Editorial of the Day

THE "NEW RUHR."
[Detroit Free Press.]

The "new Ruhr of America" is the way enthusiasts hail the proposed development of the Tennessee river basin. Just what do they mean by the phrase? The answer is a bit awesome. They picture the river and its tributaries developing more than 3,600,000 electric horsepower to operate industrial and farming enterprises, and supply power and fuel for domestic purposes. They speak of 66 billion tons of coal lying in nearby Alabama beds, just a short distance from a billion and a half tons of iron ore. They point out that copper, lime, zinc, phosphate rock, marble, manganese, asphalt, bauxite, kaolin, ceramic clay and building stone are found in the adjoining Tennessee hills.

They mean that the development plan set under way by the Roosevelt administration contemplates the expenditure of $600,000,000 in addition to the $150,000,000 already put into the Muscle Shoals project. This is more than the Panama canal cost, and more than the St. Lawrence seaway project would entail. They mean that the government has decided not merely to improve a river or prevent floods, as it did in Ohio, or establish and promote navigation, as it did on the Mississippi, or open a new artery of transportation, as the St. Lawrence plan contemplates, but to create a new industrial district by furnishing a steady supply of power to operate steel mills, foundries, glass works, potteries, nitrate plants, cement mills, quarries, and hundreds of other enterprises that will move in.

They mean that the productive capacity of America's industrial establishment, already overexpanded, is to be tremendously increased; that what happened to New England's cotton mills may happen, to a degree, to Pittsburgh's steel mills, Cleveland's foundries, Toledo's glass works, great lakes ore carriers, Vermont's quarries, and Pennsylvania's aluminum manufactories. The entire north and east must prepare to face new competition. Development of the Tennessee will be a tremendously important thing for the south; it may well be—in a grimmer sense—a tremendously important thing for the north, too.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

OH, NOW, that explains everything! Referring, of course, to John Pierpont Morgan's startling statement to the senate committee that he did not pay any income tax in 1930, 1931, and 1932 for the reason that he received no income during those three years. A friend of ours who was in New York in January has been badgering us as to the identity of an important looking, well dressed man with a silk hat, purple spats, and a gold headed cane who stood just ahead of him in the breadline. The man's face was so familiar our friend was certain it was some one whose photographs had been frequently published. And now we know. Mr. Morgan has been receiving no income for three years, so he must have been the important looking, well dressed man with the silk hat, the purple spats, and the gold headed cane who stood in the bread line in January.

BUT WE REFLECT, silently and grimly, where we would be if we had not paid our income tax in 1930, 1931, and 1932. As one of the plain, ordinary boobs we would have been saying, "Good morning, warden," out in dear old Leavenworth.

BUT WE MUST REMEMBER "the king can do no wrong." And our American kings, even though they do not wear a golden crown and an ermine cloak and wave a diamond studded scepter, are no less our kings. So do not complain, brothers; remember, the king can do no wrong.

AND MR. MORGAN, when he was asked by the senatorial committee spokesman, "Did you pay any income tax in 1930, 1931, or 1932?" certainly showed great self-control when he answered "No" instead of saying what was so obviously the answer he should have made: "Don't be silly; I am J. P. Morgan."

NOW, MR. VANDERBILT was much more outspoken and not near as careful of our finer feelings. When a do-or-die reporter climbed on the back platform of Mr. Vanderbilt's private car, from which bodyguards had chased all the other hirelings of the press with savage maledictions, and shrilly demanded, "But what about the public?" Mr. Vanderbilt replied, "The public be damned." It was very thoughtless of Mr. Vanderbilt. We American boobs love our uncrowned kings and throw up our sweaty caps and cheer them to the echo, but, gosh, we boobs (or, let us say, bourgeois; we do hate to admit we're boobs) sometimes rear right back on our hind legs when we get a kick on the nose. Mr. Morgan made no dirty crack. He simply said "No." How nice!

IN A TEACUP.

A gipsy read my fortune
Today—She said: "There's fame
And wealth, child, in your tea leaves,
But I don't see a name

Of any lad to love you
When you are sixty-two;
You have a row of lovers,
But none of them will do.

Go find yourself a new man,
One who will still be there,
When you have laughter wrinkles
And star-dust in your hair."

"But you must be mistaken,"
I told her quickly then.
"I know one man is faithful,
Please, gipsy, try again!

"You see, he often tells me . . ."
She tossed her dark head up:
"He's good at pretty speeches!"
And then I broke the cup.

TWO DAYS NOW and Mr. Arcturus does its stuff the World's Fair opens. We're worrying a little about Arcturus because that ray of light that starts the machinery should have left the star about forty years ago. It won't do any good to wigwag Arcturus or try to get a message up there if the light ray doesn't arrive on time, for the best they can do will be to start another ray in the direction of the earth and that won't get to Chicago until 1973, and darned if we're going to stand around there at the gate in Sixteenth street waiting until 1973 to get in. The only people we know of that will wait until 1973 for something to happen are the Republicans. And they'll wait because they have to.

I cannot walk on bright blue fleur de lis,
Where gold acacia droops down on an urn
With wide wrought handles heavy with gazelles.

My feet are made for treading harder paths,
Not velvet-soft and plush-trimmed, covered stairs,
But stone-set roads, with thistle-bordered edge

USING UP SURPLUSES.

WHEN the amount of food fed into the human body falls below its needs the process of drawing on the coal bins begins. First any usable gases are drawn on. This source of fuel is quickly disposed of. Next the taps are turned and any water needed is drained out. Up to date the fires have not had much to replenish them. Now the floor is freed of sweepings and the real coal bins are opened, and shoveling out of the contents begins. Meanwhile the blood sugar has been falling steadily, and the first shovels of fuel fed to the flame are the body carbohydrates. Any sugar, existing as such, is used up quickly.

But the body has stored away in the liver and the muscles a considerable supply of a near sugar, or a sugar mixed with other substances and known as glycogen. This substance is readily absorbed, converted into usable material, used for the production of heat and energy, and to maintain the needed level of sugar in the blood. Furthermore, the body stores it in cells and it can be removed from the storing cells without harming them. It is somewhat peculiar in that the storage cells neither object to being filled up with glycogen nor to having this substance removed.

Another somewhat related substance, lactic acid, is consumed, or broken down and rebuilt along with glycogen, and doing so serves somewhat the same purpose. As the bins containing glycogen approach the empty stage the fats begin to be shoveled into the fire. These are of two general kinds—the large globules of neutral fat that we know so well, and a group of near fats that are to other fats about what glycogen is to ordinary sugars. The ordinary fats are stored in the body cells in the form of large globules. This is the fat that rounds out the features and converts angles into curves. The cells in which it is stored are indifferent to it. They neither object to the fat soaked into them nor are they injured when it is absorbed for burning, but the neutrality is not quite equal to that of glycogen and its storage cells.

Fat burns to make a hot fire with liberation of lots of energy. But the fat fire is quite likely to smoke. When it does we say acidosis is present. The fats that correspond to glycogen, in being only near fats, are not readily drawn into the fuel bins, and when they are harm is apt to follow. An illustration of this group of fats is the near fat which takes part in the structure of brain and nerves.

Finally, before the fires die down, the body begins to feed them with the doors, floors, and furniture. The albumins and proteins are used for fuel. When we begin to burn the mattresses and the dining room table to keep the house warm the end is not far off.

NUMBNESS IN SLEEP.

Mrs. C. W. writes: 1. What causes numbness of the hands and arms during sleep—a dead tingling sensation?

2. Is an itchy spot in the edge of the hair above the nape of the neck ringworm eczema? Sometimes it exudes a yellow fluid, but mostly it is dry.

REPLY.

1. Pressure is generally the immediate cause. Sleeping on the arm, arms held in some unnatural position, constriction of tight garments.

2. It may be due to ringworm. Exposure to some dye or other irritant is somewhat more likely.

HABIT CONQUERED.

E. R. B. writes: The inquiry from and reply to C. F. interested me. The counting mania referred to was an obsession with me for years. Everything was counted, added, subtracted, and verified until I was internally fomenting. Looking back over my life of 51 years, I can truthfully say this condition was worse when I was physically unnerved—out of balance, as it were. I have gradually come to the place where I can look at a tile floor as a tile floor and not as a problem in addition. People's noses, eyes, ears, and legs do not bother me any more as they used to. Like C. F., I thought I was going insane, but I have mastered the habit by one word—Rats—and get my mind off that particular thing. I just had to conquer this wretched habit, which compelled me rather than interested me.

STREET NAMES.

Chicago, May 21. — [Friend of the People.]—All street directories state that the name of the street at 5900 West North avenue is Mayfield and also Marmora from North avenue to Cortland. All the street signs are marked Mayfield and all the people living there give their addresses as Mayfield, but the directories say Marmora runs from Miami avenue to North avenue. Which name is correct? R. M.

The correct name of the street crossing West North avenue at 5900 west is North Mayfield avenue. North Marmora avenue appears only between West Dickens avenue and West Miami avenue.

BANKRUPTCY.

Chicago, May 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In filing a petition in bankruptcy must a man show as assets an insurance policy with a cash surrender value? 2. Can a person holding a judgment against me collect from compensation which I received some time ago for injuries incurred at work? J. A. L.

1. Yes, if the wording is such as to give him the right to change the beneficiary.

2. The question is close. Section 21 of the Illinois Compensation Act provides that no award shall be subject to attachment or garnishment. We incline to the opinion that this does not cover proceeds of the award, but in Weber & Ridgway, 212 Ill. appendix, 159, an attempt was made to reach by garnishment compensation money in the hands of Jesse Weber as administrator. The court said at page 163 in construing section 21: "The funds sought to be garnisheed were made up of an award made under the . . . act. . . We think that . . . inasmuch as this award was made directly to Vera Weber, and is made up from funds derived from said award, it would not be subject to garnishment."

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

40 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 25, 1893.

CHICAGO.—As the result of a conference in Washington between Attorney General Olney and District Attorney Milchrist of Chicago, the latter was empowered to seek an injunction in the federal court against Sunday opening of the World's Fair. Meanwhile Director of Works Burnham issued a letter of instruction to Col. Rice and Horace Tucker providing for the opening of the gates of the Fair next Sunday.

The days are not easy for the Columbian guards. Capt. Smith, adjutant, issued an order commanding the guards to discontinue a habit some of them have fallen into of flirting or attempting to flirt on the grounds, especially with young women who are in the employ of concessionaires. The latter undertook, as if by general conspiracy, to employ young women fair to gaze upon, and since the anti-smoking order went out of effect the average guard has plenty of time to gaze, to smirk, and to flirt. The concessionaires complained.

The Austrian section of the Fine Arts department, which has been closed for several days for the rehanging of some of the paintings and the completion of certain arrangements which could not be made before the opening of the Fair, will be reopened today.

The weekly meeting of the German Evangelical Church Pastors' association favored opening the Fair grounds on Sunday.

The number of paid admissions to the World's Fair yesterday was: Adults [50 cents], 40,493; children [25 cents], 1,502.

The formal opening of the Electricity building, which was announced for May 27, will not take place until June 1.

Uhei Suzuki, president of the Yokohama Gardeners' association, the largest nursery incorporation of Japan, with his son, H. Suzuki, is making a three days' visit to the World's Fair and inspecting the horticultural and forestry exhibits. Suzuki the elder said yesterday that he had seen several of the great expositions of the world, but considered the present World's Fair the grandest display of all.

Organized labor in Chicago is preparing to make a demonstration in favor of the opening of the World's Fair Sundays.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 25, 1917.

LONDON.—The news from Gen. Cadorna, commanding the Italian armies, chronicling one of the most brilliant successes of the war, far overshadows everything else today. Advancing in a country whose natural difficulties must be seen in order to appreciate the hardships, the Italian third army has broken clean through the Austrian lines on a wide front from Castagnavizza to the Gulf of Triest. During last winter the Austrians devoted themselves to using every known device to add strength to these positions, which naturally looked impregnable. However, after a violent artillery attack, the Italians, with almost incredible valor, swept away every obstacle.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—The liner Transylvania, used as a transport, and the French steamer Sontay were sunk by U-boats. The life loss totals 458. Paris reports the German attack on the Vauclerc plateau has been checked. Berlin reports repulse of the enemy on the Chemin des Dames.

WASHINGTON.—The recent conferences of officials with the foreign war missions, it was learned, have included full discussions of the question of wartime prohibition, which, it has been concluded, will become a necessity both in the United States and England. It is probable that prohibition in the United States will come in easy stages, with the elimination of distilled spirits first and a later ban on beer.

CHICAGO.—Apple blossoms are being sold by some florists for decoration, mural and feminine. Inasmuch as every little blossom means a big red apple, some folks are protesting. They call it "treason" to waste food.

WHO SHALL LEAD THE PARADE?

Chicago, May 21.—After reading the article on the front page of today's TRIBUNE, entitled "G. A. R. Balks at Second Place on Memorial Day," I desire to bespeak your efforts in behalf of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic to the end that their inherent right as sponsors and leaders of the Memorial day parade be not usurped by National Guard, regular army or any other military organization.

Memorial day was inaugurated by the veterans of the civil war as a day set aside for the purpose of doing honor to their fallen comrades by placing flowers upon their graves. As the years have passed this day has, more and more, been given over to the decorating of all graves. While this is a practice not to be denied others, let us not forget that Memorial day is essentially a day for the honoring of America's soldier dead, that the soldiers and sailors of the civil war, for many years, were the only ones to observe this, their day, in commemorating the men who have served their country.

The place of honor in any Memorial day parade belongs by every right to the Grand Army of the Republic. To them it is not a day simply for recreation, sports, show or amusement, but a day of memories of sad experiences, and it is their desire only to do honor to those comrades who have passed on.

There will be a time—and not far distant—when none of these civil war heroes will remain. Then, and not until then, should any organization, military or otherwise, be accorded first place in a Memorial day parade.

A SOLDIER'S DAUGHTER.

HOW TO CHOOSE STAR TEAMS.

Chicago, May 22.—Your paper and sports editor are to be commended for the idea of deciding the supremacy of the two major leagues, as well as for the responsibility of the whole affair. Yet, to select the player through popularity vote, rather than a selection on merit almost cools it off before it has started.

It would simplify your task quite a bit to have some organization like the Baseball Writers' association select their choice by ballot of the best man for each position, to be selected upon merit alone, and in the position that player regularly plays during a baseball season.

I hope not, yet where a selection of this type is made through popularity vote, the best is often overlooked in what eventually becomes a sentimental vote.

J. H. GARDNER.

A PERMANENT FAIR.

Chicago, May 19.—Chicago has the opportunity to create the most beautiful and concentrated amusement, civic, and athletic center in the world. Instead of tearing down the various buildings this fall after A Century of Progress, why not start an amusement center which will be a permanent attraction for visitors from all over the world? Concentrate our theaters, larger movie houses, night clubs, concert halls, restaurants, cabarets, and outside cafés [after the European manner] around the lagoon. The many colored lights from these various places of amusement reflected in the water would be truly a magnificent and never to be forgotten sight. Parking space would not be at a premium as in the more congested sections in the loop.

The nearby stadium would add athletic adventures to this project, and the lagoon and lake would be suitable for carnivals, water sports, and bathing.

This plan, if carried out, would make Chicago unique among other cities of the world and in a setting unequaled anywhere.

G. R. FOLEY.

THE TWO QUART BOTTLE.

Woodstock, Ill., May 15.—After having listened to a lot of milk conversation here in Woodstock, I have come to the conclusion that what the business needs is a two quart bottle.

If the new price nets the producer 2½ cents per quart, it seems as though the retailers could handle the extra quart and make some money on a cent and a half, making a total of 15 cents for a two quart bottle.

A great many families could use the extra quart at this low price and the consumption be increased, possibly as much as 50 per cent. This would serve to help the producer. Certainly the consumer would be benefited.

It would cost no more to deliver a two quart bottle than a one quart, but suppose that the driver does get a quarter of a cent extra. Suppose it cost another quarter to put the extra quart through the bottling plant. Another quarter to haul it to Chicago. The retailing company is still grossing ¾ of a cent on each extra quart. As the overhead must be spread over the present consumption, this ¾ of a cent would seem to be mostly velvet.

RUSH TO PAY UP OLD TAXES KEEPS JARECKI ON JUMP

Day's Receipts Near New Record High.

DAY'S TAX COLLECTIONS.

| | 1928. | 1929. |
|---|---|---|
| May 24 | $ 34,098 | $ 112,373 |
| Uncollected | 19,842,000 | 52,708,568 |
| | 1930. | 1931. |
| May 24 | $ 200,649 | $ 224,125 |
| Uncollected | 85,414,517 | 116,213,823 |

The stampede of delinquent taxpayers to pay up and avoid county receiverships continued yesterday in County Judge Jarecki's court. As a result the total payments of taxes in County Treasurer McDonough's office approached a record high for one day's collections since May 1, when the drive to collect taxes under authority of the Kerner-Skarda act was started.

The total collections during the day were $668,959. Of this amount, $298,361 were paid in 1930 taxes, the highest amount in delinquent tax payments since the start of the drive.

County Treasurer McDonough announced that $3,730,450 would be distributed to the various tax spending agencies today. This amount, added to $1,350,000 distributed during the last week, made a total of more than $5,000,000 turned over to the local governments in the last six days.

Hotel Turns in $20,000.

Representatives of the Lawrence hotel, 1020 Lawrence avenue, yesterday handed Judge Jarecki a check for $20,000 in part payment of delinquent taxes totaling $66,288, and guaranteed a minimum payment of $2,500 monthly until the taxes are paid in full.

An attorney for the Rienzi hotel, 614 Diversey parkway, paid over $10,000 and assured the judge that a loan was now being negotiated which would make possible payment in full of $39,609 within a few days.

An impending receivership for the 1209 Astor Street building was averted by the payment of $18,234 and a promise of additional money in the near future. Back taxes on the building totaled $43,234.

Receivership Suspended.

On Tuesday representatives of the 442 Wellington street building asserted they could raise only $9,000. Yesterday, however, they paid $28,500, making a total of 75 per cent paid on the tax bill, and the receivership order was suspended.

Circuit Judge Hugo Friend aided in the tax drive by ordering the receiver for the 33 South Wabash avenue building to pay 75 per cent of the $72,000 due upon the property.

As a result of the payments Judge Jarecki appointed no receivers during the day. He again warned the lawyers, however, that only the payment of 75 per cent would cause him to delay the appointment of the county treasurer as receiver with authority to collect all income until back taxes are paid in full.

Suits asking tax receiverships for 33 income producing properties were filed before Judge Jarecki during the day. The Straus building, 300 South Michigan avenue, which owes $444,573; the Morrison hotel, Clark and Madison streets, owing $347,740; the 212 South Michigan avenue building, owing $59,715; and the 624 South Michigan avenue building, owing $50,574, were among the properties named defendants. The total of delinquent taxes due upon the 33 properties is $1,279,013.

New Cases Up Today.

Today the county judge will consider several informations filed by Assistant State's Attorney William Crilly against a number of properties. The investigation will be aimed chiefly at receivers for the buildings, the judge remarking that he wished to discover if any receivers took large fees for themselves or attorneys but failed to pay delinquent taxes.

Judge Jarecki said an investigation in the case of one hotel had shown a net yearly income for 1932 of $42,084, but that this profit had been dissipated by the receiver in expenditures for furniture at a cost of $32,000 and fees for the receiver and his attorney totaling $11,500, while not a penny had been paid upon taxes totaling more than $50,000.

County and city officials and representatives of the other local governments will meet tomorrow to attack the problem of correcting the 1931 tax roll. Collections of the second installment of 1931 taxes cannot be made by Sept. 1, the penalty date which had been advanced from July 1, it was pointed out, inasmuch as the corrected tax roll will not be available until late in August. County Treasurer McDonough pointed out that the board of appeals will be hearing complaints on the 1931 assessments until then.

The Tax Collection Record

Following is the county treasurer's tabulation of the status of tax collections for 1928, 1929, 1930, and 1931, showing the total tax extensions, the amount of uncollected taxes, the taxes collected, and the percentage of taxes collected for each of the four years, at the close of business yesterday:

| | Extensions. | Uncollected. | Collections. | Pct. collected. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1928— | | | | |
| Personal property | 40,037,084.65 | 12,233,674.08 | 27,803,410.57 | 69.44 |
| Railroad | 10,988,467.94 | 146,434.47 | 10,842,033.47 | 98.66 |
| Totals | $219,574,594.88 | $ 32,222,108.85 | $187,352,486.03 | 85.32 |

4-MASTER SETS BEST MARK SINCE CLIPPER SHIP ERA

(Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.)

FALMOUTH, Eng., May 24.—Breaking all records since the days of the clipper ships, Alan Villiers' four masted barque Parma arrived here today after an 83 day passage from Australia, and won the windjammers' annual grain race for the second successive year.

The fastest passage previously since the clipper ships was that of the grain ship Marlborough Hill, which took 89 days for the journey in 1921. The Parma's time has not been equaled since the wool clippers at the beginning of the century and the gold rush clippers of the 1850s. The record for sailing the 15,000 miles from Australia to England is held by the clipper Lightning of the Black Ball line, which made the journey in 63 days and 17 hours.

Roosevelt Writes Boy Who Paints Without Any Arms

Henry Wiegman, 25 years old, who was born armless and paints with his brush handle held between his teeth, yesterday exhibited a letter from President Roosevelt at the American Academy of Arts. He had sent the President a pen and ink sketch. Wiegman, who lives at 1418 South 60th court, Cicero, has been a student at the academy two years, where his tuition and expenses are paid by the state rehabilitation department. He graduated from J. Sterling Morton High school in 1929.

Robin Banded by Federal Survey Dies in Wilmette

Clarence H. Meister, 803 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, yesterday discovered the body of a robin in his yard. Around the left leg of the bird was a band which, loosened and unrolled, asked the finder to notify the biological survey in Washington.

ALDERMEN YIELD ON SONSTEBY'S BUDGET DEMANDS

Political Appointees' Pay Cut Less Than Others.

Fifteen members of the city council finance committee last night capitulated to the demands of Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court in approving the 1933 corporate budget. They reduced the pay of the political employés of the court by a 48 day's pay reduction, a concession to which the chief justice had agreed. At the same time they docked the civil service and temporary employés of other city departments 78 days' pay.

The aldermen, however, were not entirely submissive to Judge Sonsteby's demands. They refused to appropriate for a special assistant to the chief justice at $10,000 a year, a requested addition to his other six assistants, and disregarded the court's order for a raise in salary for his girl secretary from $2,500 to $5,000. Despite this action, the appropriation for the chief justice's office force is far in excess of those given to his predecessor.

Stay in 48 Million Limit.

At a late hour the committee finished its scrutiny of the various items that make up the corporate budget, the fund out of which policemen, firemen, and most of the other city employés are paid. Its exact total was not known because of various changes made, but the aldermen were assured that they had not exceeded the $48,090,000 set up by the city controller as a reasonable expectation of revenue for the current year.

With the budget so near completion early in the evening little attention was given to the suggestion of Ald. John A. Massen [48th] that the policy of appropriating for employés by "man-months," now practiced in some departments, instead of each being designated separately, be extended throughout the entire budget.

The argument in favor of Ald. Massen's suggestion was that it would aid in economizing in city expenditures. A budget built on such a basis, it was said, would permit city department heads to dispense with employés when they were not needed. Under the "man-month" system the employés laid off would not be able to collect in court, as has happened recently, for work that they did not perform.

"Man-Month" Plan Explained.

The "man-month" system is used now in some departments. The clerk and bailiff of the Municipal court employ their deputies under a lump sum appropriation without stating the number of deputies that should be hired. In other departments laborers and skilled craftsmen are employed under the same system, giving the department head the authority to employ 100 men one month and only ten the next month, if the requirements vary to that degree.

Before the draft of the budget was approved finally, the aldermen indulged in considerable discussion on whether to appropriate 48 million dollars or an amount equal to the expenditure of last year, which was approximately 46 million dollars. They decided to defer action until the report of the committee's staff shows the exact total appropriated. Today the committee will work on the water, vehicle tax, and bond fund budgets.

CADET MISSING FROM WEST POINT SINCE LAST MONDAY IS FOUND

West Point, N. Y., May 24.—[Special.]—Cadet John Steen Conner, missing from the United States Military academy since Monday, was found on the reservation this evening by Sergt. Jesse Roberts of the service detachment. Conner was in excellent physical condition although suffering from exposure. He was immediately taken to the cadet hospital by Capt. M. H. Parsons, provost marshal, who has been in charge of the search.

The cadet's parents in Medford, Ore., were immediately notified, as was the adjudent general of the army at Washington, by Maj. Gen. W. D. Connor, superintendent.

Col. W. Dewitt, surgeon of the post, had Conner placed in a private room where examination showed that he was suffering from the exposure of two days spent in the open with no food, little water, and lack of sleep.

A light meal of milk, orange juice, and broth was given him, which he ate with relish. He was deeply tanned.

NO AUTO LICENSE TILL TAX IS PAID, JACOBS URGES

County Assessor J. L. Jacobs yesterday addressed a letter to Gov. Horner asking that bills now pending in the legislature which demand the listing as personal property of all automobiles before licenses can be procured, be amended to provide that the personal property tax must be paid before a license can be issued. A similar letter was dispatched also to R. V. Graham, president pro tem. of the senate, and to President Emmett Whealan of the county board.

FOUND DEAD NEAR LAKE.

REPORT ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP CHILD IN JOLIET HOME

An attempt to abduct Shirley Mae Calkins, 4 years old, whose life has been threatened in notes, was reported to the Joliet police yesterday. The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde G. Calkins, 306 2d avenue, Joliet.

Last week Mrs. Calkins received notes threatening the child's life unless she stopped the prosecution of larceny charges against a former maid.

Calkins told the police he was awakened yesterday morning by his wife's screams and found the child lying on the floor. The child said a man had entered her room and started to carry her away. Mrs. Calkins screamed—he dropped the child and ran. The police found that the telephone wires to the Calkins home had been cut for the second time in a week. A side door had been unlatched.

The maid, Hilda Demming, is accused of stealing jewelry from Mrs. Calkins. The police found some of the jewelry in the home of Joseph Colberg, a friend of Miss Demming. Both denied knowledge of the notes or any attempt to harm the child.

MAYOR CALLS FOR REDUCTION IN TAXI RATES

Declares There Will Be No Secret Action.

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that he favors a reduction of taxicab rates in the new taxicab ordinance to be presented to the city council next week. Until the mayor made known his views only five of the fifty aldermen had gone on record for a reduction in the rates and against the monopoly under which independent companies wishing to put reduced rate cabs into operation are prevented from doing so.

"The rates must come down," Mayor Kelly said. "And no ordinance will be passed that the people do not know about in advance. It will not be prepared one day and passed the next."

Work on Ordinance Draft.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph Grossman and R. F. Kelker, engineer for the transportation committee of the council, were at work yesterday on the draft of the new ordinance which is to be given this afternoon to Ald. John Toman [23d], chairman of the subcommittee on taxicabs. The ordinance is to contain a provision for a maximum rate of fare, to be fixed by the aldermen.

Kelker has recommended a reduction of 5 cents in the initial taxicab charge of 25 cents for the first quarter mile. Another recommendation made is that the cab companies be permitted to charge 5 cents for each extra passenger for the first quarter mile. After the first quarter mile charge of 25 cents, the rate now in force for Yellow and Checker cabs is 10 cents for each additional half mile.

Five Aldermen for Cut.

The five aldermen who have said they believe these rates too high are William A. Rowan [10th], Bryan Hartnett [12th], O. E. Northrup [19th], Joseph C. Ross [40th], and Dorsey R. Crowe [42d].

Visitors from other cities where 15 cents a mile is considered a high taxi rate, influenced these aldermen to demand a reduction in time for the World's Fair, Ald. Crowe said yesterday. He said they will ask removal of the limitation on the number of cabs that may be licensed so that competition may govern the taxicab industry.

As the law now stands, Ald. Crowe said, the Public Taxi Service company, which is operating a comparatively few cabs charging 15 cents a mile, is prevented from adding to its small fleet of cabs because no added licenses may be issued without a certificate of convenience and necessity from the public vehicle license commission. This commission is headed by Deputy Police Commissioner Alcock and its secretary is Police Lieutenant James Killackey.

IMMUNITY FOR ROBBER SUSPECT STIRS COURTNEY

Will Force Witnesses to Prosecute.

State's Attorney Courtney was aroused yesterday over the continuous immunity from prosecution enjoyed by William [Big Bill] Davis, last survivor of the so-called "Four Horsemen," early labor racketeers. The prosecutor learned that a charge of robbery with a gun against Davis had been stricken with leave to reinstate before Judge Thomas J. Lynch in the Criminal court.

The principal state witness is Theodore English, manager of a night club known as the Garage, at 2044 North Clark street, which Davis is alleged to have robbed of $43 on the night of Jan. 2. English did not appear and Judge Lynch, who had warned the state last week that he would dispose of the case yesterday, struck it from the docket when the state could not proceed.

Arrested Leaving Club.

Davis, it is charged, held up the night club early on the morning of Jan. 2 and lined up English, three waiters, and 15 customers. A waiter, Joseph Allen, slipped out during the holdup and telephoned the police. Davis was arrested by Sergt. James Mikes and a squad as he left the club. The club is owned by Theodore [Spider] Meyer.

"I'll have this case reinstated," State's Attorney Courtney said, "and all of the witnesses will come in and prosecute, or I will prosecute them."

The night club was bombed Jan. 30 after English had been warned by telephone calls not to prosecute Davis. The state has been unable to locate English since the bombing.

Auto Robbery Case Dropped.

Last week a charge of automobile robbery against Davis was stricken with leave to reinstate by Judge Lynch when complaining witnesses did not appear. The court records revealed that a robbery charge against Davis was stricken in May, 1928, and a charge of automobile larceny against him was dropped in the same way in July, 1932. There had been nine continuances in the robbery case which was stricken yesterday.

The other three "horsemen," who were all killed a short time apart two years ago, were Michael Riley, Denny Clifford, and Cy Cauley.

KIDNEY SUFFERING Curbed!

Druggists Here Offer Foley Pills on 10 DAYS' TRIAL

"I could not sleep, stoop over nor rise up without great pain. Since taking Foley Pills I rest well at night and have no pain."—Mrs. Black.

It is cases like this—not one or 100, but thousands—which bring men and women past 35 to Foley Pills for genuine relief from the miseries of night rising, painful and frequent bladder action, swollen ankles and feet, puffed eyes, pins and needles cramp, poor appetite, indigestion, loss of weight, no pep, backache and failing strength due to faulty kidney elimination.

Send to druggist now for wonderful Foley pills on 10 days' trial. Watch bladder action improve—see pain and soreness go — sleep sounder, eat heartier and feel years younger. If not more than satisfied with your improvement, return empty package and get your deposit back. What could be fairer?

How to Wash Out Your Kidneys

Your kidneys purify your blood by straining out uric acid and other poisons. You must pass 2 pints of water daily. If you pass less, take Foley Pills and see how they wash these acid poisons right out of your body and make you feel simply "grand and glorious." Make test today.

DECIDE TO KEEP COUNTY COPS IF THERE'S ANY PAY

Sheriff William D. Meyering is going to be allowed to keep his highway police force of 100 men if the county board can find money enough to pay their salaries from July 1 to Dec. 1. The Circuit court judges, who have statutory power to fix the number of employes in all county fee offices, yesterday reconsidered their earlier order directing that the force be disbanded

When preparing their report to the county board last February the judges recommended that the sheriff be given funds to pay his policemen only until July 1. Accordingly, the county commissioners adopted the 1933 budget on that basis. Yesterday Commissioner Maurice Kavanaugh, chairman of the finance commitee, said he had no idea where the board would find money to pay them after July. The finance committee will meet on this today.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan, chief justice of the Circuit court, said that the judges' original order was rescinded because the legislature failed to make an expected provision for a metropolitan police force.

HORNER TO HEAD MEMORIAL DAY PARADE TUESDAY

Gov. Henry Horner will participate in the annual Memorial day parade next Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by Maj. Frank L. Beals, adjutant general of the parade. The parade will form at Chestnut street and Michigan avenue and march south to Roosevelt road, where it will disband.

The governor, escorted by the Black Horse troop, will head the procession as far as the reviewing stand in front of the Stevens hotel. He will step out at that point to take his place in the stand with Mayor Kelly, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, and other dignitaries.

Maj. Beals said that 100,000 persons are expected to participate in the parade, largely members of war veteran and civic groups, led, of course, by the veterans of the civil war. The Illinois National Guard and the regular army will not take part, the major said, because of a conflict over precedence in heading the parade. William P. Wright, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, will have general charge of the parade.

Smart City Clubs Make Plans to Care for Crowds at Fair

Governors of Arts and Fortnightly Decide to Remain Open Later Than Usual This Season.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE board of governors of the various smart city clubs, where World's Fair visitors might be entertained when they aren't at the Fair or in the country, differ widely in their opinions as to how busy their respective clubs will be this summer. The Casino is closing earlier than usual; the Arts club is remaining open later than is customary; the Fortnightly anticipates that it may be open all summer, and the Saddle and Cycle and the Tavern, which are year around clubs, expect booming business all summer.

The Casino, which ordinarily is open until the last of June, will shut its doors the middle of the month and not until the middle of September will its delightfully decorated and furnished rooms be ready for use again.

Last year the Arts club stayed open a month later than usual for convention guests—doesn't it seem just yesterday that we were all rushing around like mad entertaining convention guests or going to the conventions?—and it is doing the same for World's Fair guests. And if members and guests use the club much during June it is quite probable that the directors will decide to keep it open longer. It, like the Casino, has the earmarks of having been decorated by the late Rue Winterbotham Carpenter, whose unerring good taste and distinction made everything she did chic and smart and at the same time comfortable and livable.

The Fortnightly's attractive bed chambers may be in great demand by friends of members who are here for the Fair this summer, so the club is not making plans for closing until it is seen whether or not there will be a demand for the charming hospitality it has to offer. Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, who has been living at the club, of which she is president, since giving up her large house on State parkway, is over in Michigan at her country place now, but will be back in town the 31st for her first view of the Fair.

Saddle and Cycle Starts Buffets.

The Saddle and Cycle, which used to seem so far out in the country in the days when the members bicycled out to it but which now seems not much more than a stone's throw from the near north side, has started its popular Thursday and Sunday night buffets. They grow in popularity as the season progressed and by midsummer they will be handling capacity crowds on those two nights each week; but now the "turnout" is rather slim, mostly the baseball and tennis players and their wives.

The Tavern's roof terraces are all dressed up in fresh paint and new awnings for the summer festivities and they will be ready for use on Saturday. On the dining terrace, under red, white, and gray striped awnings, members and their guests will dine at tables covered with the lovely buttercup yellow cloths that the Tavern always uses, sitting in white chairs with gray seats, and all around will be hedges and trees of boxwood over which the nearby and distant skyscrapers and towers can be viewed. That view from the Tavern—north, south, east, or west—is unbelievably thrilling and beautiful, especially at twilight, and all visitors seem to enjoy it particularly.

Yellow and red chairs and gray and red striped awnings have been used to furnish the lounging terrace, a story above the dining one, and we predict that those "comfy" chairs will be occupied every night this summer by weary, footsore members and guests who have "Faired" all day and who need cool breezes and complete relaxation.

Husbands Will See "Peter Pan."

Husbands not interested in mingling the nursery and the theater are to have their own private performance of "Peter Pan" at 9 o'clock next Wednesday evening in the little theater on the Enchanted island.

"Of course, husbands have to see our play," explained Mrs. Ronald Chinnock, stage manager for the Junior League performance, yesterday, "otherwise there would be two dozen disappointed wives. But for the sake of peace and quiet they are to have a special showing Wednesday evening . . . late enough, too, to allow a peaceful dinner hour."

This Saturday the Junior Leaguers will celebrate the opening of the Fair with two performances of their play in the Enchanted island playhouse . . . one at 10:30 in the morning and a second at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. There is also a Sunday performance scheduled for 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Thomas G. Wheelock's three lion cubs are going to be put in the Midget village at the Fair as soon as A Century of Progress opens. While Mr. Wheelock has played with them a good deal, Mrs. Wheelock thinks they are a bit rough. Mr. and Mrs. Wheelock will be in town this summer, and they are still hoping that Mrs. R. Van der Woude, Mr. Wheelock's mother, will return from England to visit them again.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt this afternoon attended the garden party at Highlands, the estate of Dr. and Mrs. Cary T. Grayson, given for the Woman's National Democratic club. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, president of the Woman's Democratic club; Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Mrs. Malvina A. Thompson Scheider, her secretary. Mrs. Grayson presented the guests to Mrs. Roosevelt, and standing beside the latter was Mrs. John Garner.

The President entertained a company at luncheon today in compliment to the Japanese mission here for conferences with him before going to London for the formal meeting.

Mrs. Henry C. Corbin has leased her suburban home, Highwood, to the secretary of war and Mrs. George H. Dern.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry II. are passing the season at Valley Farm, the J. Henry Alexandre estate, which they leased for a term of years, at Glen Head.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis are at Mattapan, their place on the Overlook, Locust Valley, for the season.

Brahms Festival Will Open Tonight.

This evening the Brahms festival the three day music presentation by the department of music at the University of Chicago in recognition of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the composer Johannes Brahms, will open in Mandel hall, with a distinguished group of the city's patrons of music occupying the boxes.

The orchestra and choral groups are to give the first concert. Tomorrow evening Egon Petri, the Dutch pianist, will appear with the university orchestra, and next Tuesday evening Mrs. Charles H. Swift (Claire Dux), assisted by the school choir and chorus, will present the "German Requiem" as the concluding feature of the festival in the large university chapel. Following this performance Dr. and Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins are having a reception for Mrs. Swift at their Midway home.

Harold H. Swift is to have one of the largest box parties tonight. Other hosts and hostesses will be Dr. and Mrs. Franklin McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Lillie, Mr. and Mrs. Beardsley Ruml, and Mrs. Ernest Freund.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed are motoring out to the south side campus with a party of friends. And so are Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Stifler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, and Dr. and Mrs. Arno E. Luckhardt.

Science Luncheon By Fair Guests.

Robert Hall McCormick, Ira Nelson Morris, Hayden Harris, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus, and Arthur Allais will mingle with World's Fair officials, scientific and medical heads of Northwestern, Chicago, Illinois, Loyola, and Wisconsin universities, and members of French circles at the luncheon Dr. and Mrs. Lecomte du Nouy of Paris are to give this noon in the Tower ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

Dr. du Nouy, who is in Chicago to install the Pasteur medical exhibit at A Century of Progress, will tell of the work of the Pasteur institute in France. Other speakers will be the French consul general, Rene Wellier; Dr. William A. Pusey, Dr. Julius Stieglitz, and Dr. Herman Bundesen, who is to represent Mayor Kelly.

"That sounds like one of Mrs. Baur's smart ideas," said we, very knowingly, to Mrs. Franklin M. Miller after she had told us about the barter and exchange sale the Woman's National Republican club of Chicago is holding today in connection with the formal opening of its new headquarters. We were right, too, so Mrs. Miller said.

The idea is that when you go to the opening today, if you go, you take a "white elephant" and deposit it on a table, put 10 cents in a box, and take in exchange something that you want but that was a "white elephant" to some one else.

Good idea, don't you think so? Mrs. Jacob Baur, president of the club, planned it before she left for abroad. The headquarters is room M-9 on the mezzanine floor of the Drake hotel and the opening will be from 11:30 until 4:30 o'clock. Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever is chairman of the committee in charge. The thirty members of the board have volunteered o do duty as hostesses at the headquarters all summer and keep the room open as a rest room and meeting place for women visitors.

Enjoy Opening of Washington Park Track

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Henry Hooper (left) and Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson were among the fashionable onlookers at the opening races at Washington Park. Mrs. Hooper had chosen a yellowish beige tweed suit with brown accessories and Mrs. Richardson wore a gay springlike print with dark blue coat and hat. Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, who were hosts at a box party that afternoon, plan to spend only July and August in Wheaton instead of the four summer months that they usually spend in the country because they want to be in town for the Fair during June and September. The Richardson family does not plan to occupy their attractive Wheaton residence at all this summer.

'Nocturne' and 'Inflation' Popular Titles.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

"Nocturne" and "Inflation" certainly were the most inspiring titles for the amateurs who painted the "awful art" that is to be auctioned off tonight at the dinner dance the Lower North Community council is giving at the Pabst Blue Ribbon casino at A Century of Progress, for four pictures each with those titles were chosen by the judges yesterday among the fourteen prize winners.

And such different interpretations as the amateur artists put upon those titles. Kate Brewster's [Mrs. Walter S.] "Nocturne" shows two figures sleeping, feet to feet, in the moonlight, done in water color; Fanny Butcher's crayon of that title is of several varieties of dogs wistfully looking through the glass of a meat market window at night; Arthur Meeker Jr.'s nocturnal work of art, done in pencil, is a cat, very much like the pussies we used to draw when we were five, with a round moon in one corner; and David Hamilton's crayon depicts two heads, really lovely, of a man and woman asleep.

"Inflation" to Rue Winterbotham Shaw [Mrs. Alfred P.] meant a pen and ink of a fat man with a drooping mustache sitting behind a table on which are two empty beer steins and one full to the brim with foam overflowing. Madeleine Maher [Mrs. Philip]—she is a professional artist so she painted this one with her left hand—saw "Inflation" as a very fat woman relaxing in a bathtub, and she used oils as her medium. Aletta Root [Mrs. John] did a water color of a little white poodle dog giving her four puppies their supper, all five in a big yellow chair, to indicate her idea of "Inflation," and Eloise Skidmore [Mrs. Louis] interpreted the same subject by painting in water colors a bit of family washing hanging on a line strung between two tenements, the garments inflated with the wind.

The others chosen by Miss Alice Roullier and John Norton, who know art from A to Z and who really were conscientious in choosing from among the dozens those that they considered the best, are "Blind Love" by Ellen Stevenson [Mrs. Adlai], "Circe" by Thornton Wilder, "Emperor Jones" by Lawrence Tibbett, "Easy Diversion" by Carol Bush, "Giraffe at Play" by Helen Bell, and "Shades of Another Fair" by Inez Riddle McDonald [Mrs. Eugene].

Mrs. Stevenson's water color is of two fat, horrible looking creatures, drinking beer, and she has painted it as if she were looking down on them. Mr. Wilder really is a better novelist than he is a painter, for the swine he has painted with Circe—didn't she transform Ulysses' companions into Swine?—look more like wolves than pigs.

Miss Bush, whose sister, Emeline, is a professional artist and a very good one, too, proves that she has some of her sister's talent, for her barroom scene in oils entitled "Easy Diversion" is quite good. And so is Miss Bell's "Giraffe at Play," which also is done in oils. Tibbett's oil painting is a self-portrait, of course, in the part he is making famous, and Mrs. McDonald's is an interesting picture, in crayon, of cyclists in '93. It, by the way, was reproduced on this page the other morning.

Happy Times Replace Quiet on Loop Roof

End 3 Years of Silence Atop Hotel.

Up on top of the Hotel La Salle a silence of three years is being broken in what is called the Hangar. At first view you might believe you were in an actual one. Steel girders, or at least a colorable imitation of them, cross overhead, a canvas at one end shows the open air with a dirigible in flight, views of A Century of Progress buildings strike the eye, the whole gay with pennants and banners.

It is the only roof garden in the loop. One dines, dances, watches the show, and the view of the patrons, intent on having a good time and having it, is no less diverting than the rest of the proceedings. Johnny Hamp and his musicians are untiring in providing rhythmic melody. The show is presented by June MacCloy with a low, contralto voice; Joresco and Lydia, who dance in the South American fashion; the Aber twins, blonde, good looking, and late of "Strike Me Pink" in song and dance; Lee Barton Evans, who sings in blackface; Nina Laughlin, who dances, and Billy Severin, who does likewise.

L'Aiglon restaurant offers concert music for the pleasure of its patrons. Audrey Call, well known as a concert violinist during her former residence here, has returned to Chicago and plays there nightly. On Sundays late in the afternoon she gives a special recital, the most recent one having been done to the accompaniment of a cembalom played by Spiros Stamos, who has been appearing with the Byzantine choir. Jack Paige's orchestra plays, and there is assistance from Frances Call, who permits herself to be billed as a "croontralto."

A complete operatic concert was given at the Croydon hotel recently. It was presented by Bernice Ripley, soprano; Mari Barova, contralto; Luigi Ruffino, tenor, and Carlo Formes, baritone, all of wide experience in matters operatic. Favorite solos and concerted numbers made up the program.

Josef Cherniavsky and the Chicago theater orchestra are playing an elaborate arrangement of some of the works of Johann Strauss this week. As is Mr. Cherniavsky's custom, he has not kept to the beaten track, but has gathered in specimens from many fields, familiar waltzes, less familiar polkas, excerpts from the Strauss operettas, and the like. Also as is his custom, he conducts them with great energy and instinctive sense of what the dance rhythm means. A brilliant piano solo by Rudolph Wagner helps to make the number effective. And if you prefer modern dance music to that of a half century or more ago, Hal Kemp and his orchestra are featured in the stage show, and are worth featuring. E. M.

Natural Crash to Be Summer Suit for Parisiennes

BY BETTINA BEDWELL

PARIS.—[Special.]—The hot weather fashion of the suit or coat of natural colored linen or cotton crash is okayed by the smartest women in Paris this season. Clever Parisiennes who have a strictly limited clothes budget and an unlimited ambition to look smart are using this fashion to make one ensemble do the work of two.

They are ordering a linen crash suit in some simple tailored cut, with the new longish jacket, and they are wearing this jacket as a separate wrap over dark silk dresses. The suit is worn for running about the town and the coat and dress for all other daytime affairs.

In case you order a linen crash suit see to it that it has a longish jacket so you can do the same thing. The Hermes suit in our sketch is one which can be applied to this idea. The jacket which is knee length is made of natural linen crash and is unlined. It is straight in line and buttoned up the front on dark brown buttons. A separate linen crash belt buttons at the waist line, and may be left off if you want to have a loose coat. The plain sleeves have two buttons at the wrists. The skirt is a two gore skirt with seams down the sides and is slightly flared from the hips.

The blouse is made of dark brown flax jersey, cut like a mess jacket but buttoned straight up the front on brown buttons. A narrow flax fringe finishes it at the waistline. The four-in-hand tie is made of the crash of the suit.

New Negligees for Summer Are Washable

Collectors of Dragons Will Be Pleased.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

In the midst of all the excitement about the opening of A Century of Progress, one might suspect that the shoppers are calming down a bit, but such is not the case.

Each day new things are unpacked, and hardly an hour passes that these clever shopkeepers don't trot out something practically irresistible. For instance. . . . some new washable negligees for these warm-ish summer mornings. The shops are showing some ivory, big sleeved kimonos that are knockouts. They are long, loose, and can be wrapped around comfortably and how they do take to a tub of soap suds. Besides that, dragon collectors will appreciate the curled up gayly embroidered dragon that decorates the best portion of the back. A wide and long sash can be tied around the waist and the incredibly low price tag will make even a seasoned shopper catch her breath.

Some other cool and fluttery affairs are made of chiffon with deep round yokes of lace. . . . the rose colored numbers and the filmy black models are the most satisfying as to color and beauty, although the blue fanciers are going to sing demandingly for the blue chiffon accented with lovely Alençon lace top yoke.

Lace creations lined with chiffon are what the traveling gad-a-bout will need, for you can pack, unpack and repack lace without fretting over the wrinkles.

But while you are shopping for summer negligees, do cast an appreciative eye over the colorful prints—you will see lovely ivory backgrounds splashed madly with full blown roses, poppies and other flowers of quite large diameters, and then a colored sash to contrast is tied in long loops around the waistline and then falling to the floor.

Or look for the prim little prints showing small buds and precise little designs in soft pastel colors—none of them expensive, and all of them refreshingly colorful and cool for the daily breakfast hour.

Later you will be able to find some fetching models in spanking white Swiss sprinkled with tiny colored dots—you will find pale blue dots with a pale blue sash, sleeve ruffles, a fluted or ruffled collar, and everything else to complete a most feminine charm. Tailored negligees seem to have been dismissed for this coming summer season. Everything new is frilled and fluted, tied with bows and sashes, undoubtedly the loveliest and most inexpensive summer negligees.

Some Unknown Woman

By Elisabeth Sanxay Holding

SYNOPSIS.

Dinah Allen and Jane Rosslyn are roommates in a Manhattan boarding house. Dinah, from the south, envies and imitates Jane's air of mystery and sophistication. Jack Fiske, a young boarder from Vermont, is head over heels in love with Dinah, who considers him just a hick. Dinah and Jane stroll to the corner drug store for sodas. A good looking young man in a silk hat, not quite sober, invites the girls for a ride in his car. To Dinah's surprise Jane accepts for both of them. He takes them to his home. Dinah soon finds herself left alone, with Jane's purse instead of her own. In Jane's purse Dinah finds an automatic pistol. All the lights are turned out. Dinah rushes for the door and is grabbed by strong arms. She shoots. Jane reappears. She rushes Dinah away from the scene of their host lying in a pool of blood. Next morning the papers carry the story of the murder of Philip Divine, Broadway playboy, and said there were two bullet wounds. Jane and Dinah saw a tall, dark man with a mustache as they left Philip Divine's house. Jane recognizes Jack Fiske's sterling qualities and tries to bring Dinah and him together. Jane admits to Dinah that she knew Philip Divine before and that she also shot him. Jane goes to the theater with Jack after Dinah refuses him. Dinah has a caller. He introduces himself as Pierre Baron. He is the tall dark man with the mustache. Dinah promises to have dinner with him next evening. Baron tells Dinah that Divine was secretly married to Jane. Dinah resents his hatred of Jane and doesn't trust Baron. She tells him it was she who shot Divine. Jane confesses to Fiske that she shot Divine and that she'd brought Dinah to his home. Jane's efforts to shield Dinah win Jack's admiration

INSTALLMENT XXII.

CLEARING OUT.

Jane's change of tone surprised Dinah. Tears still clung to her dark lashes, but she was composed and cool again, and with a new, half reckless bitterness.

"It was wonderful of you, Dinah," she went on "to tell Pierre you'd—done it. But it won't make any difference, as far as he's concerned. I'm the one he wants to pay for it. And there are quite a lot of things he can do."

"What can he do?" Fiske demanded.

"Let's not talk about him," said Jane. "I think I'm a little sorry for Pierre."

"You wouldn't be if you knew——" Dinah began.

"I do know," said Jane. "He hates me. But it's because he was fond of Philip. I don't blame him. But I don't want to be—a human sacrifice, either. I'd rather get away, at once, out of Pierre's reach. And what's more, I don't want to see any of Philip's people. It would be so uncomfortable. No—you see Dinah, if I go away there's nothing for you to worry about. Only Jack and Pierre know anything about this. Certainly Jack won't tell—and I'm sure Pierre won't, unless it would make trouble for me. He wouldn't want to hurt you. He's really quite chivalrous about women. Except one. I'm going to clear out, darling, this very evening——"

"No, Jane! Jane, let's stay together——"

"We don't belong together."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that I'm old, darling. Hundreds of years old. And you're young. You're just at the beginning of things and I'm at the end. Down near the end of about the last alley in the labyrinth . . . And when you get there you know you'll never be able to get out. And you don't care—much. I don't want to go to prison and I don't want to see any of Philip's people, that's all."

"Jane! Then our friendship doesn't mean anything to you?" cried Dinah.

"It doesn't mean anything like so much to you as you imagine," said Jane. "You'll forget me."

Her good humored indifference hurt Dinah horribly.

"If you'd rather go——" she said.

"Well, who wouldn't?" said Jane, quite cheerful now. "I don't like what I see getting ready for me here. I'm going to pack my week-end bag and vanish. I'll leave you my share of the week's board . . . But——" She had opened her purse. "Broke again!" she said. "I'm afraid I'll have to ask either one of you to lend me some money."

"I've got fifty," said young Fiske promptly.

"I only want ten, thanks," said Jane. "Just for a railway ticket and sundries."

She had begun packing her bag. One might have imagined she was careless about it, unless one examined the bag and saw how deft and neat her work had been. When she put on her hat she seemed scarcely to glance at the mirror, yet the hat was on at exactly the right angle; she herself was smart, chic, and correct as usual.

"Well—au revoir!" said Jane.

"Jane—you're not really going like this!" cried Dinah. "Aren't you even going to tell me where you're going?"

"No, darling!" said Jane. "It'll be much better if you honestly don't know—in case any one should ask you. I don't believe you are a good liar."

Almost gay was Jane's tone now. She took the ten dollars she wanted from Fiske with amiable thanks.

"I'll get a taxi for you," he said.

"No, thanks!" said Jane.

"I'll take your bag down stairs——"

She shook her head, smiling.

"No thanks. Let's make it au revoir here——"

"You'll write?" said Fiske not very steadily.

"If anything goes wrong I'll send you a telegram," said Jane. "Au revoir—Dinah and Jack!"

She opened the door and slipped out, closing it behind her. She was gone.

Young Fiske took a packet of cigarets out of his pocket.

"Pretty—sudden——" he observed.

Dinah scarcely heard him. She was thinking.

"Jane's gone off and left me to face any trouble that comes, alone. It doesn't seem like Jane——"

"I don't care how things look," said Dinah to herself. "She wouldn't just run away . . . She has some reason—some other reason that she didn't tell me." She turned toward Fiske to make some defense for her friend, but the sight of his face checked her. He looked so very unhappy.

"I'm sure we'll see her again soon," she said.

He did not answer that remark at all. He was standing with his hands in his pockets and a miserable, obstinate look on his keen Yankee face, a mulish look.

"D'you know if she has people anywhere?" he asked Dinah. "Relatives?"

"No, I don't know."

There was a brief silence.

"I'd better not stay here," said Fiske. "Mrs. Cotter wouldn't——"

"I hear her coming now!" whispered Dinah, at the sound of a familiar board creaking on the stairs.

There was a knock at the door.

"Who is it?" called Dinah in a voice unexpectedly loud and clear.

"I'd——" he began in a whisper when the voice outside spoke again.

"May I see Miss Rosslyn, please? Just for a moment."

"Then may I speak to you?" asked the voice.

"Better see her," Fiske murmured. "It'll only look suspicious if you don't. It's some relation of—her husband's, of course."

"Some relation of the man I may have killed——" thought Dinah, and had a dreadful picture of a gray haired woman with a face ravaged by grief.

She opened the door and a woman entered, a girl, fragile, elegant, with an ivory skin, violently reddened lips, and great tragic black eyes.

"I'm sorry to bother you," she said. "But your landlady told me I'd find Jane Rosslyn here."

Then she caught sight of Fiske and across her face came just the shadow of a change which Dinah did not fail to notice. She studied, she comprehended this newcomer in a glance, saw that, although she was theatric in dress and gesture, was too much made up, she had genuine and undeniable elegance. She understood, too, what that faint change of expression signified; it meant that this new girl had just become aware that there was a man present, and a young and good looking man.

"I'm sorry to bother you," she repeated. "If you'll tell me where I can find Jane Rosslyn—or where I can wait for her——"

"She's—gone out of town for a few days," said Dinah.

"O! Then if you'll give me her telephone number, please——"

"I don't know it," said Dinah. "She didn't tell me where she was going."

"O! Then the landlady will know, won't she?"

"No! said Dinah with energy. It wouldn't do for this stranger to go asking Mrs. Cotter questions which Mrs. Cotter could not answer; it would make Jane's departure look only too much like flight.

"But what shall I do?" asked the girl plaintively and glanced at Fiske.

"I don't know——" he muttered. "Perhaps if you write a letter it'll be forwarded."

When Tinting Your Locks Hire One Operator

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

So many queries are coming to me now about hair, and the great majority of these involve problems that have to do with hair that was or is tinted, or dyed.

One girl tells of the varicolored shades in her hair as the result of a bleached blonde period through which she went, followed by a reddish era, and now a change of mind again would have her returned quickly to her own natural brown hair.

Many times I have warned against entering into this changed hair color state without serious thought of what you are in for. Matrimony is just about the only other thing we know that requires the same peering into the future. But warnings about changing the hair color are like warnings about matrimony. It's people's own private and personal business, and theirs the privilege to take the chance. And reasonable enough argument, we agree.

I would beg girls and women, however, if they have the hair bleached, tinted, or dyed not to go running around from one operator to another, being the object of experiment after experiment. The manifold shades often are due to this changing of operators. The last one is unfamiliar with the original hair coloring, quality, or consistency.

And, if you are going in for any of the hair tinting business don't try to be too economical. Pick out the best operator known, pay his or her price willingly, and save on frock, or beads, or something else. And stick to that one operator.

Lincoln Articles of J. S. Little Will Be Sold

A comprehensive release of Abraham Lincoln bibliographical and association material will take place in Chicago when the Lincoln collection of John Scripps Little will be publicly sold by the Chicago Book and Art Auctions on June 14 and 15.

Mr. Little, now a retired banker in Rushville, Ill., is the nephew of John Locke Scripps, noted friend of Lincoln and early associate of Joseph Medill of THE TRIBUNE. Known as one of the finest compilations ever made of Lincoln autograph letters, books, medals, pamphlets, prints, portraits and association items, the Little collection's sale is expected to bring much new Lincoln biographical information to light.

One of the rare items included, and to be exhibited in room 919 of the Fine Arts building prior to the auction, is a copy of the first authorized life of Lincoln printed by the Chicago Press and Tribune company in 1860. Written by John Locke Scripps of THE TRIBUNE, with the aid of Joseph Medill who furnished Scripps with much of its material, it was published simultaneously by THE TRIBUNE in Chicago and Horace Greeley in New York, to promote Mr. Lincoln's presidential campaign. Both imprints are now rare, the Chicago one especially so since the fire.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE imprint of this first authorized life of Lincoln, sold in 1860 as a 32 page campaign pamphlet at $20 a thousand, is now so rare a prize that its value to the collector is estimated at more than 10,000 times its original cost.

Worse Things in Life Than 'Stand Up,' Says Doris

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The girl accepted a date and then through a miscalculation of time failed to show up at the appointed hour. The man took it for a "stand-up," naturally. The girl wrote a note of apology and a second date was arranged. He came twenty minutes late and the girl left after fifteen minutes, so that date went flooey, too. He had a perfectly good excuse for his delay. And he blamed the girl for not waiting.

Now, the friendship hangs on a very thin thread, the girl anxious, however, to have it resumed.

We know a woman still unmarried in her forties who looks back with deep regret upon an occasion of the sort. The man kept her waiting three-quarters of an hour. She berated him so soundly he left her that night for good. All these years she has cared for him, though he's married long since and out of her life. But, as she says: "What was that few minutes' wait compared to what I lost?"

That's what people should think before they go off into rages over a belated appointment. What is a few minutes' discomfort, or an evening's reviewing a lifetime of disappointments that have to be borne? Beside, things do go wrong so that delays are often unavoidable. The explanation may be sound, or it may not seem that way at the time. But isn't it better to ignore such minor incidents than to gamble on the life of a friendship?

When you're young, you're pretty arbitrary about such things. But when you're older, life teaches you that you can't have everything right on the dot and as you want it. Even with the best of husbands there are times when your patience is taxed. And so it is with men.

Now, if youth could only learn that a delay in an appointment or a mixup in one is not a crime of affections! It may be one of carelessness, of irresponsibility, or of pure accident. But in any event, in the sum total of life's enforced irritations, it's a pretty minor incident and certainly one not worth rearing from an ant hill into a mountain.

BY MARY MEADE.

"New Deal Suppers"—or maybe you are labeling yours "Dutch Lunches"—are fairly sprouting out of the spring air these days and I suspect that in our soul of souls we're ready to sing out a cheer for this 1933 way of entertaining, whether we're wetting ours down with a "white collar job" or playing safe with a "cup-a-coffee."

For, at least for the nonce, dainty fois gras and elegant caviars are out; sausages and wursts, crackers and cheeses, not to mention pretzels and potato chips, are very much in. Hostesses are falling all over one another digging out grandmother's old red kitchen table cloth for the New Deal supper table and all the world is busy trying to make the 96.8 part of the meal compare favorably with the 3.2!

So, lest the edibles should fall behind the potables in goodness—especially since we may be too young or too out of practice to get into the swing of the thing at once—let us welcome a few suggestions from the quaffers for what shall go on plates and platters at our new-old suppers:

First—the stage! It is laid in practically any room from the playroom in the attic to the newly tricked up refreshment corner in the basement. It shall be a table with its nakedness covered with whatever your heart desires—but for consistency's sake stay away from the lace table cloths and damask linens! Something cotton and something plaid, polka dotted, checkered, or striped should best cover the subject—and the table.

The time is usually after dusk—at early supper time or any hour betwixt then and breakfast. The atmosphere is hugely informal, convivial, hilarious. The guests may be dressed in formal regalia, sweaters, and flannels, or what they will. A nice mixing in of all sorts adds to the fun of the thing.

As for numbers, it's certainly not impossible to have a twosy Dutch lunch, but why not do the thing up brown and have a crowd? I've known a wee walk-up apartment to take care of the hungers and thirsts of twenty jubilant folks at once—with exactly thirty minutes' preparation!

Now what for the table? First—crackers and cheese are bound to please! Big pretzels stacked up on those grand Dutch pretzel sticks—or a jugful of straight ones or these little crisp fellows barely one and one-half inches across. Or ponder upon these delectables—toasted crisp rye crackers, cheese wafers, butter wafers, salted soda crackers, and toasted hard-water biscuits. Two or three kinds should be on deck to stand behind your choice of cheese and spreads.

All kinds of cheeses offer their flavors. There are big red Edams or Baby Goudas cut open jack-o'-lantern style to be dug into, slabs of Swiss or little packaged Gruyère or Brie, yellow American, spicy pimiento, liederkranz, Camembert, Roquefort (cheese or spread), and Limburger for the staunch-hearted.

The cheery part about all this is that with a little restocking now and then, careful wrapping while stored, and a bit of last-minute toasting when it comes to crackers, Dutch lunches are ready to hustle tableward the minute one hears guests on the piaza.

Canapes, too, are no longer hostess-made, but decidedly guest-made. A pot of ham mixture, slices of sausages, bologna, and liverwurst, plus crisp crackers, rusks or rye bread slices, handle the situation. Pickles—sour, dill, mixed—are back in high favor. Stuffed olives and celery should have a corner on the New Deal table. Sandwich spreads, some bits of lettuce, a few sliced tomatoes, and a beverage should finish up the list. And since the whole affair is buffet style, supply piles of plates, butter spreaders, spoons if needed, and napkins.

the summer in Europe. Miss Wendell is the Barrett Wendells' daughter.

Mrs. Julian A. Soames and her little daughter, Edith, named for Mrs. Soames' mother, Mrs. Frank H. Scott, are coming back to this country from England some time this summer to visit Mrs. Scott. At present Mrs. Scott is staying at the Churchill, but later on she plans to go away, although she has not decided just where.

The Charles G. Cushings, who were entertained by the Charles Garfield Kings and the William H. Mitchells during their all too short stay in Chicago, have gone back to New York and will not return again until October.

Lamsons Leave for Asheville.

Mrs. Warren A. Lamson and Miss Virginia Lamson left yesterday to motor to Asheville, N. C., to join Mr. Lamson, who has been spending the last week at the Biltmore Forest Country club. They will all go the first week in June to Simsbury, Conn., where Miss Jean Lamson will be graduated from the Ethel Walker school. Miss Jean will be a debutante next fall.

Of interest to Chicagoans is an announcement received concerning the approaching marriage on Saturday in Plainfield, N. J., of Miss Anne Wright Dumont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jessup Dumont, to John Gardner Kellogg of New York and Milwaukee, son of Mrs. J. Roberts Coffin of New York and R. Gardner Kellogg of Milwaukee. Mr. Kellogg is well known among the younger set in Chicago, as is his best man, Samuel C. Pullman of New Rochelle, N. Y. Mr. Pullman lived in Chicago last summer and fall and made many friends among the debutantes and second year girls.

The last causerie of the season at the Alliance Française will be held this afternoon. Mrs. Roger Cros will give a short talk on the new books in the library while the members sew for the Red Cross and then tea will be served. Mrs. Charles S. Dewey and Mrs. Daniel Taylor pouring.

Local talent out Glencoe way is to provide the entertainment Saturday evening for the benefit dance and card party the vestrymen of St. Elizabeth's Episcopal church are to have at the Skokie Country club. Bruce Griffin and Jack Winter are the directors of the show.

MINUTE MYSTERY
BY H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE STRANGE STORY OF MADELON FLAUVEL.

"Did I ever tell you the strange story of Madelon Flauvel, sister of the world renowned dancer?" Fordney asked his old friend Jim Mulhull as they watched the receding scenery from the observation platform of the Twentieth Century.

"No? Well, you as an attorney should find it interesting," he continued. "But here—you'll find the whole story in this cablegram which my friend Bob Johnson sent me from Paris," handing him the wire. Mulhull read the following:

MAY 1, 1933
PROFESSOR JOSEPH FORDNEY
STUYVESANT CLUB
NEW YORK CITY U S A
MADELON FLAUVEL SISTER OF THE WORLD RENOWNED DANCER FOUND DEAD IN SMALL VILLAGE IN INDIA WHERE SHE HAD GONE SEEKING NEW EXOTIC DANCE MATERIAL STOP BRITISH AUTHORITIES THERE STILL UNDETERMINED WHETHER SUICIDE HOMICIDE OR ACCIDENT STOP THEY CAUGHT NATIVE WITH MADELON'S NOTES AND RARE MANUSCRIPT WHICH HE ADMITTED SHE GAVE HIM JUST BEFORE DYING WITH COMMAND SAME BE TURNED OVER TO DANCER NOW APPEARING HERE IN PARIS STOP MATERIAL FORWARDED TO ME FOR DELIVERY BUT SEARCH REVEALS MADELON NEVER HAD A SISTER HOWEVER HAVE DELIVERED SAME TO THE PROPER PERSON STOP DO YOU KNOW WHO IT IS BOB JOHNSON

After ten minutes of silence on the part of Jim, he handed it back to Fordney with, "Your friend is a clever chap. Had me guessing for a moment. Of course he turned over the material to . . ."

Child Should Be Encouraged to Learn to Draw

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Yesterday we were talking about what the child in the average school should have in his leisure to fulfill the needs of his growing self—not just mental activity such as most schools specialize in, but activity for his muscles, his senses and his emotions. We listed manual work, some form of expression in the arts, and lots of free play outdoors.

There was one point I should have liked to stress yesterday, but I did not have the space to do so. It is this: I believe all children from the time they are very little should have at hand materials for drawing. Among these should be at least pencils of soft lead, crayons and pads of paper of various sizes.

A few very large sheets should always be available and sometimes given to a child even if he doesn't ask for them. Children sometimes have the impulse to make drawings that will cover several large sheets that have to be pasted together. The floor or a low table pleases them best for this work.

This suggestion is tied up in no way with the idea that children are to be made into artists. It is simply that drawing is a form of expression that belongs to childhood.

All facilities of the headquarters of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations, on the top floor of the Republic building at State and Adams streets, are now available for out of town club women, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president. During A Century of Progress three hostesses daily will receive the visitors in the lounge. Headquarters office, with an information desk and telephone, will be at their disposal. Luncheon, tea, or dinner may be secured in the adjacent dining room. Meeting places for private groups, restrooms, and conducted tours of the city, including shops, are on the list of activities.

Youth Week Concert Given by Senn High

Band and Chorus Appear at Orchestra Hall.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Senn High school, or rather the musicians thereof, came to Orchestra hall last night and presented what was programmed as a Youth Week concert, a program in two parts of band and choral music.

The concert band of the school took the stage first under the direction of Charles Ostergren. It has a membership of about 100, 2 per cent being feminine, and it played a list of compositions by Weber, Bach, Liszt, and others, with many fast moving marches in between as extra numbers. It is a spirited and alert organization, playing well in pith and with excellent if not always balanced tone, since in the more strenuous moments the brass section rather overpowers the woodwinds. It was well received.

After the intermission came the Senn Glee club clad in their green robes. This is a large group, some 500 in numbers, and on a rough estimate between 70 and 80 per cent feminine. Under the baton of Samuel Burkholder they sang a group of sacred works, then a secular set, and ended with Hadley's "Song of the Marching Men." They are well trained in the discipline of attack and clearness, and special attention has been given them in the art of projecting words as well as melody.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, augmented to 100 men and directed by Frederick Stock, and a chorus of 2,500 from the Choral Directors' guild under the direction of George L. Tenney, together with Lawrence Tibbett, baritone soloist, will appear in a concert as part of the dedication program of A Century of Progress Exposition Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Hall of Science building.

The appearance of the orchestra is made possible by a gift from the Chicago Friends of Music. Among the choruses affiliated with the Choral Directors' league are the Apollo Musical club, the Swedish Choral club, the Aurora Oratorio society, the Austin Choral club, the Lutheran Teachers' chorus, and the Parent-Teachers' association.

Hillsdale, Mich., May 24.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Myron Gates Wood, the former 90 and the latter 85, born and reared in Wheatland township, Hillsdale county, observed their 67th wedding anniversary at the home of a daughter here today. Wood was one time sheriff of Hillsdale county and was recently honored with a life membership in the Michigan Sheriff association as its oldest member. The bridegroom of yesteryear is a stanch Republican and cast his initial vote for Lincoln. The couple are both in good health. They are parents of four daughters.

Jewish Day Program.

Presbyterians Face Fight on Mission Issue

Columbus, O., May 24.—(AP)—Fundamentalist leaders of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America predicted today, on the eve of the opening sessions of the church's 145th general assembly, the formation of a new board of foreign missions if their demands for "reforms" go unheeded.

They also announced plans to lend vigorous minority support tomorrow to a "dark horse" candidate for moderator.

The section of active fundamentalists, headed by Dr. J. Gresham Machen and the Rev. H. McAlester Griffiths, both of Philadelphia, worked steadily today to complete plans for what they call a "revolt" by their group in the assembly which opens here tomorrow.

Neither is a voting delegate, but Dr. Machen is author of an overture calling for missionaries committed to fundamentalism and the Rev. Mr. Griffiths is editor of Christianity Today, a conservative church magazine.

The Machen overture asks briefly that every foreign missionary subscribe to a belief in the virgin birth of Jesus, the miracles, the vicarious atonement, the deity of Christ and the "full truthfulness of scripture."

Calling on his supporters to elect to the board of foreign missions "only men who are against modernism in any form," Dr. Machen urged efforts to "bring about a clean break with modernism."

Those efforts will begin, his colleague, the Rev. Mr. Griffiths, announced, in the attempt to elect their candidate, as yet unnamed, to succeed Dr. Charles W. Kerr of Tulsa, Okla., as moderator.

They hope, it was explained, to rally sufficient strength from the neutrally inclined commissioners to carry their cause.

Methodist Church Reports Record Gain in Members

The Methodist Episcopal church in Chicago gained more than 10,000 new members during the pre-Easter period this year, according to statistics made public yesterday by Bishop Ernest L. Waldorf of the Chicago area. This number represents the greatest growth in that communion in recent years, Bishop Waldorf announced.

Fashion Show.

The Sacred Heart church is to hold a benefit party and fashion show tomorrow evening in the Gold room of the Congress hotel.

NEW MILK PRICE BOOST DEMANDED BY PRODUCERS

Farmers and Distributors Go Into Conference.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Further increases in prices over those granted by Chicago milk companies to some 17,000 dairy farmers on May 15, when retail milk prices were raised in the metropolitan area, were in prospect last night.

The officers of milk distributing companies went into session with representatives of the farmers at Hotel La Salle in an effort to create a market for the farmers close to Chicago by which their surplus milk not required for sale in bottles could be paid for on the basis of sweet cream prices now enjoyed by farmers in prescribed areas in Wisconsin.

At the same time efforts were started to provide a market for milk and cream produced by farmers within the 100 mile zone created by the Chicago board of health and not now enjoying a share in Chicago's expenditures for fresh milk of high quality. At a late hour last night it was said the conference would likely continue today and possibly tomorrow before agreement would be reached.

Favor State Milk Control Bill.

Both the officers of the Pure Milk association and the milk companies were reported to have pledged support to the dairy products control bill introduced in both houses of the legislature at Springfield yesterday. They attended a conference with officials of milk companies and dairy farmers' associations in Springfield Tuesday, at the request of W. W. McLaughlin, state director of agriculture, who would be given powers of controlling the intrastate milk industry somewhat similar to those imposed on Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in the federal farm act, if the state measure should pass.

Under the bill, intrastate milk marketing would be so handled as to aid the federal administration in restoring milk prices to a parity with those in the period from August, 1909, to July, 1914. The bill requires that the director of agriculture license all handlers of fluid milk in the state.

It also permits the director and the governor to allow trade agreements, and these when agreed upon by two-thirds of the dealers and producers of an area defined in their agreement, may become mandatory on the entire industry of that area.

400 Nearby Dairies Inspected.

Nearly 400 farmers within the new Chicago milk area have had their dairies inspected in the few weeks since the zone was legalized. This was announced yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, following the dismissal of a suit against him and the board in the Circuit court of Judge Thomas Taylor Jr. yesterday. The suit was dismissed because the board of health made the inspection.

Under the new board of health ruling Dr. Bundesen is instructed to inspect all dairy farms upon application, provided they are within 100 miles of Chicago's city hall. Any farm or dairy plant outside that area will be inspected upon special order.

FIND BODY IN MINE SHAFT.

Belleville, Ill., May 24.—(AP)—The body of a man tentatively identified as Joseph Whittauer, about 50, night watchman of Swansea, Ill., has been found at the bottom of the main shaft of the Service Coal company's mine near here. His shoes were found at the top of the shaft.

Sets Extravagance Point in Woman's Clothes at $25,000

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24.—A woman's extravagance in clothes begins at about $25,000 a year. That was the opinion of a court dressmaker who today went before a special jury of the king's bench division to recover $8,900 (at par) for clothes and furs supplied to Lady Bowden, wife of Sir Harold Bowden, wealthy bicycle manufacturer, and her daughter, Kitty Bowden.

Both Sir Harold and Lady Bowden are named in the suit. Each placed the liability on the other. The bills were run up between October, 1930, and January, 1932, at Ann Talbot, Ltd., plaintiffs in the action. Malcolm Hilbery, a representative of Talbot, Ltd., declared that such a case is common where a marital difference has arisen.

Tells How It Goes.

"Lady Bowden says, 'I ordered these goods in the ordinary course as the wife of Sir Harold Bowden,'" Hilbery testified. "'They were the ordinary sort of goods which are within the power of a wife to order, for the purpose of dressing herself suitable to that station and style which her husband chooses to assume. Therefore he is the person to pay.'

"The husband says, 'O, no; I can show she had money coming to her under a settlement that ought to have been sufficient. Anyhow, she was provided with plenty of these articles.'"

Hilbery went on to say that the fabulously wealthy Sir Harold maintained 17 fish lakes, a country estate so big he could not recognize all the servants, and a palatial apartment at Claridge's hotel. He added that Lady Bowden was required to dress herself expensively, but that when the bills arrived Sir Harold had a sudden fit of economy and refused to pay.

Saw No Storm Signs.

Mrs. Daisy Roberts, managing director of Talbot, Ltd., declared that the lady always asked for a written estimate of the cost of the clothes. She saw no signs of matrimonial storms.

D. M. Pritt, counsel for Sir Harold, brought out that his client had had to provide two separate sums of $60,000 within 15 months to meet his wife's bills.

"Would you agree that she was somewhat extravagant?" Pritt asked Mrs. Roberts. The answer was "no."

"I wonder where extravagance, in your mind, begins," the lawyer continued. "If she spent $25,000 a year on clothes, would you say she was extravagant?"

This time the answer was "yes."

Reduced Allowance.

Sir Harold declared he allowed his wife $25,000 a year, then reduced it. He detailed constant rows between them over her debts. He said she gave a written agreement not to contract any further defts.

Then, he went on, his wife got into debt again—$75,000 by February of this year—and he published a notice forbidding her to pledge his credit.

Between 1926 and 1931 he gave his wife or paid to her account a total of $205,000, Sir Harold declared.

Husband Gives Her Clothes Away; She Gets a Divorce

When she returned home on the evening of Sept. 21, 1931, she found her husband giving her clothes to three strange young women who were in the apartment, Mrs. Jean Hicks, 25 years old, 3906 Lake Park avenue, told Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti yesterday. The next day, she said, she left her husband, Robert Hicks, and later filed suit for divorce, charging cruelty. Hicks, who formerly was a model employed by the Art Institute, struck her on several occasions, she said. She was awarded a divorce.

CUBAN REBELS EVADE PURSUIT; GO ON RAMPAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, May 24.—Troops from Banao barracks at Sancti Spiritus went into the Trinidad mountains today in an effort to exterminate the largest group of rebels, estimated at more than 250, under Juan Blas Hernandez. The federal force attempted to surround the insurgents, but the latter evaded the cordon, invaded Banao barracks ,set fires in the town and killed the eight sentries left on guard at the post.

Hernandez's force has been operating between the Trinidad mountains and Moron, Camaguey province, and has raided Moron on three occasions. It is thought that rebel bands numbering from ten to fifty men each are now concentrating in the Trinidad hills, and the possibility of a combined army of 2,000 is seen. It is estimated there are 6,000 armed rebels in Santa Clara, Camaguey, and Oriente provinces.

2 Killed by Bomb.

Felipe Velasco, 21, and Eduardo Montalvo, 25, the latter a nephew of Gen. Oscar Montalvo, who tought against Spain and was a presidential candidate in 1921, were killed early today. A government report said a bomb which they placed under a railroad bridge at Calderon Pinar del Rio province, prematurely exploded.

Eighty political prisoners, recently ordered released from Isle of Pines penitentiary and brought temporarily to Principe prison here, today were returned to the penitentiary. No explanation was given.

Following an investigation military circles announced that Maj. Arsenio Ortiz, federal commander, is held blameless for hangings of rebels in the trouble zone. They said he acted "on superior orders."

Herrera Out for President.

It became known today that the shift of Gen. Alberto Herrera, who has been army chief of staff for 12 years, to the civil post of secretary of war and navy is to promote his candidacy to succeed President Gerardo Machado.

According to constitutional revisions of 1928, which extended the presidential term to six years, military men who are candidates for civil positions must resign their posts at least one year prior to election, which in this case is Nov. 1, 1934. President Machado's term expires May 20, 1935. Gen. Herrera said today that with Machado's support he would become president of the Liberal party.

FATHER AND SON SLAIN; FEAR FOR 2 OTHER MISSING

Eldon, Mo., May 24.—[Special.]—Clews authorities believe may uncover a series of four murders in this little Ozark foothill town developed today as the result of discovery of the body of Charles T. Babcoke, 52, farmer. Covered shallowly with dirt, Babcoke's body was found four miles south of here. He had been shot in the face with a shotgun.

Babcoke disappeared mysteriously last March 26. With Babcoke's disappearance now revealed as murder officers were investigating along the same lines into the death of his father, Joe Babcoke, found dead at his cabin supposedly from natural causes two weeks before the younger Babcoke's disappearance.

A third possible slaying is seen in the disappearance of George Babcoke, 17, brother of the slain man, who has been missing three years.

Girl Victim of Poison Soon to Quit Hospital

Detroit, Mich., May 24.—(AP)—Miss Agnes Remsik, 22 year old Chicagoan who last week was given only the barest chance to survive the effects of a slow acting but usually fatal poison taken two weeks ago, today was said by receiving hospital physicians to be "well out of danger." Hospital attendants said she might leave for Chicago within a few days.

FLANNEL

There's no denying the smartness of flannels for sports and country wear—at the same time the comfortable business-like dressiness of a suit of fine flannel can't be denied either.

Practically impervious to wrinkling—it's another of this imported flannel's commendable qualities. After a sweltering day's wear and an overnight rest, next morning you'll wonder who pressed it!

4-PIECE INTERCHANGEABLE FLANNELS WITH EXTRA SLACKS $35

Ask any dyed in the wool week-ender about a flannel suit and he'll more than likely tell you not to be without one. It's the pack horse of any well thoughtout summer wardrobe—it bears the burden in town and again beyond the city limits, and to "take it," the flannel should be as fine as the imported flannel in these suits. The tailoring so expertly done that even rough usage doesn't alter the smart lines and shape of their soft construction.

CUBS WIN, 5-2; WARNEKE, HARTNETT HIT HOMERS

WARNEKE INCREASES LEAD IN NATIONAL LEAGUE POLL

HARTNETT HAS 10-1 ADVANTAGE OVER J. WILSON

Fan Vote Heavy for Big Game.

BY ARCH WARD.

Lon Warneke of the Cubs is moving ahead steadily in the nation-wide poll to pick the personnel of the National league team that will oppose the strongest lineup the American league can present in the game of the century July 6.

Warneke had a margin of 43 votes over Carl Hubbell in the first returns printed Tuesday. He has increased this lead to 234 today. Three pitchers will be chosen for each club in the sports feature of A Century of Progress Exposition. There are now 21 candidates for the three places on the National league team.

Both Warneke and Hubbell have more than a 2 to 1 edge on the third place moundsman, Red Lucas of Cincinnati. The most important change in the standings this morning is the rise of Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals from seventh place Tuesday to fourth.

Get Rules Straight, Voters.

Silas Johnson of Cincinnati and Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals are in strong positions and either may crowd into the first three when the returns from the 55 out of town centers are recorded. The votes counted thus far are all from the Chicago area. It will be the end of this week before representative standings will be available.

There has been some misunderstanding about the rules of the contest among a minority of the fans who have sent in lineups. The grand prize of $250 will go to the fan who names the starting lineup of both teams with the three pitchers in the order they work. Starting lineup means batting order. Some have merely named the players by positions. The same conditions hold true for the two $100 prizes. These awards go to the one who first names the starting lineup [batting order] and starting pitcher of the National league team and the one who first picks the American league team in the same order. The fifty $1 prizes will be distributed among those who are able to select the six pitchers, three for each club, who work in the game.

Traynor's Lead Shrinks.

The battle lines in certain positions are becoming more tightly drawn, even though the voting to date has been limited to Chicagoland.

Take third base. Pie Traynor still has a wide lead, but his margin is being cut down gradually by Woody English, the Cubs' dependable infielder. Jim Bottomley of Cincinnati likewise is closing in on Bill Terry of New York at first base.

A lively contest is promised for the shortstop job. Dick Bartell of the Phillies is in front by 543 votes, but Floyd Vaughan of the Pirates is sure to develop strong support. A margin of 543 is trivial in competition which will involve in excess of 100,000 votes.

Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals appears to be a standout at second base. He is ahead of Bill Herman of the Cubs, 4,083 to 1,197, in the area where Herman might be expected to poll his heaviest vote.

Hartnett Holds Lead.

There is another position that threatens to be no contest. That is catch, where Gabby Hartnett is leading Jimmy Wilson of the Cardinals by 10 to 1. There never has been any doubt about Hartnett's catching ability. He is ranked among the game's greatest. His hitting this season puts him in a class by himself.

There will be no runaway races in the outfield, however. There are at least five strong candidates for the three positions. Chuck Klein is the most popular choice, but Paul Waner and Lefty O'Doul are close behind. Berger of Boston and Lindstrom of Pittsburgh are running almost neck and neck for fourth place.

The number of newspapers conducting polls was increased to 55 yesterday by the addition of the Spokesman Review of Spokane, Wash., the Davenport, Ia., Democrat, and the Jeffersonville, Ind., News and Journal. All newspapers are invited to solicit votes.

Rain Chases Sox Out of Boston Into New York

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 24.—Rain sent the White Sox out of town several hours earlier than expected today. They managed to get in an hour's workout before the final game with the Red Sox was definitely abandoned and then hustled to catch a train for New York, where they have four games with the champion Yankees, who are just beginning to assert themselves.

The Yanks are tough and liable to become tougher, but that doesn't dismay the high flying Chicagoans, who thus far have done a good job of keeping the league in better balance than in recent years. The Sox have no delusions about the eventual pennant winner, but even though they are not counting on a flag, they are about as chesty as any team in the league. They know they are no longer a setup; their spirit is almost collegiate and they have no intention of neglecting their chance to remain in the first division.

Crowds Follow Sox Again.

Everywhere the Sox have appeared they have drawn good crowds, considering economic conditions and the weather. The crowds naturally are coming out mainly because they want to see the ex-Athletics in Chicago togs. But the Sox are interesting to watch for other reasons. They are playing fast, spirited baseball and credit for this rests with others besides Al Simmons, Mule Haas, and Jim Dykes.

Luke Appling, for instance, has suddenly developed into a sensation, both at short and at bat. If he continues his present pace much longer, many experts, who thus far haven't given him a tumble, will be writing nice pieces about the newly discovered star. Manager Lew Fonseca's prediction is that in another season Appling will be the ranking shortstop of both leagues. His trouble always had been a tendency to keep in the background.

Appling was the kind who was almost afraid to say hello. This was simply a lack of self-confidence, which reflected in his play. He snapped into step after being temporarily benched for weak fielding during the training schedule. When he returned to the lineup he started to go. He's still going. He has even blossomed into a talker and kidder, a positive evidence that he has found confidence in himself.

Hayes Stars Afield.

Jack Hayes, at second base, is another who has contributed to the baseball uplift on Chicago's south side. His hitting is fair and his fielding sensational. With Appling, he forms a formidable combination at second base. Then there's Evar Swanson, who wasn't counted upon as a hitting outfielder, but who has led them all at bat since he became a regular. And there probably will be all around team improvement when Manager Fonseca, after a month's layoff, gets into his normal gait as a hitter and a fielder.

Fonseca will have to flip a coin tomorrow to determine which of his pitchers should have the assignment in the series opener against the bone crushing Yankees. Ted Lyons and Sam Jones are available. So is Paul Gregory, who was scheduled to work today. And Even Walter Miller, who pitched a two hit shutout over Washington last Sunday to signalize his return to the big league, is ready for another start. Because there are a number of left handed hitters in the Yankee lineup, Miller undoubtedly will be given a chance in the series.

Lyons Needs Work.

Lyons hasn't been of much value lately, but that probably is just a temporary condition. He has been hammered hard in his last three starts, but won one of them because his mates furnished him with 11 runs. Prior to that he had pitched three good games in ten days.

Outfielder Elias Funk, who came to the Sox from Louisville in trade for Mel Simons last spring, was shipped to the San Francisco Pacific coast league club on option today. Funk was sent away to make room for Billy Sullivan, who has finished his law studies at Notre Dame and will report to Fonseca in New York Friday. Fonseca still has two extra outfielders in Red Kress and Earl Webb.

Gov. Ma Ferguson Signs Bill Legalizing Race Betting

Austin, Tex., May 24.—(AP)—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson today signed the measure to legalize the certificate system of wagering on horse racing in Texas. It does not become effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

WORK BECOMES A PLEASURE FOR A TELEGRAPH MAN

Sends Story of Winning $1,021 at Homewood.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The telegraph operator, Mr. Joe Meneguin a young man from Rockford, who is ticking this dispatch off on the telegraph wires at [illegible]ington Park and sending it on toward THE TRIBUNE editorial rooms is a bit nervous so the copy readers should edit the dispatch with great care.

Why shouldn't Mr. Meneguin be nervous and why shouldn't the copy-readers give the young man a lift? Mr. Meneguin held two of the eleven winning tickets on the daily double yesterday, each of which was worth $510.50.

My Kind Wins.

How could a guy like youthful Mr. Meneguin keep from being nervous after making that kind of an investment? For as he peered out over his telegraph keys down the home stretch he saw My Kind, the horse which started his double, trailing. The next thing he knew he heard a heavy lunged reporter shout "My Kind wins."

There was a wait of thirty minutes while Operator Meneguin ticked off the entries, selections, etc., but during that time he heard that if Lady of Grace, "his horse" in the third race, should win he would collect $1,021.

The horses started parading to the post. Dan Gallagher and Bill Burke, fellow operators, who felt that if Joe Meneguin had money they would have money too, began to pray for the welfare of Lady of Grace in the third race.

Jim Hahn, who helps compile the form chart, so many of which Joe Meneguin ticked off on his telegraph key, called on Allah to do the best he could for Lady of Grace in this race. For he, too, thought that if Joe Meneguin had money things might not be so tough.

Even Experts Grow Anxious.

I'm not so sure but that a couple or three racing experts had the same notion and joined in the prayers. And Henry Wilson, the gentleman of color who looks after the wants of the experts, the operators, the clockers, and the handicappers in the press box, started singing "When the roll is called up yonder" just as the cry of "They're off!" went up. Henry, too, thought that things might be better if Joe Meneguin won that thousand dollars.

Now the horses were rounding the last turn. Meneguin peered out over his busy telegraph key and looked up the homestretch. Lady of Grace was trailing. Billie's Orphan was going so fast it didn't look like anybody would ever catch her.

Mr. Meneguin began ticking off dots and dashes and tried to forget his "bad luck." Then all of a sudden the heavy lunged reporter shouted out "Lady of Grace wins by four lengths."

Gets Police Escort.

Mr. Meneguin stayed to send this dispatch, but I don't know what shape the dots and dashes were in when they reached THE TRIBUNE editorial rooms.

I do know that the last anybody saw of Mr. Meneguin he had Lieut. Edward Kelly, in charge of the Washington Park police, as an escort and they were making their way toward the money room and that Henry Wilson, the gentleman of color, was now singing "Throw Out the Life Line."

Mr. Meneguin scored his great victory on the biggest day of the Washington Park season up to date. The attendance surpassed the crowd on opening day and so did the play in the mutuels.

The best race on the program was the Thomas Hotel purse at six furlongs. It was won by Pancoast, a 3 year old from A. B. Gallagher's barn in Kentucky.

TRAYNOR BACK IN BIG SIX LIST; FREDERICK OUT

Harold [Pie] Traynor jumped back into baseball's big six yesterday, but it was not so much his hitting as Johnny Frederick's lack of it. The Pirates' third baseman got one hit in three times at the plate, enough to hold his batting average to .364. Frederick connected only once in five trips to the plate, however, and his average dropped three points to .361, just enough to shove him out of the sextet. Gabby Hartnett, the only other member of the six to get into action, got one hit, a homer, but his average dropped from .371 and a tie with Pepper Martin to .367. Standings:

| | G. | A.B. | R. | H. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| West, Browns | 29 | 118 | 19 | 45 | .381 |
| Martin, Cardinals | 32 | 124 | 28 | 46 | .371 |
| Chapman, Yankees | 26 | 92 | 22 | 34 | .370 |
| Hartnett, Cubs | 35 | 120 | 15 | 44 | .367 |
| Simmons, White Sox | 32 | 129 | 27 | 47 | .364 |

Gene Sarazen, defending champion, draws the favored starting time at 10 a. m., but the other big guns of the fairways are scattered impartially through the starting list. Wiffy Cox will play with Sarazen.

Starting Times Reversed.

For the second day of play, June 9, the starting hours are reversed, with the second half of the list driving off during the early hours. Sarazen and Cox are scheduled to drive off at 1:10 p. m. the second day. Starting times of other leading players:

America Faces Argentina in Cup Matches

Washington, D. C., May 24.—[Special]—America's confident Davis cup forces today went through their last drills for the interzone championship matches against Argentina, which will start tomorrow on the Chevy Chase Country club courts. The Argentines also practiced for a half hour.

Ellsworth Vines Jr. of California, United States singles champion, will meet Capt. Adriano Zappa in the opening singles match. In the other singles contest which will be played tomorrow, Wilmer Allison, captain of America's team, will play Hector Cattaruzza. The draw was made from a silver bowl by Andre DeLaboulaye, French ambassador.

Immediately after the draw was held in the patio of the Pan-American union, the foreigners began their final drills. Adelmar Echeverria, who will play in the doubles Friday; Zappa and Cattaruzza, were the first ones on the courts. They have been practicing for the last 12 days.

George Lott, Chicago, and Johnny Van Ryn will represent the United States in the doubles match tomorrow. Lott was the only American who did not practice. He suffered a hand injury and will not practice until tomorrow.

Bayne, Memphis Pitcher, Hurls No Hit, No Run Game

Memphis, Tenn., May 24.—(AP)—Billy Bayne, left handed pitcher for the Memphis club of the Southern association, pitched a no run, no hit game against Birmingham today. He issued no walks and the only man to reach base got there when a Memphis outfielder dropped a fly. The Memphis team won, 8 to 0. Bayne formerly pitched for the Cleveland Indians.

FISCHER SHOOTS 301; WINS TITLE IN BIG TEN GOLF

Michigan Captures Team Honors with 1,291.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The last nine holes of the water course at the Kildeer Country club are composed of 3,316 yards of undulant golfing real estate, all perfectly harmless, but they so riled Johnny Fischer of the University of Michigan in the first 54 holes of the Western conference tournament, that on his final round yesterday he got his dander up and lambasted the same for 34 strokes, two under par, to win his second consecutive Big Ten title with a total of 301 for 72 holes.

Johnny's ire not only brought him another championship, but also enabled Michigan to carry back to Ann Arbor its second team title in two years. The Wolverines finished the two day play with a four man total of 1,291. Minnesota was second, as it was in 1932, with 1,306, and Northwestern took third place with 1,328.

Wins By 14 Strokes.

The business of subduing those final nine holes was really nothing more than a personal issue with Fischer, for he could have walked away with the title even if he hadn't punished them with that 34. He finished 14 strokes ahead of the next men in line. Ed Dayton, a team mate, and Earl Larson of Minnesota, who was runner-up to Fischer last year. Dayton and Larson came home with 315's, and in the playoff Dayton took the runner-up medal by getting a 4 on the first extra hole while Larson was three putting for a 5.

Edgar Bolstad, brother of the famed Les, of Minnesota, followed with a 318, one stroke ahead of one of the suprises of the tournament, Bob Brown of Northwestern. Brown, a bespectacled sophomore from Kansas, who weighs only about 130 pounds although he's over six feet in height, came through with one of the best nine of the tournament, going out yesterday afternoon in 36.

Enters National Open.

Fischer, who is 20 years old, a junior at Michigan, is one of the hopes of the amateurs in this year's big shows. He came into his own last year, not only by taking the Big Ten title, but the national intercollegiate crown and, the qualifying medal in the national amateur tournament as well. Johnny will return to these parts within ten days to begin workouts for the national open at North Shore. He did so well at Fresh Meadow last year that he did not have to qualify this year.

The slender Michigan blond, who hits his shots without hesitation and has a stride which always brings him up to the green the first in a foursome, had reason to be irked by those last nine holes at Kildeer, for they had been the bane of his game in the first three rounds of the tournament. A glance at his nine hole cards for the first 54 holes are sufficient proof. They were 40—38—78; 35—41—76; and 36—40—76. The second and third rounds were particularly painful, for the second nines in each case spoiled excellent starts. How well Johnny got even is proved by that 34, the best card of the meet.

Wind Still Blows.

The winds which sent so many scores into the 80's and 90's on Tuesday abated very little yesterday, and Fischer was the only player in the tournament to complete the 72 holes with each of his four rounds in the seventies.

Fischer shot a 76 in the morning round, duplicating his afternoon effort of Tuesday. He was out in 36, but the homeward nine stopped him again and he took a 40.

It was in the afternoon round that Johnny settled down. He batted out a 37 on the first nine and then knocked two strokes off par, coming home with a 34. His round included three birdies, one at the third on a four foot putt, and a seven foot putt for another on the 15th. His best shot of the round however, was at the 13th, where he holed out a long one from the sloping edge of the green for a

BATTERY'S BATS WHIP PHILLIES IN SERIES FINAL

It's 6th Victory of Year for Lon.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Ol' Doc Lon Warneke, who makes fainting Cub fans sturdy and inspires the birdies to sing in the trees and pretty flowers to grow where once thrived thistles, kept office hours again yesterday. The doctor, aided by his main and constant interne, Dr. Gabby Hartnett, was the boss man at a cheering Cub victory over the persistent and pernicious Phillies. The score was Chicago, 5; Philadelphia, 2. All the Cub total was driven in by Lon and his battery mate—Lon accomplishing his No. 2 homer and a double and Gabby his No. 8 homer.

The Warneke-Hartnett plan of taking charge of the offensive in games in which they form the battery is getting to be the most consistent thing about the entire Cub scheme of life. Warneke's victory yesterday was his sixth, and in four of the half dozen wins, Lon and Gabby have supplied the batting power that brought about victory.

Lon Bears Down.

Lon was pitted against Ed Holley in yesterday's final of the Phillies and Ed was working with the confidence of having licked the Cubs 7 to 1 on May 13. So it was apparent from the outset that the Cub ace was prepared to bear down even more than usual to see that there would be no repetition of Holley's success.

In the first three innings the slugging Phils didn't get a man to first. This business of retiring the first nine Phillies pleased Lon much, but at this point he discovered that the Cubs hadn't done any scoring in his behalf. And the Arkansan was to lead off the Cub third. He stepped right up and whacked his homer into the left center field bleacher.

In the fourth inning Chuck Klein, who made two singles and his No. 9 homer for his share of the eighth hits off Warneke, singled with one down, but a double play halted the prospect of a tie in that session.

In the fifth, however, Hal Lee hit the right foul line with a triple and scored the tying run on Davis' infield hit. Then developed the only serious threat of the Phillies. Finn followed with a single to right, putting Davis on third with only one out and the Phils saw prospects of scoring the run that would have put them ahead. But it was not to be. Bill Herman made a fine stop of Holley's grounder near first and made a great throw to Jurges to start a double play. Jurges' throw to Grimm was very wide, but the double play was completed when Grimm stretched his full length along the foul line and speared the throw as he sprawled with his toe just tipping the bag.

Gabby Comes Through.

So the 1 to 1 tie prevailed until one was out in the sixth. At this point Babe Herman, who hadn't made a hit in the series, slashed a wicked double to center—his No. 10 double of the year—and reached third while Demaree was beating out an infield roller. Grimm contributed the second out with a foul to Davis and Hartnett missed badly on his first swing. But Gabby is not a gent to be fooled twice in a row. He socked Holley's next pitch over the left field wall, scoring the Babe and Demaree ahead of him.

After Gabby had circled the bases Holley showed he was a bit upset by hitting Jurges with a pitched ball. Then Warneke came to bat and his first swing was so vicious that he wrenched his left leg. There was a pause for first aid treatment, and for a time it appeared that Lon would have to retire from the game.

What's a Little Injury?

But Lon wasn't to be chased out of his party merely by being deprived of the free use of his left leg. In a few minutes he was back up at the plate. And he smacked the first pitch on the line to the corner formed by the center field bleachers and the left field wall, scoring Jurges with the Cubs' last run. It was a triple really, but Lon had to slow down a little on account of having only one leg available.

The only other run of the game after Jurges came home was Klein's homer, made to start the ninth. The three succeeding batters were infield outs.

Golden Way Wins Easily in Jamaica Event

New York, May 24.—[Special.]—Joseph E. Widener's colt Golden Way, which is expected by his admirers to cut a figure in the 3 year old division this season, won the featured Montana purse at Jamaica today in an encouraging manner. In his seasonal debut last week he was only third, but scored over a field of higher quality in the Montana after being made the favorite at 7 to 10.

At the end of a fast run mile and seventy yards in 1:43, Golden Way was three lengths before Jovius from the Belair stud, while C. W. Golden's Flying Dragon lasted to save third. After that Nimbus, Union, and Wahoo crossed the line as named.

Will Run in Withers.

Golden Way is engaged in the Withers at Belmont Park and very probably will be one of the choices for that race as the result of his effort today. He carried only 106 pounds, but the others also were in light and the time was close to being the best at the meeting.

The string of winning choices was broken in the fifth, when Mrs. Payne Whitney's Curacao gained a nose decision over the Anall stable's Silk Flag. The Greentree racer was the second choice at 9 to 5. Jockey Silvio Coucci got a warm reception when he brought Curacao back to the stewards' stand after the close finish.

Halcyon Is Favorite.

C. V. Whitney's Halcyon was made favorite at 11 to 10 after an opening at 9 to 10, but was beaten five lengths for the place. Rip Van Winkle brought up the rear a distant fourth. The test was at six furlongs and the winner finished in 1:11 4-5 under 113 pounds.

1ST REIGH COUNT COLT WILL RACE AT BOWIE TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., May 24.—The first of Reigh Count's offspring, a brown colt which has been named Wild Reigh, is scheduled to go to the post in the first race at the Bowie track tomorrow afternoon. The race is a dash at 5 furlongs for 2 year olds that have never won a race. Wild Reigh has been credited with some brilliant workouts lately.

Reigh Count is the great turf champion of a few years back which raced for Mrs. John Hertz. Wild Reigh was foaled at the Hertz farm near Cary, Ill. There are about 20 sons and daughters of Reigh Count's first crop in training, but Wild Reigh will be the first to be tested under silks.

UNCLE HENRY, away fast, but taken under restraint and rated off the pace, responded when called upon, came through between leaders and, getting to front, weakened, but lasted. LADY MENIFEE, under slight restraint for three-eighths, came away slowly at stretch turn and bore out badly while holding on fairly well. CHU CHU, away slowly, steadily improved her position and was strongest at all in late stages.

Went to post at 2:40½. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won handily; second and third driving.

MY KIND, under strong restraint first three-eighths, gradually wore down DUSTINA without need of strong pressure and was inclined to bear out while drawing away slowly in final fifty yards. DUSTINA had good speed, was taken to inside after a quarter and held on gamely, but was not good enough. LONG BIT saved much ground and held on evenly in final drive.

Winner trained by H. Wells. Went to post at 3:17½. At post 4 minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving. Daily double, $310.50.

LADY OF GRACE, going in her best form and forced to race wide almost throughout, responded to light pressure after reaching final quarter and, wearing down BILLIE'S ORPHAN, came away fast but had little left. BILLIE'S ORPHAN taken into lead, was well rated, could not withstand winner, and weakened in final eighth, but was vastly best of others. FLYING GIRL, a strong factor from start, dropped back as if through entering stretch, but rallied weakly and outstayed RED CASINO.

DORIS JEAN found fine speed from start, gamely raced GALAPAN into submission, and took a long lead quickly when entering stretch, but weakened and won under strong urging. GUNFIRE, never a great distance back, stood strong riding gamely and outfinished SIS AGNES in final strides. Latter, away fast, stumbled badly soon after the start, lost ground in stretch, but held on stubbornly and might have been beat.

PANCOAST handily mulled away in first quarter, maintained his speed easily, and won in hand. FIELD GOAL saved ground at the turn, bore out slightly in stretch, and weakened, but outstayed BRIDGEPORT. Latter closed with good speed on inside.

AFTER DARK away fast, was inclined to bear out approaching the turn, came away while being brought to inside after a quarter, and weakened after five-eighths, but stalled off first MARCH KING and then SAD KNIGHT. Latter rallied to punishment after reaching final quarter, but hung near end. MARCH KING, on inside throughout, was under strong pressure the final quarter and weakened near end.

SPUD, much the best, quickly worked his way out of close quarters at far turn, raced to the lead with a rush and, on outside entering the stretch, after taking safe advantage, was eased in final fifty yards. ROYAL TREASURE, forced to race wide throughout, closed resolutely and headed BRAINS in final stride. Latter, restrained first three-eighths, went gamely in the drive.

THREE AMERICAN HORSES TO RACE IN EPSOM DERBY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, England, May 24.—Three American owned horses will be in the Epsom Downs Derby May 31, it was announced today. They are Statesman, owned by Victor Emanuel; Myosotis, owned by W. M. G. Singer, and John McCormack's Franz Hals. Twenty-three others were nominated for the race. None of the American owned horses is favored in the betting.

The favorites to win the famous English classic include Lord Derby's Hyperion and Thrapston. Among the horses in the race are King Salmon, Solar Boy, Blue Grass, Felicitation, Gaymanas, Gino, Happy Call, Harlinero, Interlace, and Lochiel.

Evanston Speedway to Run Five Races Sunday

One hundred laps of racing, a distance of 50 miles, comprise the program of stock car races to be presented Sunday at the Evanston Motor speedway, Lincoln and Devon avenues. The meet will be the first of a series of weekly shows to be presented at the north side oval this summer. The events will be divided into two races at 10 laps, two at 20 laps and a windup at 40 laps. The fastest qualifiers of the two ten mile races will compete in the windup.

COE, SAGAMORE HORSES TO RUN AT ARLINGTON

The William R. Coe and Sagamore stables, trained by J. H. (Bud) Stotler, will participate in the 30 days of racing at Arlington Park, it was announced yesterday by Otto W. Lehmann, president of the Arlington Park Jockey club. Heading this strong combination is Ladysman, a candidate for the Arlington classic, which first entered the limelight last summer when he won the Arlington Futurity.

Stotler notified President Lehmann that he expects to have about 30 thoroughbreds ready for the Arlington meeting, most of which are the property of Mr. Coe. Other stars owned by the New York sportsman are Osculator, winner of the Clark handicap at Louisville and a candidate for the Arlington Stars and Stripes handicaps, and Pomponius, a running mate for Ladysman.

Chief among the Sagamore horses is the 3 year old Wave On, who had a good record last year. This colt has not been to the post this season. Jockey John Bejshak will accompany the stable here from Belmont Park.

De Paul Tennis Team Defeats Loyola, 5 to 1

De Paul university's tennis team defeated Loyola, 5 to 1, on De Paul's courts yesterday. It was De Paul's third consecutive victory.

Weights Favor Langford in Oster Battle

A difference of three pounds may decide the return bout between Willie Oster and Freddy Langford at the Cicero Stadium tomorrow. Oster, a 165 pound fighter, whipped Langford in a previous meeting several weeks ago. The weight tomorrow is set at 162 pounds. Langford will have no trouble making the agreed poundage, but Oster will. It may weaken him.

Puggy Weinert, Brighton Park welterweight, is to finish drills today at St. Agnes' gymnasium, which is managed by Russ Whalen, former lightweight, for his eight round contest with Vincent Sireci of New York at Cicero. He is expected to give Sireci a better test than did Mickey O'Shea, who was knocked out by Vincent in two rounds.

Five matches, one at 10 rounds, three at eight and one at six rounds will comprise the card at Mills stadium a week from tomorrow. King Levinsky and Tuffy Griffith clash in the 10 round match. One of the eight round encounters will bring together Jack Roper and Eddie Simms. Tony Cancela is to appear in another. His foe may be Izzy Gastanaga. Marty Sampson has signed for the remaining eight round bout. He is booked to meet Vincent Sireci or Ray Tramble. Walter Madey and Bob Stone, local heavyweights, will clash in the six rounder.

Johnny Pena, eastern featherweight, now making his home here, yesterday turned down an offer to meet Varias Milling in a 15 round contest at Mills stadium on June 14. Fear of an injury which would necessitate cancellation of an eight round match with Nick Scalba on the Barney Ross-Tony Canzoneri lightweight championship card at the Stadium on June 23 was given as the reason.

Kid Irish of Benld, Ill., state featherweight title claimant, is unable to accept a rematch with Jackie Sharkey on the west side June 2 due to blood poisoning in his right arm. Immediately after his contest against Johnny Fitzpatrick 10 days ago Irish underwent an operation at a Gillespie, Ill., hospital. The ailment will keep Irish idle indefinitely. Sharkey is in town to box Jackie Sweitzer at Western stadium Tuesday. Fred Hawkette and Nick Serondi are to meet on the card.

A contest between Johnny Phagan, 1932 International Golden Gloves welterweight titleholder, and Bucky Lawless of New York is being arranged by Edward Purvis, Sparta stadium matchmaker, for June 9. . . . Mickey O'Shea is slated to fight at Northwest stadium next Wednesday.

An amateur boxing tournament at Roseland on June 5 is being sponsored by the South End Chamber of Commerce. There are to be 18 bouts in six weight classes. . . . Billy Gladstone, north side junior welterweight, started drills yesterday for a 10 round match with Iowa Joe Rivers at Madison, Wis., June 3. . . . Jack Root, former light heavyweight champion, has arrived from Los Angeles, Cal. He will be here several days. . . . Paul Dazzo, Chicago lightweight, did his first boxing yesterday in almost three months at Trafton's gymnasium against Bill Reardon. . . . Varias Milling and Petey Sarron probably will clash at Pittsburgh on June 22.

BRIDGES YIELDS ONLY ONE HIT; TIGERS WIN, 3-1

Kuhel's Homer in Eighth Gives Senators Run.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—(AP)—The dream of Tommy Bridges, Detroit pitcher, to hurl a no run, no hit game failed of realization today by one hit just as it had in a previous game with the Washington Senators. The Tigers won the contest, 3 to 1.

TOM BRIDGES.

It was Dave Harris, substitute Senator outfielder, inserted as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning of a game last season, who pounded out a single against Bridges to keep him out of the no-hit, no-run class. Washington was hopelessly behind at the time, and the useless single stirred a storm of controversy.

The case was different today, however, for although the Tigers had obtained nine hits up to the eighth inning off Monte Weaver, he had kept the safeties scattered sufficiently to account for only three runs.

GILL DEFEATS SHERIDAN IN 6 ROUND BOUT

Eddie Gill, St. Charles, Ill., middleweight boxer, defeated Homer Sheridan, Sioux City, Ia., in the six round windup of the first outdoor boxing show of the season at the Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard, last night. Bob Stone won from Biff Bennett in the four round semi-windup.

Tony Muscarello stopped Arthur Geer in the third round in one of the preliminary bouts. In other matches Pete Kalber beat Schriver in four rounds; Young Scotty stopped Jack Kane in the fourth, and Frank Sigilio was awarded a four round decision over Art Donovan.

Braves Arrive Today for Four Games with Cubs

Manager Charley Grimm yesterday put himself and Bill Jurges back in the starting lineup after a spell on the bench. They were the only Cubs who didn't make at least one hit against the Phillies, but Grimm pulled the fielding gem of the week on a double play in the fifth inning in which Jurges was the middle man.

The Boston Braves, who lost the last three of their four games with the Cubs in Boston to give the Cubs one of their two series of the season to date, will open a four game stay here this afternoon. Malone has been chosen to oppose Betts.

Official confirmation was given to the report, published two weeks ago, that Saturday's game will be set over to Sunday to make a double header. Cub fans and players who want to attend the opening of A Century of Progress will not have to miss anything at Wrigley field Saturday, this being given as the reason for the switch.

Neither side made an error in the last two games of the Cubs-Phillies series. The game yesterday had no misplays, but errors were averted the day before through technicalities, there being plenty of fuzzy happenings but no scorable errors.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 24.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, after coming from behind three times to tie the score, put over the winning run in the tenth inning to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 5, today.

Adams Comorosky, batting for Chagnon, drove out a single that sent Tony Piet, who had doubled, across the plate with the deciding run. Lopez and Jordan accounted for all of the Dodgers' runs, the former with a home run in the second with two mates on base and the latter with singles in the sixth and eighth innings. Vaughan also hit a homer for the Pirates. Score:

REDS, 3; GIANTS, 1.

Cincinnati, O., May 24.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today defeated the New York Giants, 3 to 1, behind the steady pitching of Bob Smith. Cincinnati got away to a three run lead off George Uhle in the early innings.

The Reds scored one run in the first inning on John Moore's triple and Hafey's sharp single to right. A single and a double, together with three successive walks, produced two more runs in the third and sent Uhle to the showers.

Smith kept the Giants' seven hits well scattered, except in the seventh, when singles by Mancuso and Davis, coupled with Adams' fumble of Manager Terry's grounder, gave the Giants their only run. Score:

DEAR HARVEY: How many are there today who used to ride out to old Washington Park race track on the cable cars via Wabash and Cottage Grove avenues, get off at Brennan's café [called it caff in them days] and beat it in the back way to the Washington Park grand stand? Yes, and on the way, at about the half-mile post, was Lucky Baldwin's cottage. Them was the happy days.

My thoughts flew back to Lucky Baldwin a few days ago when I saw the name of Newgro, which had won previously at Louisville, among the entries at the new Washington Park meeting. There are few persons who know that Newgro, under the direction here of Paddy Knebelkamp, is about the only present racer worth a thin dime descended from the mighty Lexington on the male side. And there is no chance for him to continue the line, as he is a gelding.

Newgro is by Lantados, a horse bred by Miss Anita Baldwin at her Santa Anita ranch, which was the heritage of her father. Lantados died last year. He was a grandson of the mighty Emperor of Norfolk, American Derby winner of 1888, which was by Norfolk, the greatest son of Lexington.

Farewell, Beloved!

I say my last good-by to you—
My heart and eyes are filled with tears
Like those that you have kissed away
So I would laugh at griefs and fears.

There is a longing in my heart
To feel again your soft, sweet touch
Upon my cheeks, my eyes, my lips—
Your tender care I need so much.

You are no longer white and pure—
It was my fault! Tears aren't enough
To soothe my breaking heart. Good-by,
My worn-out, cast-off powder puff!

Sport Interest.

Unexpectedly heavy application for THE TRIBUNE'S free golf school instruction and heavy balloting for choice of teams in THE TRIBUNE sponsored greatest baseball game of all time, July 6, indicate increased interest rather than any diminution in sports and sporting events. When the "new deal" puts more people to work, if it does, we look for markedly improved attendance and gate receipts at all athletic and amusement ventures. Interest is proved still to be there.

Fair Students Jam Fairways for Tribune's Golf School

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Thousands of women gathered last night at the 27 courses of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, which is coöperating with THE TRIBUNE in giving free instruction to all men, women, boys, and girls who wish to learn how to play golf.

The women proved fully as enthusiastic as the men had been on the preceding evening, and they seemed just as quick to learn. Though it was their first lesson of the six weeks course, many of them showed a knack for following instructions which indicated that they will be pretty fair golfers before the summer is over.

Shift Memorial Day Lessons.

The women made a pleasant picture as they gathered on the green fairways in their brightly colored costumes. They were just as ready as the men had been to concentrate on the instructions of the professionals, and after the lessons were over many of them lingered to ask questions.

The fact that next Tuesday is Memorial day has prompted many clubs to plan changes in the schedule of lessons. Normally that would be men's night. Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, chairman of the golf school's arrangements committee, said that his club intends to postpone next Tuesday's class for men to Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The women will be coached on the same night at 7:15.

He suggested that all the clubs of the association follow this plan. However, as this will be left to the discretion of the individual clubs, Walsh suggested that the pupils get into communication with the officials of the course at which they are taking lessons, so as to learn what arrangements are to be made.

Pipe O' Peace Picks Monday.

Pipe O' Peace has announced that next Tuesday's class for men will be postponed to the following Monday, June 5. An enthusiastic class of 245 women attended last night's lesson at that club. Instructions were given by William Pachot and Paul Hutchins.

All of the courses which have particularly large enrollments have provided extra teachers so that no pupil is neglected. At Evergreen last night's class of 662 women was divided among seven instructors. Al Megeff was assisted by Don Gardner, Jimmy Cunningham, Roy Hutchinson, Jack Hackett, Bill Porter, and Fred Clisbee. Specially designed sound apparatus helped get the lesson across.

Stay Late At Big Oaks.

On the rolling fairways of Hickory Hills 125 women assembled for a lesson from Harry Adams and Lester Stuck. At Big Oaks there were 295 women who were so much interested in Jack Sturm's instructions that they remained long after the lesson was over to ask questions.

George Jenkins and Pat McConnell coached a class of 140 at Northbrook. At Glenbard more than 200 gathered from Chicago, the western suburbs, and the Fox River valley towns for instructions from Joe Sturm.

A huge class of 900 turned out at Harlem for instruction by William Philpot and his assistants. At White Pines Jack Daray coached 175 women, about 25 per cent of whom never had played golf.

The class at Woodridge was enthusiastic, 80 women receiving instructions from Joe Smith and Ralph Mair. Ted Woolley supervised the teaching at Vernon, 125 women being present. More than 250 were present at Pickwick, where Joe Roseman and Lou Humphreys gave the lesson.

Abe Espinosa coached 150 at Cog Hill, Buck Ewing tutored a class of 50 at Hillcrest, and at the Lake Avenue Day-Nite course Bill Crawford and Dave Patullo gave instructions to 85.

STANFORD TRACK STARS TO ENTER NATIONAL MEET

Stanford university will be represented by six men in the National Collegiate A. A. championship meet, which will bring together the nation's leading track and field stars June 16 and 17 at Soldiers' field, it was announced by Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten conference athletic commissioner, yesterday. The meet, one of the features on A Century of Progress sports schedule, will be held at night.

Coach Dink Templeton of Stanford, en route to the I. C. A. A. A. A. games at Cambridge, Mass., stopped in Chicago and named Henry La Borde, Nelson Gray, and Dunn in the shot put and discus; Bill Miller, Olympic champion, in the pole vault; Meier in the high and low hurdles, and Ben Eastman in the 440 and 880 yard runs.

Southern California may also send several athletes to the meet, according to Maj. Griffith. The Trojans won the team championship in 1931, but did not compete last year when Indiana captured the title.

OUTBOARD RACES WILL DEDICATE WOLF LAKE PARK

Leading outboard drivers of the central west will compete Decoration day in the dedication of the new $1,000,000 Wolf lake recreation courses, Calumet avenue and Indianapolis boulevard, Hammond, Ind. There will be competition in five divisions. The races are sanctioned by the National Outboard association.

In addition to the outboard course, a one mile asphalt track has been built and it is planned to hold auto races and outboard events throughout the summer. The Wolf lake project is the first major development to be undertaken in the Greater Calumet district in the last four years.

It also will include an airport for both land and sea planes and a bathing beach which will accommodate 25,000. All have been constructed on ground reclaimed from Wolf lake.

Logan Squares Sign Gene Rye to Play Outfield

Manager John Callahan has signed Gene Rye to play in the outfield for the Logan Squares. Rye starred in the Texas league in 1930 and 1932. Once he poled five home runs in a single game. The Red Sox bought him after the season of 1930 and tried him in '31 but he broke his wrist and ruined his chance.

John Brice, the leading pitcher of the Duffy Florals, has gone to join the Baltimore club of the International league and a deal is now on between the Duffys and the Chicago Firemen whereby the former will get a star pitcher, perhaps before Sunday.

One of the youngest players in the Wisconsin-Illinois league is Ray O'Connell, who played a few innings last Sunday at first base for the Mills team. He still is a student in Lake View High school and his friends think he has a baseball future.

N. H. Shyer, who manages the Spencer Coals team, is convinced he has another star pitcher in Billy Grimes, who went sixteen innings Sunday in a duel with Douglas McWeeny of the Aurora. The game ended 3 to 3. Grimes fanned 14. He was with Davenport last year and has had two years' experience in the Three Eye league.

Buz Dalton, who played half of a game at shortstop Sunday for the Mills team, is the son of Bill Dalton, who was quite a figure in semi-pro baseball in Chicago twenty years ago. The lad got his early training with the Amphions Athletic club team.

A change was made in the schedule this week that will put the Spencer Coals in Logan Square park Sunday for a double header. The House of David club is there for two games Memorial day.

Chet Sullivan, boss of the Chicago Firemen, says he has a star battery in Clarence Struess and Emmett Dorsey. Struess pitched a four hit game against the Duffys Sunday but lost, 3 to 2.

Glen View Beats Evanston, 20-7, in North Shore Golf

The North Shore Golf league opened yesterday with a series of five matches at Evanston. Glen View piled up the biggest margin, defeating the home team, 20 to 7. Wilmette and North Shore were 19 to 8 victors over Illinois and Sunset Ridge, respectively. Bob o' Link defeated Briergate, 18 to 9, while Skokie and Westmoreland divided with 13½ points each.

C. C. Hopkins of Glen View led the individual shooters with a 74, followed by a 75 from Chick Evans who competed with Skokie. They were trailed by E. O. Schildberg, Jim Miller and Rial Rolfe, each with 76.

The league will hold its next meeting at Skokie on June 29. The remainder of the schedule follows: Briergate, July 12; Westmoreland, July 26; North Shore, Aug. 16, and Sunset Ridge, Aug. 29.

The Northwest Golf league will inaugurate its 1933 season today at Edgewater with the following series of matches scheduled: Edgewater vs. Kildeer, Westward Ho vs. Rolling Green; Medinah vs. Ridgemoor, and Park Ridge vs. Bunker Hill.

AUSTIN DEFEATS CRANE, 11-2, TO REMAIN IN RACE

Austin won a chance to play in the final rounds for first place in the west section of the City High school baseball league by defeating Crane at McKinley park yesterday, 11 to 2. Austin, with four victories and two defeats will play Harrison which has won five and lost two, today at McKinley park. If Austin beats Harrison it will play Marshall for the title. Marshall has won four games and lost three.

In a central section game, Tilden beat the last place Hyde park nine, 9 to 1, at Fuller park. Tilden has won eight games and lost none, safely holding first place in that section.

In the south section, Bowen beat Fenger in a double-header played at Fernwood park yesterday, 3 to 0 and 13 to 2. Bowen has clinched first place in that section, having won seven and lost none. James McKirchy of Bowen was not allowed to pitch in either of yesterday's games, due to a hip injury, but played second base and hit a home run in the second inning of the first game.

DEMETRAL SEEKS FIFTH STRAIGHT AGAINST ROLLER

Roller hasn't appeared in Chicago for two seasons. He has a 30 pound weight advantage over Demetral, tipping the beam at 240 pounds.

The winner will be decided best two out of three falls with a two hour time limit.

Four exhibition bouts are on the card, Carl Schulz, Chicago German heavyweight, meeting Joe Rogacki in the semi-windup. Frank Wilger meets Jack Zeravich, Fred Kohler faces George Schwab in a light heavyweight engagement, and Fred Holtz opposes Gus Clem in the 165 pound division.

RAIN PREVENTS QUALIFYING TESTS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—(AP)—A heavy rainstorm today prevented further attempts of drivers at the Indianapolis Motor speedway to qualify for the 500 mile race to be run May 30.

In hopes the track would dry swiftly, officials waited several hours before calling off the trials for the day. Twenty-three drivers already have qualified for starting positions which are limited to 42. Others have until Sunday to make the required speed of 100 miles per hour for 25 miles.

The speedway management announced today that Lawrence Fisher of Detroit, vice president of General Motors, will be the official referee for the race.

New York, May 24. — Yesterday's advance in bond prices was extended today, with United States government securities in the lead.

The rise was given impetus by the announcement that the treasury has authorized open market purchase of government bonds by federal reserve banks.

Gains of ¼ point and more were registered by both long and short term government issues. A new 1933 high was scored by treasury 3s, which approached to within 1 point of the offering price of par.

Remington Arms Soars.

In active trading domestic corporation bonds rose to 5 points. Demand was greatest for rails and industrials. A feature was Remington Arms' spurt of 22 points to par on the news that the Du Pont company has acquired a controlling interest.

Buying brought out by more favorable reports for April resulted in gains for such railroad issues as Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago and North Western, Illinois Central, Nickel Plate, Northern Pacific and Southern railway.

Foreign bonds ruled higher in a smaller market.

NEW ISSUE.

The Harris Trust and Savings bank is offering $500,000 Suffolk county, New York, 5½ per cent bonds. These bonds are issued for highway and emergency relief purposes. The issue matures serially from May 1, 1934, to 1953.

Texas Corp.

Kindly give me a few words regarding Texas corporation stock.—N. C.

Texas corporation, one of the largest petroleum units outside the Standard Oil group, is well integrated. It does an international business. Its refineries are advantageously located to supply outlets throughout the United States.

The petroleum industry is faced by complicated problems. The two most important are taxes and overproduction. Texas corporation and other large organizations have had to contend with unfair competition by small units that evade taxes. Furthermore, the major oil producing states have instituted proration measures to restrict production. Although the large corporations have, in the main, lived up to proration orders, many "wildcatters" have taken advantage of restricted production and consequent improved prices, and increased the flows of their wells.

In April, 1933, major purchasers of crude in the east Texas field slashed the price from 50 cents to 10 cents a barrel. This followed the action of Texas authorities in raising permitted output from 400,000 to 700,000 or more barrels a day.

Reflecting the chaotic condition of the industry Texas corporation lost $2,162,000 in 1932. Loss in 1931 was $9,954,000. Net income in 1930 was $29,553,000, or $1.53 per share, against net of $48,318,000 in 1929.

Despite troubled times, current position has remained sound, although it is not as strong as in preceding years. Current assets at the close of 1932 totaled $160,954,000 and current liabilities were $27,528,000. Working capital was $133,426,000, against $1sb,487,000 the year before and $197,693,000 at the close of 1930. During this period funded debt decreased about $7,500,000.

The 9,486,417 shares of $25 par capital stock have paid dividends uninterruptedly since 1902. The stock now pays $1 a quarter.

The company is well intrenched in the industry. It has ample reserves and a well rounded out distributing system. Pending any improvement of conditions in the oil industry, however, not much in the way of earnings can be expected.

The stock is medium grade at present. The bonds are currently considered sound.

GENERAL WOOD PREDICTS GAINS FROM INFLATION

Money Policy Basis of Sound Prosperity.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., is convinced that the Roosevelt administration has embarked on a monetary policy that will result in a sound and lasting prosperity in the United States.

GEN. R. E. WOOD. [Moffett Photo.]

The monetary questions, he told newspaper men yesterday, are at the root of the present economic situation, and expressed the belief that the recent price gains in commodities would vanish over night if this country decided to restore the dollar to its former gold parity.

"I am not one of those persons who believe that all we needed was a psychological change," he declared. "I was in London a few days after the United States announced its desertion of the gold standard. The action of the Liverpool wheat and cotton market was remarkable. Prices advanced in terms of dollars in almost exact ratio to the depreciation of the American dollar. Since than prices have outrun the dollar depreciation, but that does not obscure the fact that prices rose because the dollar was cheapening."

Studied Inflation in England.

It was the first time that Gen. Wood publicly expressed his opinions on the business situation since his return from his recent European trip. He made the trip, he explained, to find out first hand what the effect of inflation had been in England.

Although he found some resentment among Englishmen who regarded America's desertion of gold as a political trick, he declared that the "liberal element" in England applauded America's action.

"I believe it essential," Gen. Wood said, "that we send strong and capable men as delegates to the London economic conference. The Europeans are good traders, and we can't afford to be bargained into going back to the old parity of the dollar."

Asked that degree of inflation he thought necessary to restore economic well being in this country the chief executive of the largest chain store and mail order house said that he believed a reduction to a 66 to 75 cent dollar would be adequate.

Thinks Devaluation Sound.

"I don't want to pose as an expert. Persons in whose judgment I have faith regard such a devaluation as sound," he explained.

He said that he has been optimistic over business prospects since the desertion of gold. "I was not hopeful before that," he added.

He disclosed that Sears-Roebuck had placed orders for 20 million dollars of materials during the week of the bank moratorium for fall requirements. "And that took a lot of courage," he said.

Sears-Roebuck's business has been showing gains each week since April 26 and has been on a profitable basis since March 27, he said.

Most of the buying has been in staple goods but people are also beginning to buy other goods such as furniture and rugs, he said.

"By June we and other merchandising companies should be running ahead of a year ago. In the period ended last Saturday volume was off 9 per cent from a year ago, but including only merchandise sales the spread from 1932 was only 6 per cent," he said.

In answer to questions he ventured the prediction that a "real buying wave" would develop this fall.

Allied Chemical Report Deadline Set by Exchange

New York, May 24.—(AP)—The governing committee of the New York Stock exchange today voted to strike from the list, on Aug. 23, the common and preferred shares of the Allied Chemical and Dye corporation unless in the meantime, the company complies with a ruling ordering it to furnish stockholders and the exchange more informative financial statements.

Steel Output Goes Higher; Rate Is 38%

National steel ingot production has advanced to 38 per cent of capacity from 35 per cent a week ago, according to the Iron Age. The new level is the highest since June, 1931. Output at Chicago showed a parallel improvement with an increase to 37 per cent from 33 per cent.

"Renewed confidence in the persistence of recent improvement in the iron and steel market characterizes the attitude of both buyers and sellers," says the journal. "Such hesitancy as was caused by the recent pause in steel demand or by the reaction in scrap has been dispelled by increased buoyancy in the automobile industry, a new spurt in tin plate business, a steady broadening of miscellaneous steel buying and further price advances on both finished steel and pig iron."

Auto Demand Holds Up.

Contrary to a widely held expectation that the steel industry would lose some of its automotive support, the retail demand for automobiles is gaining momentum and motor car builders have accordingly revised their production schedules upward, according to Iron Age, which reports that "it now seems likely that May assemblies will exceed 200,000 units."

Tin plate demand has been quickened by increased specifications from the pineapple canning industry in Hawaii, says the journal, and tin plate output has risen above 80 per cent.

Fabricated structural steel lettings, amounting to 15,500 tons, are the heaviest since early in April, with the exception of the first week of this month.

Raised by an award of 1,000 tons for the Schlitz brewery in Milwaukee, sizeable tonnages for brewing tanks continue to be booked by plate fabricators.

POWER OUTPUT RISES

The output of electric power both in Chicago and the country as a whole for the week ended May 20 recorded a gain over the like period of 1932. This is the third consecutive week of improvement over the preceding year.

The output of electricity in the Chicago district totaled 86,143,000 kilowatt hours for the week of May 20 as compared with 85,721,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding year of 1932—a gain of .5 per cent. Part of the good Chicago showing was attributed to weather conditions.

For the entire country, the Edison Electric institute reported that electric power production totaled 1,483,099,000 kilowatt hours compared with 1,468,935,000 in the preceding week and 1,435,731,000 in the like week of 1932. This was an increase of 3.3 per cent over the figure for a year ago. In the week ended May 6 the rise was 5 per cent and in the week ended May 13 the gain was 2.2 per cent.

CIGARET PRICES TO BE INCREASED, NEW YORK REPORT

New York, May 24.—An advance in cigaret prices of 50 cents a thousand to $6 is imminent, according to reliable reports in Wall street. Some quarters close to the industry believe the increase may come as soon as this weekend while in others the date is set for June 1.

The rise is made possible because the "big four" companies, through recent reductions, have so seriously impaired the business of the so-called "10-cent brands" that they no longer are considered a vital factor in the competitive situation.

During the first four months of this year total cigaret production has held just about even with last year. The "big four," however, have increased their share of the business. It is estimated that the "10-cent brands" now are operating at only about 40 per cent of last year's rate.

Prices Compared with a Year Ago

Broker Finds the Public Has a Lot of Cash

A partner in one large La Salle street brokerage house says there has been an unusual amount of buying stocks for cash recently. "If any one thinks there isn't a lot of money hereabouts, they are crazy," he remarked.

* *

"A hostess in a Park avenue apartment rang for her butler to take away a tray. The butler came in smoking a cigar. One of the guests expressed surprise. 'Ever since James has been chipping in on the rent we haven't been able to do a thing with him,' the hostess explained."

* *

Wall street is reported as being excited over recent profit made in grain by Thomas Howell, one of Chicago's leading grain market operators. The New Yorkers have been putting Mr. Howell's profits as high as $10,000,000. "Pit bookkeepers" on the Chicago Board of Trade say the New York guess is probably too high, estimating $2,000,000 as being nearer the mark. The Chicago operator is said to have started buying wheat when it was selling around 50 cents a bushel and corn when it was below 30 cents. Mr. Howell, a quiet and unassuming man, keeps his market operations to himself.

* *

If any one wants evidence of the change in psychology let him take a look at the current quotations on Chicago and Northwestern common stock. From a low price of $1.25 a share the stock has recovered to $9.75 at the close yesterday. When the stock was bringing around $1 the talk of receivership was so widespread that it was necessary for Fred W. Sargent, president, to publicly deny that reorganization was contemplated. Now the price of the stock tells its own story.

* *

Members of La Salle street firms dealing in government bonds express themselves as at sea as to what to expect. The market for governments has been moving up and down—and mostly up—to such an extent as to keep them guessing. There has been considerable buying by banks in addition to that of the federal reserve.

N. Y. JURIST DECIDES 'GOLD BONDS' MAY BE PAID IN OTHER MONEY

New York, May 24.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Phenix Ingraham today ruled that the temporary withdrawal of the United States from the gold standard has voided the use of gold to pay off bonds which provide for gold payments.

The ruling was made on application of the Irving Trust company to decide the point, as it is about to receive payment from the city of $2,850,000 for gold bonds of the Libby hotel, which was razed to widen Chrystie street.

"By the President's proclamation," Justice Ingraham said, "all gold coin and gold certificates have been withdrawn from circulation. Upon the surrender of gold coin or gold certificates the holder has received other currency of equal coin value. At the present time there is but one lawful medium of exchange and this has the same coin value as gold of equal amount.

"I accordingly instruct the trustees to accept current funds and upon payment of the amount due to satisfy the mortgage."

DOLLAR MOVES LOWER AGAINST FRANC, STERLING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 24.—The dollar depreciated further in foreign exchange today as the opinion spread abroad that active measures of inflation were about to be undertaken here through the federal reserve purchases of United States government bonds and the establishment of an exchange control.

Sterling was 1⅝ cents dearer at $3.92⅞, the franc rose 1 point to 4.57 cents, guilders gained 7 points to 46.72 cents, belgas were up 6 points to 16.17 cents and Swiss francs were 2 points better at 22.40 cents.

Local banking circles continued to be without information with respect to the proposed exchange stabilization plans of the government. The prevailing opinion is that "stabilization" and "equalization" are somewhat misleading words to use in describing what the government is likely to do. Its operations, most bankers believe, will be designed merely to prevent an appreciation of the dollar in terms of other currencies, which is the way the British exchange equalization fund has worked.

U. S. Wary of Speculating to Peg Dollar

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 24.—America probably will not engage in international speculation to regulate the foreign value of the dollar, Dr. O. M. W. Sprague, former economic adviser to the Bank of England, inferred today when he was sworn in as executive assistant to the secretary of the treasury.

No device or machinery will be set up overnight to effect stabilization, which is a goal to be worked for along with economic stabilization, Dr. Sprague said, indicating that the treasury still was cold to the idea of having an American equalization fund similar to that operated by the Bank of England.

Treasury Hints Devaluation.

After Dr. Sprague had declared that dollar stabilization would be useless without economic stabilization, it was hinted at the treasury that devaluation would solve the problem and that Dr. Sprague was adhering to the formula supposedly laid down by Prof. Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state, during the MacDonald-Roosevelt conversations.

This formula supposedly would arrange for simultaneous devaluation by leading countries in such a way as to siphon gold out of America and France to supply a fresh foundation for renewed international trade.

Sees Stabilization Complicated.

Dr. Sprague declared that it had not been decided whether he would go to the world economic conference with the American delegation or stay behind to advise President Roosevelt at this end.

"I don't know what will be most important for me to do first," he remarked. "After all, I just arrived last week."

"It is impossible," Sprague said "to stabilize currencies tomorrow or next week. Currencies can not be stabilized until economic conditions are stabilized. We are working to that end. The currency of one important country can not be stabilized unless other currencies are put in order."

U.S. QUIZ ECHOES ROCKEFELLER, MORGAN BATTLE

On Decision Hinges Power of Houses.

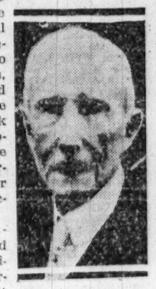
BY REUBEN CAHN.

The senate investigation of Morgan & Co. is viewed in some well informed circles as the battleground in the war for financial dominance between the two great powers, Morgan and Rockefeller. The rivalry dates back to the antagonism between the elder J. P. Morgan and the elder John D. Rockefeller.



JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

American industries attained their present gigantic proportions as a result of the combining of numerous small units. That is how the United States Steel corporation, the International Harvester company, General Motors, and many of the railroad systems came into being. In their evolution J. P. Morgan was the guiding hand and frequently the originator. His firm handled the details of recapitalization, exchange of securities, negotiating of purchases, etc., receiving substantial fees for the service. The firm became the fiscal agents for these big companies, was represented on their boards, and marketed their securities for them.

Morgan Out of Oil Trust.

There was one important trust Morgan had nothing to do with. That was the oil trust, the personal creation of John D. Rockefeller. Morgan disliked Rockefeller as he did Harriman and Carnegie, but he admired the oil king for his shrewdness and success. And the management of the great Morgan masterpiece, the United States Steel corporation, was patterned after that of Standard Oil.

Morgan's dislike for Rockefeller was heightened by an incident in the setting up of the Steel corporation. In the depression of 1894 John D. had acquired ownership of the most important iron ore sources in this country. Carnegie and other leading steel men thought it was a wild cat speculation. However, his wisdom was proved later and his properties were found to be essential to the completion of the vertical combination Morgan was seeking to effect in steel.

Morgan Gets "Run Around."

In 1901, it was suggested that Morgan should personally negotiate with Rockefeller for the ore properties. At first he refused, saying that he would have nothing to do with any one he despised so much. However, he finally subordinated his feelings and asked for the interview. Mr. Rockefeller granted it at his home, but on the condition that it be "only on personal matters." Arriving, Morgan came to the point at once, and made what he called an outside offer for the Rockefeller ore. John D. at once brought the meeting to a close, regretting that he had put Mr. Morgan to the trouble of a visit, but it was something that

South Chicago Savings Bank to Open Today

Fifty per cent of the bank's $1,780,000 of deposits are made immediately available. Depositors have agreed to waive 50 per cent of their deposits temporarily. In addition the bank has $200,000 of new cash represented by new deposits by stockholders and community interests who have agreed to leave the money on dposit for an indefinite period.

Officials said last night that the bank is a "100 per cent liquid condition." The reopening was approved by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

Celebrate in Community.

The opening will be celebrated by the community with a parade through the business district in which the bank is situated. The Bowen High school band, the local legion posts and a platoon of police will take part in the parade.

Charles P. Thompson headed the committee which raised $100,000 of the new money among south side business men. Howard L. Fitch led the group which canvassed the depositors for approval of the waiver plan. Depositors with less than $50 on deposit may withdraw without restrictions.

Nearly 1,200 shares of the necessary 1,500 shares of common stock in the new First National Bank and Trust company of Evanston has been subscribed for, it was learned yesterday. The new bank will succeed the old City National Bank and Trust company and assume 60 per cent of its deposit liabilities.

R. F. C. to Buy Preferred.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation has agreed to purchase 1,500 shares of preferred stock in the new bank on completion of the common stock sale. The preferred will be callable at any time by the bank.

Capital in the new bank will be $300,000. The common shares are being sold for $125 a share of which $100 will be used for capital and $25 applied to surplus. The reorganization plan has been approved by holders representing 66 2-3 per cent of the stock of the old bank and 75 per cent of the depositors as required by the banking authorities.

Slow assets will be liquidated by 3 trustees to satisfy the 40 per cent of deposit claims not assumed by the new bank. The trustees are allowed two years by the banking officials to carry out the liquidation.

The Bank of Piasa, Piasa, Ill., was authorized yesterday by State Auditor Barrett to open today.

STEAMER STARTS CHICAGO, EUROPE SERVICE TODAY

The Newfoundland Canada Steamship company's vessel, the Havtor, will clear from Chicago today or tomorrow bound for 6 European ports with a cargo of 1,500 tons of packing house products.

The sailing inaugurates a regular service by the company between Chicago and Hamburg, Rotterdam, London, Liverpool, Manchester and Glasgow. Monthly sailing will be made for United Kingdom ports and every three weeks for continental ports. Two ships will clear from Chicago next month.

Prospects for future business are said to be bright. Shipments in prospect consist largely of packing house products of which lard is an important item, it is reported. Shippers will be enabled to effect economies in the elimination of railroad freight charges at the seaboard, it is said in shipping circles.

STOCKS SOAR TO NEW HIGHS ON INFLATION MOVE

Trade Expands; Gains Up to 6 Points.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 24.—Stocks pulled up into new high ground today as the news that the government had finally embarked on its inflation program became common property in the Wall street district. A lot of traders didn't know what it was all about yesterday and consequently were a little late in getting aboard the band wagon.

The net gains in today's trading amounted to 5 or 6 points in some instances, while upturns of 2 and 3 points were common. As a rule, however, the so-called market wheelhorses, like United States Steel common, American Telephone, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, General Motors, Allied Chemical and the like, had to be content with fractional improvements.

Trading Pace Quickens.

Trading was at the fastest clip in about two weeks, the turnover mounting to about 4,700,000 shares. This compares with yesterday's total of 3,140,000 shares.

Profit taking was heavy at intervals, particularly during the late afternoon dealings but the market generally absorbed it with encouraging gusto and closing prices generally were not very far from the best of the day.

The widest advances were made in the railroad, alcohol and preferred stocks. Union Pacific scored the most important gain of the day—6½ points. The spurt carried this premier carrier issue to par for the first time in two years. New York Central, Atchison, Delaware and Hudson, Texas Pacific, Illinois Central, and one or two other shares of the group were also active and strong.

"Repeal" Stocks Move Up.

"Repeal stocks" like National Distillers, Park & Tilford, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Owens-Illinois Glass, and Crown Cork and Seal were prominent all day as later returns from the New York state election reflected an overwhelming sentiment for scrapping the amendment. Gains in this department ranged as high as 7 points at times, but realizing sales had a sobering effect on some of the pacemakers toward the last. Park and Tilford, after a bit of seesawing, came back anew before the final tap of the gong to finish with a net gain of 6 points.

Peoples Gas, the big midwestern favorite, moved ahead more than 5 points. American Telephone was up about 2 points around midday, but the rush for profits knocked it down toward the last.

Tobacco stocks had a revival, rising 1 to 3 points—thanks in part to word that cigaret prices are going up again before long. Farm implements were boosted by the upturn in wheat and railway accessory issues looked up along with the carriers.

April Furniture Shipments Exceed Volume in March

Furniture shipments in the seventh federal reserve district increased in April to 15 per cent over the volume of March, reports the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. Operations were reported at 30 per cent of capacity, against 33 per cent in March and 41 per cent in April, 1932.

PLAN OF READJUSTMENT

St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company has filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri, Eastern Division, a petition under the Federal Bankruptcy Act, which was amended at the last session of Congress to facilitate reorganization of railroad companies under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Court, with the consent of 66⅔% of each class of security holders affected by the proposed reorganization. More than 71% of the bonds affected by the Plan, including more than 68% of each issue of bonds, have been deposited under, or have otherwise assented to, the Plan.

To comply with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act, the Plan has been modified in certain respects, primarily to make provision for unsecured claims against the Company and for additional loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to be secured by bonds issued under the New Prior Mortgage, to such amount as may be necessary to enable the Plan to be carried out and to provide adequate working capital. Such modifications in the judgment of the Readjustment Managers and the Committees do not adversely affect the interests of any class of security holders. Copies of the modified Plan may be obtained from any Depositary or from the Secretary of the Readjustment Managers.

The time for deposit under the Plan is hereby extended to the close of business June 30, 1933.

EVERY PART OF NATION REPORTS TRADE REBOUND

Increases in Employment and Wages Noted.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Further dispatches coming from every corner of the nation bear out those of the last few weeks telling of constantly accelerating business activity.

From New York comes an announcement that the Du Pont rayon and Du Pont cellophane companies have raised wages of their workers in the plants at Buffalo, N. Y.; Old Hickory, Tenn., and Richmond and Waynesboro, Va., averaging 5 per cent, effective June 1.

The Hardware Age reports that both wholesale and retail hardware sales continue to reflect gains. Sales decreases, as reflected by monthly comparisons with a year ago, are reported steadily growing smaller as the spring season progresses. Certain hardware and related items are now being quoted by manufacturers at advances ranging from 5 to 25 per cent above price lists issued early in the year.

Bethlehem Adds Employés.

Baltimore, Md., sends word that steel mill activity there is picking up. The general manager of the Bethlehem Steel company's Sparrow Point plant says general operations have advanced from 30 to 40 per cent in the last two months. Employés who formerly worked only one or two days a week are now working three, four, or five days. There are now 500 men employed in three scrap iron and steel plants which a year ago were shut down.

The National Steel corporation is starting four vessels of its Great Lakes fleet in the iron ore and coal carrying trade because of increasing business.

The Pennsylvania Rubber Company of America, Inc., reports that May has proved to be one of the best months in the history of the company's plant at Jeanette, Pa. Orders have been so large that production has been stepped up to 24 hours through the full week.

Prices, Wages Higher.

Frederick Post Jr., as spokesman for the Chicago photostat industry, says that prices have been advanced effective May 22, enabling participating companies to operate on a more profitable basis.

Industrial pay rolls in the seventh federal reserve district showed some recovery in April, according to the monthly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. Wage payments increased 6 per cent.

The Kentucky and Indiana Terminal railroad, serving Louisville, Ky., recently was reported as having hauled more wheat and corn than in the corresponding period of any year since 1919.

GRAINS MOVE UP; U. S. PLANS BRING WAVE OF BUYING

Prices Rise in Spite of Profit Taking.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A rush to buy grain futures, based on overnight developments regarding the government's inflation plan, lifted prices sharply during the first hour of the session on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. There was not the snap, however, in the public and eastern buying that was experienced when wheat recently started its sensational upturn, which lifted the July from around 45 cents in March to a high of 75⅞ cents early in May.

Failure of the trade to broaden materially despite the sensational character of the news induced considerable profit taking by recent buyers, as the early bulge lifted wheat as much as 2¼ cents above Tuesday's finish and also led to local selling. More favorable crop comments from the spring wheat territory were also a factor, as the sections which were in need of rain received it overnight.

Wheat Closes Near Top.

The market settled back slowly, closing well toward the top, with net gains of 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents. The May delivery closed at 70⅝ cents, while July was 72⅛ to 72¼ cents, and September, 72⅜ to 73⅞ cents. Winnipeg had a holiday. Liverpool was ¾ to ½ cent higher.

With spring wheat seeding practically completed in the American northwest, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and well along in Alberta, the favorable outlook for the new crop is beginning to cast a shadow over the government's inflation plan.

Winter wheat continues to show improvement in Nebraska, and spring wheat acreage will be 50 per cent larger than in 1932, according to returns from bankers to the federal and state departments of agriculture. Prospects are said to be more encouraging than they were 30 to 60 days ago. Condition in the leading sections showed a range of 57 to 83, the former in the northwestern countries.

Corn Planting Progresses.

Generally favorable weather conditions prevailed over the corn belt. While futures were as much as 1¾ cent higher in the early trading, considerable profit taking developed on the bulge and the market was not broad enough to absorb it without easing. The finish was ¾ to ⅞ cent higher, with May at 44¾ cents; July, 45⅞ to 46 cents, and September, 48¾ to 48¼ cents.

Rapid progress was reported in plowing and planting in parts of Illinois, due to a few days' letup in the rains.

May oats gained ½ cent, closing at 25 cents, while the distant futures were ⅛ cent lower to ¾ cent higher, with July at 28⅛ cents and September, 25⅝ to 25⅜ cents.

U. S. QUIZ ECHO OF ROCKEFELLER, MORGAN BATTLE

Congress' Decision Will Fix Houses' Power.

he would have to see John D. Jr. about, the latter, he said, being in charge of business matters.

When Morgan went to see the younger Rockefeller, he began the conversation as follows: "Your father wishes to sell ore." John D. Jr. ended the interview at once with the statement that he was sure that his father had no such intentions. After giving Morgan this "run around," the elder Rockefeller finally negotiated a deal through Henry C. Frick, an associate of Morgan's in the steel corporation who was on friendly terms with Rockefeller. The deal brought Rockefeller five million dollars more than the original Morgan offer.

Breach Widened Over Rails.

The breach between Rockefeller and Morgan was widened by the help which Rockefeller gave to E. H. Harriman, in the building of the latter's great railroad systems. A biographer of Rockefeller insists that without Rockefeller's help, Harriman would not have been able to cope with Morgan.

The elder Morgan died in 1913, and the elder Rockefeller retired from business. Many were certain that the Morgan-Rockefeller feud had subsided. Subsequent events prove that such was not the case.

In 1929 the National City was the largest bank in the country. It was known as a Rockefeller bank, but the Rockefeller who was active in it was Percy, a son of William, who was a crony of the elder J. P. Morgan's. The recent disclosure of loans by Morgan & Co. to Charles E. Mitchell, head of National City, showed which side of the street the bank was on.

The second bank at this time was Chase National, independent of Morgan and Rockefeller, but with several Morgan associates on the board. The Guaranty Trust, an out and out Morgan institution, was a close third. The Equitable Trust, Rockefeller's bank, was of substantial size, but offered no threat to the leadership of the big three. The Morgan dominance in the financial district was unquestioned.

Rockefeller's Bank Becomes Biggest.

Then something happened. In 1930, the Rockefeller interests merged their Equitable Trust with the Chase National, thus becoming the largest bank in the country. Subsequently the Rockefeller investment in Chase stock was increased. The first of this year, Albert Wiggin, long time Chase bank head, retired, and Winthrop W. Aldrich, son-in-law of the elder John D. Rockefeller, became the chief managing officer of the bank. The first place among the financial institutions no longer was held by a Morgan bank.

Meanwhile the country was shaken by a depression which had wiped out a third of the country's banks. Carter Glass was pressing for passage in congress a bill, which he believed would prevent another such catastrophe. One of the provisions in the measure was that commercial banks may not sell securities. If this law were enacted it would mean that the Chase National would have to give up their investment business, one of the largest and most profitable in good times. On March 8 Aldrich took the bull by the horns. He announced that Chase was going out of the security business, and giving up its investment affiliate. He supported the Glass bill, but believes it should go much further.

What Aldrich Wants.

1. "No corporation or partnership should be permitted to take deposits unless such corporation or partnership is subjected to the same regulations and required to publish the same kind of statements as are issued by commercial banks.

2. "No corporation or partnership dealing in securities should be permitted to take deposits even under regulation.

3. "No officer or director nor any member of any partnership dealing in securities should be permitted to be an officer or director of any commercial bank or bank taking deposits, and no officer or director of any commercial bank or bank taking deposits should be permitted to be an officer or director of any corporation, or a partner in any partnership, engaged in the business of dealing in securities."

This was Rockefeller shooting at Morgan. For J. P. Morgan & Co. was the principal organization which was taking deposits, and was not subject to the same regulations governing regularly incorporated banks. J. P. Morgan & Co. was also the leading house, whose principal business was selling securities and which also took deposits. And again J. P. Morgan & Co. was also the principal house selling securities, whose partners hold memberships on the boards of leading banks.

Morgan Gives Answer.

There was no reply at that time from Morgan & Co., Mr. Morgan personally answered the Rockefeller proposals in his statement to the senate committee yesterday.

At the annual meeting of the Chase National bank on May 11 the board of directors was reduced from 72 to 36. The retiring directors included men known to be close to Morgan & Co. such as Frank Polk, law partner of John W. Davis; L. C. Ledyard Jr., son of a former Morgan head attorney, and A. P. Sloan of General Motors.

The present hearings by the senate with respect to Morgan & Co. and in particular the direction which the hearings have taken may be considered a sequel to the Aldrich statement. If the legislation proposed by the Rockefeller interests is enacted into law, Morgan & Co. will occupy a much smaller place in the financial structure of this country than it has in the past. If the Rockefellers are defeated and the Glass bill is passed without the restrictions upon Morgan & Co., Morgan & Co. will have strengthened its position, for the investment underwriting formerly done by the affiliates of large banks will gravitate to them and large investment houses. In addition they will be able to retain their deposit banking business which, as has just been revealed, is substantial.

CHASE BANK CUTS SURPLUS DUE TO FILM HOLDINGS

New York, May 24.—(AP)—The Chase National bank today announced a reduction of its surplus to $50,000,000, one reason for which was to provide for writing off or covering by reserves certain obligations of the Fox Film corporation and the General Theaters Equipment corporation. The total amount of such obligations now remaining are approximately $15,000,000

"The capital of the bank will remain at $148,000,000, the surplus will be $50,000,000, and the undivided profit account will be in excess of $7,500,000," said an announcement. "The total capital funds will therefore be in excess of $200,000,000. It is the belief of the directors that the bank will have substantial recoveries in many of the items which were subject to the action taken today."

The surplus was written down to $50,000,000 compared with $100,000,000 as reported in the statement of March 31. The undivided profit in excess of $7,500,000 compared with $13,200,000 reported as of March 31. The General Theaters Equipment corporation is in receivership. A few months ago action by a stockholder calling upon Fox Film to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed, was withdrawn.
